William M. Finch, Presiding Justice of the District Court of Appeal, Third District:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of State Senator, according to the best of my ability.

ROLL CALL.

The President called the Senate to order and directed the Secretary to call the roll.

The roll was called, and the following answered to their names:

Senators Allen, J. M., Allen, N. M., Baker, Boggs, Breed, Canepa, Chamberlin, Cobb, Crowley, Evans, Fellom, Garrison, Gray, Handy, Hollister, Hurley, Ingram, Inman, Johnson, Jones, H. MOTION.

Senator Kline moved, seconded by Senator Evans, that the Senate adjourn this day out of respect for the memory of the late A. C. Murray, Assemblyman from the Seventy-seventh District.

Motion unanimously carried, by a rising vote of the Senate.

ADDRESS.

Senator Kline addressed the Senate as follows:

"Alfred C. Murray met a tragic fate on his way North to spend the holidays with his parents and the parents of Mrs. Murray in Woodland, intending after the holidays to come to Sacramento to attend the session of the Legislature. After leaving the Ridge route, he was proceeding towards Bakersfield and went about eight miles beyond the grade. He tried to pass a truck but found another car coming from the opposite direction. Two courses were before him, either to hit the oncoming automobile and injure the occupants or to ditch his own machine. Experts at the wreck told me no lives would have been lost had he taken the first alternative, but he chose the latter rather than injure innocent people and lost his life and the lives of three members of his family. In the words of Shakespeare, 'Nothing became him so well in this life than his manner of leaving it'.

"Assemblyman Murray was elected from Riverside County. He served in the 1925 session with such signal success and ability that he was reelected without any opposition. He was an upstanding man, thoroughly conscientious and sincere in everything he did. He was that kind of a man who stands for decency in politics, and for the better things in life, and his passing is not only a loss to Riverside County but to the State of California.

"It does not seem possible that he is dead. It seems to me as if he has just gone on a journey and during this session, when I enter the Assembly Chamber and find there an empty chair, I can only think that he has just gone away. I cannot say, I will not say that he is dead. He is just away. With a smile on his face and a wave of his hand he has wandered into an unknown land."

CHESTER M. KLINE.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction, nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

Bills in Committees—Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report without delay whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases, whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly, be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Reports of Committees.

32. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

Order of Considering Bills—Order of Making File.

33. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

34. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

35. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

36. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the ayes and noes dispense with this provision).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

37. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

38. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll call.

39. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had, during a call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Amendment or Division of Question.

40. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restrictions as to Amendments.

41. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

42. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure of Debate—Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

43. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question.

47. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

48. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

Voting by Senate—Calling Ayes and Nays.

49. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excuse From Voting.

50. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

51. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator: provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

52. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

53. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

54. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question.

Messengers and Other Papers—Messengers from the Governor.

55. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

56. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

57. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time, by unanimous consent, or by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

58. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

Contents of Senate Journal—Proceedings to be Printed.

59. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

Titles of Bills to be Printed.

60. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

Statement of Petitions to be Printed.

61. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

Other Matter to be Printed.

62. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate, shall be printed in the Journal in full; provided, that in case of a concurrent resolution offering the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments shall not be printed in the Journal.

Legislative Printing—Number of Bills Printed.

63. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

Number of Journals Printed.

64. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

Number of Other Documents Printed.

65. Seven hundred fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

Excess Printing Only on Written Order.

66. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Form of Printing Amendments.

67. All bills amended shall immediately be reprinted; the new matter added by any amendments to be enclosed in heavy brackets, and the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses.

The Senate Chamber—Admission Within Bar of Senate.

68. It shall be the duty of the gatekeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

No Lobbying in Senate Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

Maintaining of Order.

70. In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have the power to order the same cleared.

Smoking Within Senate Chamber.

71. No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber when objected to by the presiding officer or by any five members.

Miscellaneous Provisions—Duties of Members.

72. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

SECOND BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

The State government during the past four years has been conducted on a business basis with the practice of strict economy and the highest efficiency. This is proved by the fact that the surplus in the General Fund has been built up from practically nothing to more than twenty million dollars without increasing the rate of taxation and without impairing any State function. This is an achievement unparalleled in California history and is proof positive that pledges made previous to my election have been redeemed in full and that the accomplishment more than exceeds the promises made.

The State of California has never been in better financial condition and the various departments of State government have never been on a more efficient and businesslike basis. When I took office, the surplus in the General Fund had been exhausted and it was necessary that the strictest economy should be practiced in the administration of the State government. The 1923 budget was an economy budget and the figures of actual cost of government have proved that it made a saving compared with the budget of 1921 of twelve million dollars. This great surplus has been built up despite the fact that during the past four years there was an increase of $16,498,457.47 in the fixed charges of State government, an emergency expenditure of $2,950,359.17 for foot and mouth disease, a great increase in the population of the various State institutions, and a building program of $5,510,450.46, the greatest amount appropriated in any biennium in the history of the State. In addition to this the sum of $1,983,000 was appropriated for permanent improvements on the San Francisco harbor front, out of the San Francisco Harbor Improvement Fund. The surplus in the General Fund is now estimated by the State accountants to be $20,420,923.81. The surplus in the General Fund on June 30, 1923, was exactly $30,371.39 and in September of that year it was necessary to borrow from other funds to prevent the registration of warrants. My administration refused to compromise a suit for franchise taxes due from corporations and finally won a complete victory in the courts and turned $6,316,364.16 into the treasury. This money was conserved by me and not permitted to be squandered. Building up this great surplus required constant resistance to spendthrifts and the vetoing and suppression of legislative bills carrying millions of dollars in appropriations.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

In making selections for men to head the various departments, I have been fortunate in securing business men of the highest integrity and ability. While insisting that economy and efficiency must be exercised in every department, I have made it a rule not to interfere in the details of the management of any department. In short, the present government has been a business government and not a political government. I have maintained in office a number of heads of departments who served under the previous administration for the reason that I was looking for service to the State and not to reward friends or politicians. I want to express my appreciation generally to the splendid officials who have so faithfully served the State during my term of office.

BOARD OF CONTROL.

The functions of the Board of Control during my term of office have included the compilation of two biennial legislative budgets; the supervision of the expenditure of $234,611,000; the purchase and sale of bonds valued at $12,664,500; the auditing of the accounts of all the departments, boards, bureaus, commissions, and institutions; the complete reorganization of the accounting system of the State Highway Commission, and the State Harbor Commission of San Francisco; the payment of claims aggregating $412,916,681; the approval of contracts and leases; the purchase of supplies for the different departments, totaling $21,258,832; the supervision of a constructive building program at the hospitals, homes for the feeble-minded, penitentiaries, teachers' colleges, corrective schools and the Industrial Home and School for the Blind, involving the expenditure of between eight million and nine million dollars and necessitating thousands of miles of travel by the members of the board; frequent hearings for the adjudication of claims; conferences with every department, including regular monthly conferences with the Civil Service Commission; the purchase of farm lands for Agnew's State Hospital; an extended public hearing on the Folsom Dam site; and almost innumerable other duties connected with the financial policies of the State. The Board of Control is practically the right arm of the Governor in the management of State finance. I have been particularly fortunate in securing members of this board who have shown fidelity to State service, business ability, and strict integrity. This board has saved the taxpayers great sums by its insistence on strict economy.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

This department is functioning with the highest efficiency and has been of untold benefit to the agricultural interests of the State. The director is in full sympathy with the farmers of California and has shown great energy and skill in handling his difficult position. During the last two biennial periods, this department has been nearly fifty-five per cent self-supporting as against forty per cent prior to that time. This department has tried in every way to be of service to the farming interests of the State and to assist in promoting this essential industry and has had my earnest cooperation, as I fully realize the tax burden under which the farmers are struggling. The unofficial Agricultural Council, composed of representative farmers, was appointed by me and has been of great benefit to the department. Among the outstanding achievements has been the complete eradication of the dread foot and mouth disease among cattle and other live stock in California.

The total expenditures for eradication and indemnities of the hoof and mouth disease have been as follows: Indemnities $2,239,106; expenditures for eradication $711,253.17, making a total of $2,950,359.17. This is only the State's portion, the federal government expending a like amount. These expenditures were financed by a legislative claim for indemnities in amount of $2,239,106; by $130,192.33 from the appropriations of the Department of Agriculture; and by $598,061.84 from the Emergency Fund of the State. Had it not been for the economy practiced by me, it would not have been possible to expend this great sum without increasing tax rates.

CALIFORNIA NATIONAL GUARD.

In no department of the State has there been a more marked improvement than in the National Guard. The Adjutant General selected by me is a military and business man who has brought to this department a degree of efficiency previously unknown in the history of the Guard. The enrollment in the National Guard has increased from 3125 to 5258 during my term of office and this has been accomplished with a reduction in the cost of the maintenance of the department. The National Guard of California, as now constituted, is an efficient military organization, ready for action within a few hours' time. While fortunately it has not been necessary to call out the National Guard to repress any lawlessness during the past four years, still the Guard has been ready and, I feel, has been a moral influence to restrain the lawless element. Every anarchist, law violator and criminal in California knows that back of the police force in the various communities is the National Guard of California, equipped, manned and ready to maintain peace and order within the boundaries of the State. Probably nothing that I have done in my program of law and order has gained for me stronger disapproval of the Bolshevik element than the building up of the National Guard and having it on a military basis for protection to the lives and property of the people.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

The Civil Service Law and the merit system has had my staunch approval and I have always supported the Civil Service Commissioner in his efforts to maintain a strict administration of the law. There has been a complete elimination of the political spoils system. The number of temporary appointments has been reduced one-third. Notwithstanding the increase in the work of this department and the increase in efficiency, there has been a reduction in the cost of operation. During the past four years no funds have been solicited or accepted for any political campaign purposes.

CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

This commission has been put on a business basis and efficiency has been the motto. I was particularly fortunate in being able to secure the services of three high class business men to serve on this commission and to select an able engineer, whose sole object is to build good roads and who has no political connections whatever. During the past four years there has been a marked improvement in the administration of this department, of which the splendid work done on the highways is a testimonial. Visitors from other states are strong in their praises of the road improvements in California. In every part of the State are evidences of the splendid work done.

The construction of highways by prison labor has proved a success where the convicts are used in isolated sections and on work requiring much hand labor. The all-year Merced-Mariposa road into the Yosemite Valley was opened last year and is a good illustration of the work done by convicts. Convicts have also done good work on the Smith River road in Del Norte County.

Owing to cheap and faulty construction previous to my administration, it has been necessary during the past four years for the State Engineer to reconstruct, widen and thicken many of the highways of the State. I have stood staunchly against extending the highway system and both after the 1923 and 1925 sessions of the Legislature vetoed a number of bills attempting to put purely local roads into the State system. I have striven to prevent the Legislature from putting the roads on a "pork barrel" basis.

At the present time the State of California is spending about fifteen million dollars annually on State roads and I believe that this is all the money that can be spent wisely and economically. The people at the last election voted against two measures providing for additional revenues for State road building, thus showing that they are satisfied with the amount of the present expenditures and the present rate of highway construction, and rebel at added tax burdens being placed upon them. Should there be an increase in the amount of money available for State highway purposes, I predict that a large number of unimportant county roads will be forced into the State system, thus adding to the tax burden of the people and doing no good to main line roads. At the present time there are 6500 miles of roads in the State system and at least 1500 miles of these are "pork barrel" roads pure and simple, and should never have been taken into the system. The people of California will be building roads for many decades and the present burden of fifteen million dollars a year is all that the taxpayer can stand.

EXECUTIVE PROCLAMATIONS.

The Governor is authorized in certain cases to issue proclamations and I have kept strictly within the law and refused to issue any proclamations unauthorized by statute. A great abuse has grown up in California in the issuing of unauthorized proclamations by officials. I would suggest that the statute be amended so as to prohibit city, county and State officials from issuing any proclamations unwarranted by law.

A proclamation should be a solemn affair issued by legal authority and for the public benefit. To issue proclamations declaring certain days in the interest of animals, fruits and vegetables, or for special propaganda is to bring the law into disrespect and to make the issuers of such proclamations ridiculous. There have been no proclamations issued by me setting apart "Onion Day," "Horseradish Day," "Cauliflower Day," "Jack Rabbit Day," or "Squander Your Money Day."

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES.

Sixty-four judges have been appointed by me during the past four years. This has required considerable time and study as I have made appointments solely on merit without regard to personal or political considerations. I have appointed two chief justices of the Supreme Court, six associate justices of the Supreme Court, seven justices of the appellate court, thirty-five judges of the superior court of various counties, and fourteen municipal judges of the cities of Los Angeles and Long Beach.

To maintain respect for the law, it is necessary that there should be judges of the courts who have the highest character and integrity besides the necessary legal learning and judicial poise. I am particularly proud of the men whom I have elevated to the judiciary of California. The appointments of these judges have been part of my program of law and order for the benefit of the whole people and the protection of their lives and property.

EXTRADITION OF CRIMINALS.

For many years extradition and interstate request matters have been handled in the Governor's office in a hit or miss manner. Each district attorney made an application for the return of fugitives from justice according to his own individual ideas with the result that fifty-eight different kinds of requests and extraditions were being sent from California. Moreover, in some of the smaller counties, district attorneys, being unfamiliar with the method of returning fugitives from justice, failed to make applications with the result that some guilty persons went unpunished.

I have standardized applications and for the first time in the history of the State, have made public rules governing applications for the rendition of fugitives from justice. I have had prepared and printed and distributed to all district attorneys in the State, forms for the making of application and also forms for the proper certification of all papers attached to applications which form the basis for the return of fugitives to this State. The result has been uniform requests and extraditions from this State. Less difficulty has been experienced in returning fugitives from justice and the expense to State agents has been reduced. California is now recognized as among the first of the states in the Union in the matter of strict compliance with constitutional and legal requirements in the rendition of fugitives.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

In a separate message, I have submitted to you my acts of executive clemency during the past two years. Pardon matters have occupied much of my attention. I have taken the position that the pardoning power is given to the Governor solely to prevent a miscarriage of justice and to be used only in extraordinary cases.

Executive clemency should not be exercised to defeat the ends of the law, to override the verdicts of juries or the decision of courts. Only by strict enforcement of the laws and the elimination of sentimentalism in meting out punishment can law and order be maintained. I have had constantly in mind the desire to protect the women and children of California in their homes. If sentimentalists and hysterical writers should succeed in their endeavors, shotgun brigades would be necessary in every community and no home would be safe. The stern enforcement of the law and adequate punishment of criminals is necessary to protect our citizens.

I have made it a rule to require written statements and not to listen to oral appeals. All statements properly belong in the files where they can be reviewed calmly in connection with other matters regarding the case. The power of the Governor should, in my opinion, be used only in cases where the prisoner is innocent and the jurisdiction of the court to correct the mistake has expired. I have issued no reprieves for persons to be hanged, except in one case where the murderer was under eighteen years of age and the law prohibits hanging under that age.

The people have by law provided for the death penalty and the personal views of the Governor should not be exercised to thwart the verdict of the juries, the decisions of courts and the will of the people as expressed by the law. Those who oppose capital punishment should resort to the Legislature or the initiative to change the law and should not importune the Executive to set aside the will of the people by acts of wholesale jail delivery.

STATE PRISONS.

What can be accomplished through the application of principles of economy and efficiency and good business practice is nowhere better illustrated than in the case of the State prisons.

Prior to my term of office much was said about the moral uplift to prisoners and many public speeches were delivered on the reformation of converted criminals, but little was done within the prison walls for the material benefit of the prisoners. Buildings and equipment had been permitted to fall into a sad state of disrepair, particularly in San Quentin Prison. No provision was made for the future to take care of the rapidly growing increase in the prison population. The result of the one-sided reform policy in the maintenance of the State prisons, has been that the two penitentiaries, at San Quentin and Folsom, are now greatly overcrowded. At San Quentin a cell building started in 1908 was abandoned one-half completed in 1912.

During my administration and upon my recommendation an appropriation was made to complete this building. In addition a fine new women's building is nearing completion, which will not only relieve the overcrowded conditions of the women's ward but will provide for the industrialization of the women's department.

The general crime conditions and awakening throughout the State to the necessity of more vigorous prosecution of crime has resulted in a marked increase in the prison population. At San Quentin, the number of prisoners has increased from 2450 to about 3400; at Folsom from 964 to 1750. In addition there have at all times been several hundred prisoners at the several highway prison camps. Notwithstanding the increase in the number of convicts strict discipline and better moral conditions exist at both of the prisons than prior to 1923. The men are better clothed and far better fed than ever before. As a result of the application of economy and efficiency, the per capita cost at San Quentin for the complete care and maintenance of prisoners has been reduced twenty-eight per cent and at Folsom nineteen per cent, during the past four years.

Other improvements at San Quentin that might be noted are the elimination of so-called "Crazy Alley"; the building of a new shed so that prisoners while waiting in line for the mess hour, do not have to stand in the rain during bad weather; the completion of the west wing of the prison; better sanitary conditions; the closing of a public road running through the prison grounds, which has permitted the throwing of dope and possibly other articles over the prison walls; the fitting up of a waiting room for the accommodation of visitors to the prison; and other improvements for the benefit of the prisoners.

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION.

The State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation has been of material advantage to the various law enforcement agencies of California by keeping a record of the finger prints of criminals and by assisting in the identification of those charged with crime. During the past four years, over 40,000 identifications have been made. This great volume of business has been conducted with a very slight increase in overhead expenses. The department has rendered valuable service to the cause of law and order and the superintendent is entitled to much credit.

FISH AND GAME COMMISSION.

Prior to my administration the Fish and Game Commission had been conducted for years in a most unbusinesslike and haphazard manner. The commission was actually expending more than was taken in through fees and obtaining small results so far as the purposes of the commission in the carrying out of the various acts for the preservation of wild game and fish were concerned. The administration of the commission was for the benefit of a few, rather than for the big majority of sportsmen of the State. Moreover, an important food supply of this State was being impaired through insufficient regulation of fish canneries and fertilizing companies.

I induced one of the most successful and best known business men in California to accept an appointment on the commission together with a well-known jurist. The result has been the protection of the interests of the people of California, at the same time affording greater opportunities to the sportsmen of the State. I am very proud of the record of the Fish and Game Commission during the past two years.

VETERANS' WELFARE BOARD.

The businesslike manner in which the work of the Veterans' Welfare Board has been conducted was undoubtedly largely responsible for the vote of approval given by the people to the veterans' bond issue at the last election, this being the only tax measure approved by the people. I have been fortunate in securing men on this board of ability and thorough loyalty to the interest of veterans. Prior to my administration, the overhead expense in the administration of this board was $1459. In 1925 the cost was reduced to one-eighth. The percentage this year will be about the same as 1925. This board has invested the great sum of $10,867,808.28 in farms and homes in California for veterans. All of this amount is being repaid under the terms of the Veterans' Act and the amount of delinquency has been only three-tenths of one per cent.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Water development, water conservation and irrigation have received much of my attention. The future of the state largely depends upon the development of water resources. I have done all I could to bring about the fullest possible utilization of the waters of the Colorado River. This depends upon the construction of a dam at Black or Boulder Canyon, which, by reason of the enormous estimated cost, can only be undertaken by the federal government.

Under my direction, the late W. F. McClure, former State Engineer, and the present State Engineer, Paul Bailey, have been working for more than two years on plans for the bringing of water from the Colorado River dam to points in the southern part of the State. I cannot but support the National Education Association for this project and much for the sentiment has been created throughout the country at this meeting. I have endeavored to keep this question out of politics. There is no opposition to California at the building of the dam.

I believe that the Senate and Assembly should have unhesitatingly carried the Colorado River Compact, but I hope that failure to do so will not prevent the passage of proper legislation in Congress.

I have presented the joint action of the water resources of the State and signed a bill appropriating $94,125 for that purpose. A report will be submitted to the Senate tomorrow showing the present condition of our irrigation. The report, I hope, will point the way to remove the barrier upon development of those areas having an inadequate natural water supply and will, I trust, lay a scientific basis for the fullest possible utilization of the waters of the State. Storage reservoirs for irrigation and domestic purposes, generating of power and control of floods should be planned.

During my term of office the Kern River, Buena Vista, Tulare Lake, San Joaquin River and Tulare Lake Basin water storage districts have been formed, comprising an aggregate of 1,075,000 acres. There is now under consideration the formation of the Kern River Water Conservation District, comprising approximately one million acres and storage at the Pine Flat reservoir site of 240,000 acre-feet is planned. Since January 1, 1923, twenty-four irrigation districts have been fully organized, aggregating 402,052 acres.

DIVISION OF IRRIGATION.

The Division of Engineering and Irrigation of the Department of Public Works has been carried on in a businesslike manner. The volume of work has increased approximately twenty per cent while the expenditures have decreased three per cent. Approval of the construction of thirty-two dams and nine bridges over navigable streams has been given. New works for the protection of river banks from flood damage have been devised and various investigations have been made. Work on the Santa Ana River watershed and basin in cooperation with Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties has resulted in conserving the water supply. A survey to prevent damage from salt water in the agricultural districts along the lower San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers has also been made.

DIVISION OF WATER RIGHTS.

The work of the Division of Water Rights, based upon the number of applications passed upon, has increased seventy-eight per cent during the past four years, and during the same time unit cost of operation decreased thirty-five per cent. Action on water matters has been expedited and details minimized through the elimination of unnecessary red tape and the application of economy and efficiency.

During the past four years, 3123 applications have been acted upon as compared with 1755 applications in the preceding four years and 892 in the next preceding four years. By increasing the rate of action from 28 to 67 per month since January 1, 1923, the number of pending matters before the Division of Water Rights has been reduced from 945 to 647.

DIVISION OF ARCHITECTURE.

The greatest building program in the history of the State has been carried on during the past two years as the 1925 budget contained more than six million dollars for the erection of new buildings at the various State institutions. During the four years of my administration, the construction of State buildings represents the lowest cost of only 5.26 per cent as against a figure of nearly three times that much for private construction. The State Architect has served the State faithfully and well.

DEPARTMENT OF INSTITUTIONS.

The expense of maintaining the Department of Institutions has been reduced seventeen per cent during the administration. The total annual expense for this department has been $900,032, as compared with $1,094,167, during the previous four years.

The work of this department is the business management of the various State institutions, including State prisons and reform schools. One of the new branches of humanitarian work undertaken by this department during the past four years has been the work among the blind. Field work is visit the blind in their own homes and instruct them in various kinds of work so they can be self-supporting.

During my administration there has been more building and improvement at the various State institutions than at any previous period in the history of the State. Much needed equipment and additional buildings have been erected at all of the State hospitals and I believe it can be truthfully said that the State institutions have never been better operated or conducted in a more efficient and businesslike way, than at the present time.

During the period July 1, 1923, to June 30, 1927, there will be an approximate saving in the management of the State institutions of $2,924,000 over the four previous years. In determining whether or not the institutions of the State are efficiently managed, the per capita cost of inmates should be taken into consideration.

In basing this estimate the actual population and expenditures for the year July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926, were used for the current fiscal year which is not yet completed. In the seven State hospitals during the period July 1, 1919, to June 30, 1923, there was an average yearly inmate population of 12,279 with a total expenditure for support and maintenance of $13,935,810.46 with an average yearly inmate per capita cost of $283.74. During the period July 1, 1923, to June 30, 1927, the average yearly inmate population is estimated at 13,963. The total expenditure for support and maintenance is estimated at $14,040,427.24 and the average yearly inmate per capita cost at $251.38, being a decrease in the per capita cost for the last four years of $32.36. This decrease in the per capita cost, multiplied by the average inmate population of 13,963, equals a decrease in cost based on per capita expenditures of $1,806,672.57. While expenses have decreased the inmates have been better cared for, fed and housed than at any other time in the State's history. This reduction has been accomplished by the application of business principles and the elimination of politicians and spendthrifts. Superintendents and other officials have been selected upon merit.

On the same basis the decreased cost based on per capita expenditures for the prisons would be $554,203.26, the correctional schools $545,067.68, and the two homes $18,233.75.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

The Labor Bureau has rendered greatly increased service at a slight increase in the cost of operation. There has been an increase of six per cent in the total number of jobs filled by the free employment system at a decrease of six per cent in the cost of maintaining the employment bureaus. The bureau has investigated and handled 48,214 complaints of violators of the labor laws, an increase of eighty-five per cent, while the amount of unpaid wages collected increased one hundred and ninety-two per cent.

Approximately ninety per cent of the work of this department has been the collection of unpaid wages. The law enforcement activities of the bureau have increased nearly eighteen per cent. The commissioner has been given a free hand and has labored to deal fairly and justly. At my suggestion when I took office, the commissioner gladly dismissed from the service a number of political barnacles, thus saving expenses and increasing the efficiency of the office.

NOTARIES PUBLIC.

The issuing of notary public commissions has required much of the time of the clerical force of my office. The number of notaries in all of the counties, except one, that may be appointed is unlimited. In San Francisco the limit is 155. There have been insistent demands to increase the number of notaries in San Francisco in order to accommodate the business of that great city. Los Angeles County has upward of 4000 active notaries and Alameda County more than 1000. I have required all notaries to sign an application blank, giving their age, sex, place of nativity and other facts and have required the endorsement of at least five persons as to their character and reputation. The law provides that a person must be a citizen of the state and reside in the county for which the notary commission is issued.

As the work of notaries is highly technical and demands some knowledge of the law, the Legislature should consider the matter of providing for some kind of an examination to test the qualifications of applicants. I have had several complaints of misconduct on the part of notaries. I submitted one of the most flagrant cases referred by the United States Collector of Internal Revenue, to the Attorney General and he held that the Governor had no power to remove a notary public, even for cause, and that there was no specific requirement of law that a person must personally appear before a notary at the time an affidavit is taken. This defect in the law should be remedied. Otherwise, affidavits can be of little use and the Internal Revenue Department may be forced to refuse to receive affidavits purported to have been sworn to before a notary.

STATE BOARD OF FORESTRY.

The State Board of Forestry has used every endeavor to protect the forests of the state and to stimulate replanting so that future generations may be provided with lumber. A number of counties have assumed a portion of the protective cost by cooperative agreement with the state. Through the cooperation of the Surveyor General and the United States Forest Service, state-owned school lands within the boundaries of the National Forest are being exchanged for other timber land of equal value. This department has been conducted on a businesslike basis, sanely and intelligently. The department has striven to undo the great harm done mountain resorts by the false forest fire tales of malicious metropolitan yellow journals.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

The resources of state banks under the jurisdiction of the Superintendent of Banks have increased from $1,985,289,586 to $2,662,588,284, and individual deposits have increased from $1,634,064,309 to $2,093,976,613 between January, 1923, and June, 1926.

The past few years have been a period of consolidation with the result that the number of State banks has decreased from four hundred twenty-nine to three hundred fifty-seven.

The total expenses of the State Banking Department have not increased despite the tremendous increase in the work of the department. This department is maintained by a levy of one one-hundredth of one per cent of the capital surplus and contingent funds, profit and deposits of the banks. The Superintendent of Banks has reduced the fees to seventy-five per cent of the amount authorized by law and has expended only ninety-seven per cent of the amount collected.

No better commendation of the head of this department can be made than the fact that during the past four years not a dollar has been lost by any depositor in any State bank in California. The superintendent has stood staunchly for a fair administration of the banking laws. Recent victories in the courts have shown him to be both legally and morally right.

CORPORATION DEPARTMENT.

The Corporation Department has expanded its operations, particularly in the matter of investigation and audit of corporations selling stock in this State and this function has increased the amount of work threefold. Through the work of this department, greater protection has been given the people of the State against crooked stock promoters and high-pressure salesmen.

The cost to the State in salaries per one million dollars aggregate par value of stock represented by the applications was decreased seventeen per cent during my administration, through the application of economy and efficiency. The number of permits issued has increased 91 per cent.

The two commissioners who have served in this department during my term have been able and honest in their efforts to prevent the sale of fraudulent securities. Naturally this department has incurred the hostility of dishonest men who have been curbed in their plots to rob the public.

STATE INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

The Department of Insurance is maintained by fees collected. In the four years previous to 1923 forty-two per cent of the income was required to maintain the department. During the past four years only thirty-two per cent of the fees collected has been used in maintaining the department. There has been an increase in the number of insurance agencies and brokers of thirty-seven per cent. The receipts of the department based upon fees for certificates of authority, filing of annual statements, agents, brokers, surplus line brokers and adjusters fees have increased thirty-four per cent. The net premium income of insurance companies of California has increased sixty-three per cent. The department is well organized and well managed.

BUILDING AND LOAN COMMISSION.

As a result of the constructive policies of the Building and Loan Commission during my term of office, the assets of building and loan associations in the State of California have more than trebled and the number of associations has almost doubled.

From assets amounting to $64,732,760, four years ago, the assets have increased to $224,714,597. The number of associations has increased from 102 to 193 and the number of investors and members has doubled and the borrowers trebled. During the past four years, building and loan associations have assisted in the construction of thirty-five thousand homes in the State of California.

Although the work of the department has trebled, the cost of maintaining the department to the associations has been materially decreased. Four years ago, a charge of twenty-four cents per one thousand dollars of assets was made. This fee was reduced to fifteen cents per one thousand dollars of assets in 1926. This record was made possible through the strict adherence to a policy of economy and business principles.

Strict enforcement of rules and regulations by the Commissioner has made the California associations among the safest in the world. There have been no failures among California building and loan associations during my term of office. Credit is due the commissioner for his good work.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The State Board of Health has never been administered in a manner reflecting more credit upon its members. There has been a slight increase in the expenses of maintaining the department due to additional expenditures for humanitarian work, particularly in connection with child hygiene and the prevention of disease. The cost of administration of the department has decreased from $108,443 to $99,192 covering a three-year period. A decrease of $9,000 in the cost of registration and licensing and a saving of $22,989 in sanitary engineering work and a material decrease in the cost of the work of analysis and investigation has been made.

The work to control and regulate sewage disposal has increased two-fold without an increase in the sanitary engineering staff. Owing to the prompt and efficient action of the State Board of Health, two epidemics in California were prevented. The canning industry has been materially assisted by the board.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Despite a material increase in the work of the Railroad Commission, the actual expenditures have decreased. In the past three fiscal years, ending June 30, 1926, the total expenditures were $1,240,078 as compared with $1,486,777 for the three fiscal years previous. For the years from 1923 to 1926 the commission rendered 6373 decisions as compared with 5119 formal decisions for the years 1918 to 1922, inclusive. During the same period the formal applications increased from 4270 to 4979 and the formal complaints from 14,843 to 18,635. I have exercised great care in the selection of men for membership on this important commission, and have been fortunate in securing men of learning, integrity and industry.

STATE PARKS.

California has six State park areas including the Humboldt-Mendocino and Del Norte parks containing approximately 3200 acres. California Redwood Park at Boulder Creek contains approximately 9300 acres; Burney Falls Park, 335 acres; Bidwell State Park approximately 100 acres and Mt. Diablo State Park approximately 600 acres, or a total of 15,500 acres of State park area.

During my administration, the endeavor has been made to permit the enjoyment of California State parks by the greatest number of citizens, particularly those who can not afford expensive vacations. During the summer just past, between twenty-five and thirty thousand people spent at least a part of their vacation within these parks. Portions of the most attractive groves have been prepared as public camp grounds and pure water has been piped and other conveniences provided. To take care of such expense, a nominal charge of fifty cents per night has been made, with the result that these accommodations have been furnished campers without expense to the state.

California's oldest State park is the California Redwood Park in the Santa Cruz Mountains. Many improvements have been made at this park during the past year to provide facilities and conveniences for campers. The plan of placing it under the control of the State Forester, as executive officer, has proved successful. Richardson Grove in Humboldt County has been under the supervision of the State Forester since its acquisition and has been well and popularly managed. The total expenditures for maintaining these parks have been materially reduced from $159,181 for the three and one-half year period ending June 30, 1923, to $114,280 for the corresponding period ending June 30, 1926. With the decrease in cost there has been a bettering of public service.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT COMMISSION.

That reduction in expenditures does not mean inefficiency is shown by the records of the Industrial Accident Commission. During the first biennium of my administration, the cost of maintaining this department was $501,162 as compared with an expense of $805,296 during the preceding two years. The expenses during the past two years have been correspondingly low. The work of the commission has never been carried on in a more efficient manner. The decisions and rehearings and other procedures have materially increased but the unit cost for each proceeding has been reduced from $37.47 to $21.60.

In the safety department of the commission, the unit cost has been reduced from $12.30 to $4.48 per activity. The State Compensation Insurance Fund has been administered in a businesslike manner. The premium revenue has increased from $4,635,000 to $5,811,000 and during the past four years an average of thirty per cent dividend has been returned. Through the work of engineers and inspectors of the commission, and a careful study of accident prevention, deaths and serious injuries in the industries of California have been materially reduced.

MOTOR VEHICLE DEPARTMENT.

The Motor Vehicle Department has been conducted with great efficiency. While the total registrations have increased one hundred and twenty-one per cent, there has been only a thirty-seven per cent increase in expenditures. The cost of registration per automobile license has been reduced from ninety-one cents to fifty-seven cents. The work of the department has practically doubled during the past four years.

In 1922 the total registration of motor vehicles in California was 883,649 while in 1926, to and inclusive of November 30, a total of 1,626,131 vehicles had been registered. By statute, a maximum of twenty per cent of motor vehicle fees collected is allowed for the maintenance of the department. During the year 1926, only slightly more than seven per cent has been used, the balance of $3,350,000 having reverted for maintenance work on the highways of the state.

A Statewide traffic squad has been organized. At the present time, there are approximately two hundred traffic officers operating in forty-five counties. Fifteen hundred headlight adjusting stations have been established to assist motorists in an effort to rectify the headlight evil.

New and larger offices have been provided and equipped in Los Angeles, San Diego, and Fresno, while the main office at Sacramento has recently moved into a new building especially constructed for it. The Division of Motor Vehicles now has the finest equipped department in the United States. Its superintendent deserves especial commendation.

STATE REAL ESTATE DEPARTMENT.

By the application of economy and efficiency, the proportion of revenue collected by the Real Estate Commission that has been required to run the department has been decreased from seventy-two per cent to fifty-four per cent during the past four years. During this period a total of $427,344 has reverted to the general fund, being a saving to the State through economy and efficiency practiced in this department. The average cost per license issued has been reduced from $3.28 to $2. The total number of licenses issued has increased from 92,050 during the four-year period prior to 1923 to 246,771.

A saving to the State has been accomplished despite the material increase in the work of the department. The bonding and educational features of the Real Estate Act added in 1923, has increased the work of the department twenty-five per cent while the number of adjustments made on complaints filed has increased fifty per cent. The effective operation of the department has increased one hundred and fifty per cent with an actual reduction in the cost of maintenance of at least twenty per cent. The surplus of collections over expenses shows that the fees can be decreased. The two commissioners serving under me have been faithful in the discharge of their duties.

MEDICAL EXAMINERS.

In no other state has there been so much activity in connection with the prosecution of illegal medical practitioners as in California. A large number of physicians found guilty of criminal practice have had their licenses revoked, and this exceptional record of law enforcement has been accomplished with a reduction in cost. The members of this board, all of whom have been appointed by me, have shown particular care in licensing practitioners with the result that the standard of the medical profession in California is now as high as any state in the Union. In 1922 the cost of maintaining this department was $68,971, while in 1925 the cost had been reduced to $43,653. The activity of the board in investigating and prosecuting holders of fake medical diplomas has been a protection to the people and to the medical profession. The diploma mill industry has been stopped.

DENTAL EXAMINERS.

The work of the State Board of Dental Examiners has been greatly increased during the past four-year period due to an influx of dentists from other states and increased enrollment in the dental colleges of this State.

There are at present 4980 practicing dentists in California, of which number approximately 1800 were licensed during the past four years. In addition to the work of licensing dentists, the board has been very active in maintaining the ethics of the profession and prosecuting violators of the law.

Through the application of the principles of economy and efficiency, the surplus in the dentistry fund has increased from $4,316 to $23,212. Dentists have been appointed of the highest skill and integrity to the board, which has been freed from political domination.

STATE BOARD OF PHARMACY.

A saving of $77,422 is shown by the records of the State Board of Pharmacy during the past four years. The surplus of this department during the same period increased from $22,421 to $132,008. The efficiency of the board has been greatly increased by the elimination of political control and by placing on the board practical pharmacists with high ideals and a desire for public service.

The membership on the board has been distributed throughout the State so that places other than the two largest centers of population now have representation on the board. The men appointed by me have striven to protect the public as well as the profession of pharmacy.

CHIROPRACTIC EXAMINERS.

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners was created by initiative during my term of office. In the appointment of the members of this board I have endeavored to carry out the will of the voters by selecting bona fide chiropractors rather than practitioners who use other means of treating disease. The board has carried on its work honestly and in a businesslike way, although greatly hampered by malicious litigation. The expenditures during the seventy-sixth and seventy-seventh fiscal years have amounted to $30,013 which have been nearly covered by fees collected.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

The members of the State Agricultural Board have charge of the State Fair at Sacramento and that the fair in September, 1926, was the greatest in the history of the State is a testimonial to the ability of the present board. I have been able to secure men of the highest standing and character and representative of agricultural interests from all parts of the State to accept appointments on this board and serve without compensation. A grandstand was erected last year which is one of the finest in the country and added materially to the attendance at the fair. The State Fair is of particular importance to the State as it gives to the people a better understanding of the resources of California. The fair is conducted on a business basis and for the benefit of agricultural and livestock interests. The secretary is to be commended for his faithful and intelligent service.

MINING BUREAU.

Reduction of expenses has been effected in the State Mining Bureau and at the same time the highest efficiency has been maintained. During the four years preceding my administration, the Mining Department cost the State $275,998 and the cost for the past four years has been only $194,264. A reduction in expenses has also been effected in the Oil Department of the Mining Bureau despite the tremendous increase in oil production during the past four years. In 1919 the oil production was $53,219,000. In 1925 the value of oil produced aggregated $330,000,000 and the minerals amounted to $100,000,000. Under a law signed by me in 1925, the practice of "high grading" has greatly checked.

STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

During my administration this department has been conducted with the highest skill and efficiency with great saving to the State for printing. The printing of school books has proved an entire success and the estimated saving during the past four years on this item alone is $1,137,148. Notwithstanding the fact that the cost of paper, labor and general overhead expenses has increased, the cost of manufacturing school textbooks has been reduced six per cent as compared with previous cost. The two superintendents who have served during my administration have managed the great printing plant with efficiency and ability. All of the employees are on a civil service basis and are judged upon the merit system.

IMMIGRATION AND HOUSING COMMISSION.

For the past three and one-half years the Immigration and Housing Commission has expended $224,726 as compared with $251,113 expended for a like period previously. This reduction has been made, despite increased work, through the application of businesslike principles. A reduction of $23,394 in administrative costs alone was realized. The problems have been met and the work taken care of without increase in the force through cooperation with local officers and other departments of state government. Some of the best citizens in California have served on this commission faithfully and without compensation. The commission has done a constructive and humane work.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

As president of the Board of Regents, I have taken a personal interest in the affairs of the State university and have attended regularly every meeting of the board, something never done before by an executive of this State.

The University of California has advanced more during the past four years than during any similar period in its history. The present average student attendance in the University in all its parts widely distributed over the State, is approximately 16,500 or about 4000 larger than any other state university. The standards of scholarship within the University have been decidedly raised so that its standing as an institution of learning is one of the highest in the world. The citizens of California may well be proud of their State university.

Plans have been developed and brought to fruition for the relocation of the Southern Branch of the University of California and the erection of new buildings at a beautiful site near Beverly Hills. The Southern Branch will be entirely divorced from the Teachers' College, which will remain on Western avenue in Los Angeles City.

During the past four years 9658 degrees have been conferred by the authority of the Regents of the University. Notable achievements in research have been attained. The work of the University Extension Division has continued to grow with the result that a greater number of the adults of the State have been benefited. The Agricultural Extension Service with resulting benefit to nearly one-half million men and women in the agricultural areas of the State has been extended.

During the past four years a number of new buildings have been erected and completed at the University. These include the Memorial Stadium, the Students Union, Le Conte Hall, Haviland Hall and Hesse Hall. Of these the Memorial Stadium and the Students Union have been paid for completely from private funds and five-sevenths of the cost of Haviland Hall has been met by the Haviland bequest.

Bonds voted by the citizens of California at the last election will make available three million dollars for buildings on the new campus at the Southern Branch and three million dollars for the replacement of temporary wooden buildings on the Berkeley campus.

I have appointed to the Board of Regents men of the highest standing and character, who have rendered signal service to the cause of education.

STATE HARBOR AT SAN FRANCISCO.

The Board of State Harbor Commissioners has charge of the State property at the waterfront of San Francisco. This department has never been handled in as efficient and economical a manner and the commissioners have been particularly vigilant in serving the interests of the harbor.

When I took office, it was found that the piers, warehouses and buildings were in great need of repair and this necessitated a large expenditure for permanent improvements to protect the state property. A great many important improvements have been made. Notably, the overhead crossing for passengers from the Ferry Building across The Embarcadero to the foot of Market Street, the subway under the street car lines in front of the Ferry Building for vehicular traffic, the re-flooring of the reception rooms of the Ferry Building with California marble and many other notable improvements for the convenience of the public and for the efficiency of the harbor.

The State Harbor is now on an absolutely business basis and employees are selected from the civil service list and maintained because of their merits.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

The coordination of the State Department of Public Welfare and the State Bureau of Children's Aid is an illustration of efficient management. These two departments were supervising orphanages, following up the adoption of children, inspecting maternity wards, county hospitals, jails and poor houses; studying plans of public buildings for State and county charges; and to these duties the last Legislature added the inspection of Homes for the Aged. During the last four years nearly six million dollars has been disbursed by the State through the Bureau of Children's Aid for the welfare of widows and orphans and 14,000 children are now receiving assistance. The work has greatly increased, but the cost of operating the two departments has been greatly reduced. The accountant's report shows that, notwithstanding the growth of the work and the increased number of beneficiaries, the coordination of these two departments under one executive secretary effected a saving of $52,314.36 during the last biennium. The members of this board are doing a public service freely and are deserving of credit. The secretary and other officers are efficient and work earnestly for the public good.

INDUSTRIAL WELFARE COMMISSION.

The minimum wage law of California has been administered efficiently and at a decrease of thirty-four per cent in the cost of maintaining the Industrial Welfare Commission.

In May, 1923, seven and four-tenths per cent of the women and minors in the mercantile, laundry and manufacturing industries were receiving wages under sixteen dollars per week. In 1925, only five and four-tenths per cent of the women and minors in these industries received wages under the minimum wage schedule. Not only has the welfare of female and minor employees been improved, but general conditions have been bettered through an educational program of the commission.

There has been no attempt in California to test the constitutionality of the minimum wage law, as was feared following an adverse decision of the United States Supreme Court in April, 1923. This result was largely due to the work of the Industrial Welfare Commission and the cooperation of employers.

STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION.

The State Athletic Commission was created by an initiative measure and although I am not personally a follower of the so-called sport of boxing, I endeavored to select men for the commission who would see that boxing was handled in an honest manner and at the same time give full effect to the will of the people as expressed through their vote. The total attendance at boxing contests during this period up to November 30, 1926, was 3,218,446, and the sum of $4,118,841 was actually paid in box office receipts to see pugilistic contests. The administration of the Athletic Commission cost the state only approximately one-half of the limit fixed by the law, or in the neighborhood of twenty-two thousand five hundred dollars per year. The State has realized in fees approximately two hundred forty thousand dollars that can be used toward the erection of buildings at the Veterans' Home at Yountville as soon as action is taken by the legislature making the necessary appropriation. The commissioners and the secretary have been faithful, honest and efficient.

STATE RECLAMATION BOARD.

An excellent example of what can be accomplished by the application of business principles and the practice of economy is exemplified in the records of the State Reclamation Board. The operating costs of the department have been reduced from twelve per cent to less than five per cent and the average decrease in all of the expenses of the board has been fifty-three per cent. Despite this strict practice of economy, the work of the commission has gone forward and much has been accomplished. The board has worked out a plan for the more equitable distribution of costs between the State, the federal government and local interests. The members of the board deserve great credit for their intelligent and efficient services to the people of the Sacramento and San Joaquin reclamation districts.

LAND SETTLEMENT BOARD.

Prior to my term of office the administration of the State Land Settlement Board was almost a public disgrace. Officials of the State of California had resorted to the worst practices of misrepresentation in connection with the sale of land and the taxpayers were forced to bear the burden of unwarranted administrative costs. During my term, the overhead expenses of the Delhi Land Settlement were reduced from $38,369 to $11,500 per year, and at the Durham Land Settlement the administration cost was reduced from $8,000 to $3,100. By the elimination of private automobiles for administration heads, a saving of $3,600 per year was effected. In all, a reduction of $179,156 was brought about through the application of plain businesslike principles to the land settlement operations. Moreover, land sales during my term, have been made to persons most fitted to undertake agricultural work, thus eliminating the necessity of foreclosure.

A practical man of experience was put in charge of land settlement by me. It was necessary at the 1925 session of the Legislature to appropriate $600,000 for relief, of which $350,000 was used to pay the interest due the State from settlers on the loans made and $250,000 to carry on the financing of the settlement and to make loans to settlers which had been promised by the former administration. In addition to this appropriation of $600,000, an act was approved whereby interest charges to the settlers were rebated from July 1, 1925, to July 1, 1930. The small colony at Durham has been in a measure successful. The experience at Delhi and Durham shows that State colonization is not successful. The plan of the Veterans' Welfare Board has been to distribute land purchases throughout the State and this has proved successful.

STATE LIBRARY.

During the past three fiscal years the cost of maintaining the State Library has been $326,768, as against $439,478 during the preceding three fiscal years. The circulation of books reached the highest point in the history of the State, 46,809 volumes being circulated in the various counties. The total appropriations for the State Library during the four fiscal years ending June 30, 1927, have been $456,700, as compared with $565,900 for the preceding four years. Under the policy followed by the State Library, every citizen through his local branch has access to the literary and scientific works in the State Library, so that the small country and village branch libraries are put on equal footing with the large libraries in the metropolitan cities. The State Library leads the world in the completeness of its service. Forty-six of the fifty-eight counties are associated with the State Library. The library is scientifically managed and reflects great credit upon the able and efficient librarian.

PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Education is one of the most important functions of any government. The taxpayers of the State of California have been liberal in sustaining educational institutions. The State maintains the university with its various departments, several teachers colleges, a school for the deaf and blind and an industrial school. It also acts as a collecting agency and turns many millions of dollars over to the various school districts of the state.

I have taken a deep interest in all educational affairs, have fostered the interests of the university, and have approved appropriations for new buildings, additional lands and improvements at the teachers colleges amounting to $521,000 in excess of those provided for during the administration of my predecessor, and have provided liberally for their maintenance. Generous provision has been made for the school for the deaf and blind, while the kindergartens, elementary and high schools have had my earnest support. Men and women of the highest integrity and business ability have been appointed to membership on the State Board of Education. The total expenditure for State educational purposes for the four fiscal years ending June 30, 1923, was $73,096,932, while during the four fiscal years of my administration appropriations reached the great sum of $115,714,815. This is an increase of $42,617,872, or more than 58 per cent.

Under the present constitutional provisions the Governor and the Legislature are in a large measure powerless to prevent this rapid increase in the cost of education. I can not refrain from repeating the warning given in my 1925 message, that the present rate of increase in the cost of education in California will soon absorb all the revenues of the State and create a burden too heavy for the taxpayers to carry.

The people of California are willing to contribute liberally to educational needs but they insist that their money be expended wisely and economically. The trustees elected in the various school districts should have larger powers over the financial affairs of the districts. Educators can be safely trusted with the education of the coming citizens of the State, but business men should control expenditures. This policy has worked well in university affairs and would result in a great saving if applied to the common schools. Such economy would result in better schools and better education for the rising generation.

CONCLUSION.

I appreciate better than anyone the heavy load of official responsibility which my successor will in a few minutes assume, and extend to him my best wishes. It is with pleasure that I lay down the heavy burdens of this great office. Only with the aid and guidance of Divine Providence have I been able to carry on the work.

The people of California have my sincere thanks for the great confidence they have reposed in me and for the high offices they have given me by their votes. As a private citizen, I will labor to repay, in a measure, the debt I owe to the people.

In closing, I wish to thank the Senators and Assemblymen for their courtesies and the State officers for their assistance during the past four years. In my trip around the world in the good ship "California," I will remember my thousands of friends in California with pleasure and gratitude. It is good to be free.

Respectfully submitted.

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, Governor.

MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, REGARDING ACTS OF EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

In accordance with the provisions of the constitution and the statutes, I am reporting to you each act of reprieve, commutation and pardon by me since my last report at the beginning of the forty-sixth legislative session. Following the practice established in my previous message, I am setting forth the full text of pardons and commutations of sentence granted, a statement of the case, the crime for which the person was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the commutation or pardon, together with my reasons for granting the same.

I have exercised only five acts of executive clemency during the past two years. Four pardons have been granted and one commutation of sentence issued. I have issued no reprieves during the past two years. Several hundred applications for clemency have been made. Each case has been carefully investigated and considered, but only in these five cases have I felt justified in exercising the power vested in the Governor.

In the one case of commutation, a sentence of "five years to life" was shortened to five years upon the recommendation of the trial judge and district attorney of Sacramento County because a young man, not eighteen years of age at the time of the commission of the crime of robbery, later materially assisted the State in securing the conviction of an ex-convict who had led him into the commission of crime.

In each of the four cases of pardon I was convinced after careful consideration that the person convicted was innocent and that a miscarriage of justice had resulted from his conviction and sentence to the State penitentiary. All four of these convictions were had in Los Angeles County, and in each case the trial judge recommended pardon. In three cases the district attorney of Los Angeles County admitted he had made a mistake, but was loath to admit his error in the last case of pardon issued by me.

Pardon matters have occupied much of my time and attention during my term as Governor, not only in connection with the consideration of the various applications made to me, but in the consideration of the theory of pardons and the proper use of the executive power of clemency given to the Governor by section 1 of article VII of the constitution.

My conclusion is that the pardoning power is given to the Governor solely to prevent a miscarriage of justice. I feel that the Governor of a State in the discharge of his duty and in keeping with his oath of office to support the constitution and laws of the state has no right legally or morally to pardon one convicted of crime, either during or subsequent to his incarceration in a state prison, for reasons of sentiment or pity, or because pressure has been brought to bear upon him by "sob sisters," relatives, or politicians. It is an easy thing for a Governor to grant pardons and it is hard to deny some applications. To issue pardons freely is the easy way, but I feel that an executive should stand inflexibly for law enforcement and adequate punishment of criminals, and not weakly give way to pleas for clemency.

In many cases every imaginable pressure has been brought to bear to induce me to issue pardons. Sympathy has been aroused by sentimentalists and in many cases the denial of pardons appeared to be the unpopular thing at the time. I believe, however, that the sober, thinking men and women of the State of California agree with and approve my stand for law and order.

In the case of Clarence (alias Tuffy) Reid, petitions containing more than 50,000 names asking the commutation of sentence poured into the Governor's office. Two chains of newspapers made a determined campaign to save the convict's life. In this, as in every other case of murder involving the death penalty that has come to my attention during my term of office, I felt that the prisoner had been fairly tried, justly convicted and that the sentence of the court as fixed in accordance with the verdict of the jury should be carried out.

During my term of office thirty-seven men have been hanged in the prisons of this State. In each of these cases an appeal was made to me to commute the sentence to life imprisonment, either by the prisoner or persons interested in the case, and I have made a careful examination of the evidence and been fully convinced that the verdict of the jury was sound. The death penalty is a needed protection to the peace officers of the State, as guardians of the life and property of our citizens. The facts are yet fresh in the minds of the people of two ruthless young murderers, whose lives were spared by a sentimental jury, escaped from the State prison and were responsible for the taking of at least two additional lives. It is absurd for sentimentalists to claim that life imprisonment is a greater punishment than death. Every one of the thirty-seven cold-blooded murderers who paid the penalty of his crime during the past four years was anxious to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Moreover, a life sentence does not mean remaining in prison for the remainder of the natural life of the murderer. Experience over a period of years since the adoption of the parole law shows that the average time served for a life sentence is thirteen and one-half years.

The matter of pardoning convicts who have conducted themselves properly on parole has been presented to me many times. A convict is presumed to observe the law and the rules of the prison board. His reward for good conduct is his remaining outside of prison. If he fails he is returned to prison. I do not believe that good behavior in prison or on parole justifies clemency by the Governor.

Under the decisions of the courts a pardon virtually wipes away the sins of the convict. It not only takes away the disabilities resulting from conviction of a felony but, in effect, it gives him a new character, spotless, clean and white.

Some plan should be devised whereby a prisoner who has served a sentence for the commission of a felony or other high crime within the meaning of the constitution may be restored to citizenship rights, after he has demonstrated over a length of time that he has left his life of crime and become a useful member of society, without giving him a full pardon and thus pronouncing him innocent of the crime of which he is guilty.

There should be further limitation on the power of the Governor with respect to acts of executive clemency. Section 1 of article VII of the constitution, giving the Governor power to perform acts of executive clemency, is limited only by such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. The legislature should prescribe that certain proof or showing be required in the application, and limit the acts of executive clemency to cases of miscarriage of justice.

The jury system has come down to us from antiquity and has become such a time-honored part of the law of the land that the opinion of the executive should not be substituted for the opinion of the jury. It has been my practice to sustain the verdict of juries. If the jury, which has seen the witnesses and heard the evidence, is satisfied of the person's guilt, I have declined to set the verdict aside. If new facts have developed since the trial and did not come to light within sufficient time to present to the court on a motion for a new trial, I have considered such facts in relation to the evidence adduced at the trial. I have also examined into claims of perjury and into improper motives on the part of law enforcement officers. However, I have felt that such showing should be sufficient to convince any ordinary mind that a miscarriage of justice would result from the carrying out of the sentence and have invariably made it a practice to submit all of the evidence to the trial judge and district attorney, believing that in practically all cases their recommendation should be followed.

In other words, it is my theory that executive clemency should be supplemental to the law and should not be so exercised as to defeat the purpose of the law. Pardons too freely issued lend hope to those who have violated the law and to the criminally inclined, thus taking away to a large extent the deterrent effect of conviction and punishment.

Only by strict enforcement of our criminal statutes and the elimination of sentimentalism in meting out punishment can law and order be maintained.

I have had constantly in mind a desire to protect the women and children of California in their homes. If sentimentalists and hysterical newspapers should succeed in their endeavors, shotgun brigades would be necessary in every community and no home would be safe. The stern enforcement of the law and adequate punishment of criminals is necessary to protect our citizens. The execution of one criminal is a greater deterrent of crime than the confinement of one hundred in prison. The fear of the noose on the part of the criminal element is a measure of protection to every citizen.

Following are the acts of executive clemency done by me during the past two years:

PARDON OF SIDNEY WOOD.

Sidney Wood was convicted of robbery in the first degree in the superior court of the county of Los Angeles on March 3, 1924, and two days later was sentenced to an indeterminate term of from five years to life in the State Prison at San Quentin, where he was taken and given prison No. 39150.

He was charged with participating in the holdup of a Pacific Electric train near Los Angeles, California, on November 7, 1923, and was tried by a jury. The jury disagreed and he was tried by another jury and convicted. He protested his innocence and attempted to prove an alibi. Several passengers on the electric train identified Wood and the jury convicted him on this evidence.

Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles County, says that a mistake was made and that one James E. Hovermale and three others were the robbers and that Wood was innocent. Hovermale was convicted of this robbery on March 11, 1925, and the other three robbers are in jail awaiting trial. One of them has made a complete confession. The district attorney called at this office yesterday and presented the facts and asked that Wood be pardoned. Eleven of the twelve jurymen who tried Hovermale have expressed their belief in the innocence of Wood. Officials and detectives of the electric company have written stating their belief in Wood's innocence.

District Attorney Keyes in asking for a pardon says:

"On the 3d day of March, 1924, Sidney Wood was convicted of first degree robbery on the testimony of two witnesses who positively identified him as one of the perpetrators of the Pacific Electric Short Line robbery at Valley Junction in the county of Los Angeles on November 7, 1923, the evidence being to the effect that he was the one who stood upon the rear platform of the Pacific Electric car during the holdup and had fired the shots into the roof of the rear vestibule. The identification by these two witnesses was based upon a similarity in the eyes, the lower portion of the forehead and the upper portion of the nose, the upper portion of the forehead of the man who actually perpetrated the robbery being concealed by a cap and the lower portion of his face from the bridge of the nose down concealed by a bandana handkerchief.

"He was sentenced on March 5, 1924, by the Honorable W. J. Wood in Department 21 of the superior court in and for the county of Los Angeles, previous to which time he had filed a motion for a new trial which was denied. His defense was that of an alibi.

"Representatives of the Pacific Electric Railway, to wit, P. R. Fysh and C. R. Smith, made a very thorough and careful investigation of the robbery in question, and as a result of that investigation one James E. Hovermale was arrested, tried in Department 12 of the superior court in and for Los Angeles County during the week of March 11, 1925, and convicted of robbery in the first degree and sentenced by the Honorable Judge Sidney N. Reeve on March 19, 1925, to San Quentin, the evidence in that case showing that the said James E. Hovermale was the real party who stood upon the rear platform at the time of the robbery of the aforementioned Pacific Electric Short Line train on the aforesaid date, and had fired the shots into the roof of the vestibule.

"As a result of the conviction of James E. Hovermale indictments were returned against Mark Godfrey, Russell Smith and Roy Smith charging them with this same robbery, Russell Smith and Mark Godfrey having been arrested and extradited from Idaho and Mark Godfrey since his arrest having made a complete confession of his participation in the holdup, and identifying Hovermale, Russell Smith and Roy Smith as the other three parties who with him held up the Pacific Electric Short Line train on the aforesaid date.

"In view of the testimony now available, which is conclusive as to those who actually participated in the holdup, the undersigned unhesitatingly states that in so far as Sidney Wood personally is concerned there has been a miscarriage of justice—that he is a victim of mistaken identity; had absolutely nothing whatever to do with the holdup; is innocent of the offense of which he has been convicted and unqualifiedly recommends to your excellency that the said Sidney Wood receive an immediate pardon."

Superior Judge Sidney N. Reeve, who presided at the trial of Hovermale, has recommended the pardon of Sidney Wood, and says:

"Having presided during the trial of James E. Hovermale, as judge of Department 12 in the superior court of Los Angeles County, and being thoroughly familiar with the evidence introduced therein, unhesitatingly join in the above request and recommendation that your excellency grant Sidney Wood an immediate pardon."

The jurymen who tried Hovermale, the real culprit, have filed the following request for the pardon of Wood:

"We, the undersigned, jurors in the Hovermale case above referred to, who have heard and passed upon the evidence in connection therewith, feel that in so far as Sidney Wood is concerned, there has been a miscarriage of justice, and that he is absolutely innocent of the crime with which he stands convicted, and cheerfully join in the above recommendation and request that your excellency grant an immediate pardon to Sidney Wood."

Frank Karr, chief counsel and vice president of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, joining in the request for a pardon, says that:

"On January 4, 1925, he received a letter from Sidney Wood complaining that he had been wrongfully convicted and sentenced to a term of from five years to life in San Quentin. The undersigned immediately requested a report on the conviction of Sidney Wood and started an investigation and from that investigation has arrived at the conclusion that Sidney Wood was erroneously and wrongfully convicted of the crime of train robbery, and therefore in order that justice may be done joins in the recommendation that a pardon be granted said Sidney Wood."

E. R. Fysh, chief special agent of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, says he—

"read the above statement in support of the petition of Sidney Wood for a pardon, am thoroughly familiar with the contents and have an independent knowledge thereof, and most heartily concur in the recommendation on the part of the Honorable Asa Keyes, district attorney of and for the county of Los Angeles, to your excellency, that the said Sidney Wood receive at your hands an immediate pardon."

From the above statements of facts, I am convinced that Sidney Wood was wrongfully convicted of the crime for which he was charged and that he is rightfully entitled to his immediate freedom.

Now, therefore, by virtue of authority vested in me by the constitution and laws of the State of California, I do hereby pardon the said Sidney Wood.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, this fifth day of May, 1925.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE.

Raymond V. Fredericksen pleaded guilty in the superior court of Sacramento County on October 22, 1923, on a charge of robbery, and was sentenced to the State Prison at San Quentin for a term of from five years to life, under chapter 127, Statutes 1923. He was received at San Quentin on November 1, 1923, and has been serving his sentence since that date.

At the preliminary hearing he testified that he was 18 years of age. Subsequently, after the court had lost jurisdiction of the case, showing was made that he was born on March 26, 1906, from which showing it appears that he was 17 years old at the time of the commission of the offense and his plea of guilty. He later made the explanation that he did not want to admit that he was under 18 years of age, so great was his fear that he would be compelled to go to a part-time school.

An application for probation was denied upon the recommendation of the probation officer, who felt that notwithstanding the young man's prior good behavior, that he was precluded from recommending probation, inasmuch as the robbery was committed with the aid of a weapon.

The investigation of the probation officer and of the trial court showed that the robbery was the result of association with a hardened criminal, one George B. Dix, who had led the young man to participate in several crimes, although the actual perpetration of the crimes was conducted by Dix.

Dix attempted to escape the severe penalty for robbery by pleading guilty to the crime of burglary, and it was only upon the testimony of Fredericksen that he was convicted of the crime of robbery and received proper sentence for his misdeeds. It required considerable courage on the part of Fredericksen to so testify. At the time of the trial he had already been confined in San Quentin penitentiary.

Ellis W. Jones, sheriff of Sacramento County, makes the following statement:

"At the time Frederickksen was arrested he stated to the arresting officer: 'I see where I have done wrong, and I will tell the whole story,' which he did. If it had not been for Frederickksen's testimony I do not believe George B. Dix, who was an ex-convict, would have been convicted. After taking into consideration the fact of Frederickksen's age, and feeling that Frederickksen unwillingly participated in the crime of highway robbery, for which he was sentenced to the State Prison at San Quentin, I believe this is a case where the influence of a hardened criminal was brought to bear upon a youth."

Charles O. Busick, judge of the superior court of Sacramento County, who sentenced Frederickksen, has made the following statement:

"The defendant, Frederickksen, pleaded guilty to the charge of robbery and was sentenced under the 1923 statute, chapter 127, codified under section 211-a. Prior to sentencing, application for probation was made and by the court referred to the probation officer and the probation officer held that he was not permitted under the law to make a recommendation for probation, therefore the defendant was sentenced and is now in San Quentin prison."

Subsequently thereto, Dix, the leader in this crime, was tried in this court before a jury and the defendant, Frederickksen, appeared as a witness for the State, told a straight, truthful story of the crime, assisting the State in convicting Dix, the leader of the two, and a man who already had a prison record.

The investigation of the probation officer showed that defendant Frederickksen previously had a good character and reputation; had been regularly engaged in a useful occupation and had been a member of a Sunday school class; had no previous bad record, came of a good family and had undoubtedly been misled by the experienced criminal, Dix.

The file in the case also shows affidavits filed in his behalf, after sentence, in a motion to set aside the judgment, from persons who lived at his former home, showing that the defendant was born March, 1906, although the boy, himself, testified that he was 18 years old. At the time of passing sentence the court had nothing but Frederickksen's statement as to his age before it, therefore accepted the testimony of Frederickksen as correct, and for that reason did not remand him to the juvenile court.

It appears to the undersigned that the sentence in this case, although in conformity with law, is much too severe; in that unfortunately the lad's rights were frittered away by a failure to make the showing that possibly could have been made as to his age.

The youth has now spent nearly a year in prison, a severe punishment for the part he took in the commission of the crime and it is the belief of the undersigned that justice would best be served in granting a pardon to this youth. It is with a firm belief in these statements that I make these recommendations."

J. J. Henderson, district attorney of Sacramento County, says:

"I endorse the statement of Honorable Charles O. Busick, and join in his recommendation."

After carefully reviewing the above statements and the facts in the case I do not feel that a pardon should be granted, as the young man actually participated in a robbery and in one or more burglaries. However, I have taken into consideration the fact that if the young man's age had been established prior to sentence he probably would have been sent to the reform school rather than to the State penitentiary, and the additional fact that he risked bodily injury at the hands of other prisoners at San Quentin who make a practice of intimidating any prisoner who is willing to testify against another prisoner. Frederickksen materially aided the State in the conviction of the director and instigator of the crime in which he participated. The conduct of the prisoner since his incarceration in the State penitentiary has been exemplary, and he has given unmistakable evidence of his desire to reform and lead a better life. I feel that he is entitled to executive clemency, and that his sentence should be reduced to permit early parole.

Now, therefore, I, Friend Wm. Richardson, Governor of the State of California, pursuant to authority vested in me by the constitution and statutes of said state, do hereby commute the sentence of Raymond V. Frederickson from five years to life to a term of five years in the State penitentiary at San Quentin.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Sacramento, this 26th day of February, 1926.

PARDON OF JAMES W. PRESTON.

James W. Preston was convicted by a jury in the superior court of Los Angeles County of first-degree burglary, first-degree robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. He was sentenced on March 16, 1925, on each of the counts to serve a term in the State Prison at San Quentin as prescribed by law, the three sentences to run consecutively. He was subsequently received at the State prison and given No. 40598.

The charges grew out of the cowardly shooting of Mrs. Dick R. Parsons of Los Angeles on the night of October 18, 1924, during the robbery of her residence. After the commission of the crime, the robber and would-be murderer, who was heavily masked, made his escape. Investigation by the police disclosed that the criminal had made his entrance through a rear window of the house and fingerprints were discovered on a screen and photographed.

Subsequently, Preston was arrested and placed in the Los Angeles city jail on a charge of unlawfully wearing the uniform of the United States Navy. His description generally fit that given by Mrs. Parsons of her assailant. Preston's fingerprints were taken and submitted to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification together with a photograph of the fingerprints found on the screen. The superintendent of the State Bureau advised the Los Angeles officials that the picture was not sufficiently clear to make a positive comparison, although there was a similarity in the general contour of the two fingerprints. The fingerprint expert of the Los Angeles Police Department stated at the time that the fingerprints were not the same. It was erroneously reported in a Los Angeles newspaper that Preston had been positively identified through fingerprints. He was taken to the bedside of Mrs. Parsons, who had previously been misinformed through the newspaper accounts as to the fingerprint identification. Her mind undoubtedly influenced by the belief that the fingerprint identification had been made, Mrs. Parsons identified Preston as the man who had robbed her home and shot her and so testified at the trial. This identification, based only on the similarity of Preston's voice and eyes with those of the actual assailant, together with conflicting statements made by Preston as to his whereabouts on the night of the crime, led to his conviction, although he denied his guilt and claimed that he was not in Los Angeles at the time of the commission of the crime. The district attorney did not produce the evidence in his possession as to the dissimilarity of fingerprints.

More than one year later, one Earl M. Carroll was arrested, charged with the commission of certain burglaries in the city of Los Angeles. His fingerprints were positively identified through comparison by the fingerprint experts of the Los Angeles Police Department as those found on the screen of Mrs. Parsons' home.

Carroll has been charged with the commission of the crime for which Preston was convicted. His trial, however, has been delayed owing to the fact that he has developed evidences of insanity, and it is possible Carroll will not be brought to trial on this charge.

I was hopeful after the facts of this case were first presented to me that a jury might determine the evidence against Carroll before acting on the application of Preston for pardon, but the evidence appears to be so clear and convincing and in view of the recommendation of the trial judge and district attorney of Los Angeles County, I am disposed to act on this case without further delay, believing that an innocent man has been convicted and that the carrying out of the judgment means a miscarriage of justice.

Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles County, says:

"I am wholly satisfied in my own mind that while the conviction of James W. Preston might be proper at the time, subsequent developments are such that it is clear that the guilty party is Earl M. Carroll. Under all of the circumstances, I feel wholly justified in recommending pardon for James W. Preston and do so recommend."

Honorable Carlos S. Hardy, judge of the superior court in and for Los Angeles County, who presided at the trial of Preston and subsequently made investigation of the evidence that has developed subsequent thereto, has recommended a pardon. He reviews the case as follows:

"The district attorney of this county and certain officers of the police department and of the sheriff's department have called to my attention developments in connection with the case of James W. Preston who was tried before a jury in my court in March, 1925, and was convicted of first-degree burglary, first-degree robbery and assault with a deadly weapon and was sentenced by me to San Quentin.

"The district attorney advises me he has recommended to your excellency that this defendant be pardoned, believing as he does, that Preston was not guilty of the offenses of which he was convicted and that his identification was the result of a mistake. The district attorney is strongly corroborated in his views by Mr. H. L. Barlow of the Los Angeles police department who is an expert on fingerprints and Mr. Frank Dewar, deputy sheriff, who is serving as jailer of Los Angeles County.

"I have reviewed the evidence taken at the trial at which Preston was convicted. The identification of Preston was made chiefly by the one witness, his victim, testifying to peculiarities in the voice and of the eyes, which peculiarities are found in the defendant Preston. The victim in the case, who was chief witness in the prosecution, was an unusually intelligent lady and her testimony was positive and conclusive and her description of the voice of the person who attacked her and of the peculiar way in which he would close his eyes down until they were mere slits was most striking and definite and these peculiarities, as above stated, were noticeable in the court room during the trial of the defendant and were of such a rare nature that one might say would be seldom met with in the course of a lifetime.

"In addition to this testimony of identification, there was furnished me, but did not go to the jury, evidence by the officers who had investigated the case that the fingerprints of the person who committed the offense had been taken and compared with the fingerprints of Preston then on file in the State Identification Bureau in Sacramento and some report was shown to me from the superintendent of the bureau stating in effect that Preston's fingerprints were similar to those of the person who committed the offense. The photographic copies and reproductions of the fingerprints of the person committing the offenses were imperfect in some respects and for that reason it was explained that a perfect identification by fingerprints was impossible. The officers were satisfied that they were Preston's fingerprints.

"Preston had an alibi, portions of which placed him in San Diego or near San Diego at the time when the offenses were committed. This alibi was entirely destroyed by the showing that he was in the city jail in Los Angeles at the time when he claimed to be elsewhere.

"The matter of these discrepancies in his alibi have never been cleared up so far as I know, but from a reading of the affidavits which I am advised are now on file in your office and which have been exhibited to me by the district attorney, I am now led to believe that the fingerprints of the person who committed the offenses are not the fingerprints of Preston but that they are the fingerprints of one Earl M. Carroll who is now under arrest and who is believed to have committed the offenses for which Preston is now serving sentence. Carroll has not yet been brought to trial. I am also advised by the district attorney and the other officers of the case that Mrs. Parsons, the victim of these crimes, has seen Carroll and states that he more nearly fills the bill of the man who had committed the offenses and that he possesses the peculiarities of voice and eyes that she described and which went so far in securing the conviction of Preston.

"Upon these representations referred to above and the new disclosures, it would seem to me that Preston is entitled to executive leniency and I join with the other officers in so recommending."

Sergeant H. L. Barlow, fingerprint expert of the Los Angeles police department, has filed with me an affidavit reading in part as follows:

"Affiant further says that he has positively identified the fingerprints that he photographed on the lower edge of screen frame which was removed by a burglar on the night of October 18, 1924, at the home of Mrs. Richard Parsons, 906 West 50th street, as being impressions made by the right middle and right ring fingers of Earl M. Carroll, L. A. No. 21674-A; also a portion of palm print that he photographed on the opposite side of screen frame from the fingerprints which he has positively identified as being an impression made by the right hand palm of Earl M. Carroll.

"Affiant further states that he compared the fingerprints of the said James W. Preston, L. A. No. 23668-M-2, with the fingerprints that he had photographed on the Parsons' screen frame and they were positively not made by his, the said James W. Preston's fingers. He informed the officers who were working on the case at that time of this fact. This comparison was made at the time Preston was suspected of this crime, in 1924."

Mrs. Dick R. Parsons has made and filed with me an affidavit reading in part as follows:

"Affiant now realizes that, believing the fingerprints possibly being Preston's, made her more certain in her mind as to her assailant being Preston than she might have been had this statement never been made, and in the light of this new evidence, granting that Mr. Barlow is correct and which affiant now feels she can not doubt, affiant believes now that she could have been mistaken in identifying James W. Preston as the man.

"While affiant did not realize it at the time, she can now readily see how her identification of Preston was unconsciously influenced from having had read to her before seeing said Preston, articles from newspapers, to the effect that he, Preston, had been arrested on account of the similarity of his fingerprints and the fingerprints of the burglar taken from the window screen of her house.

"Affiant further states that, in view of all the facts that have come to light since the arrest and investigation of the said Earl M. Carroll and the positive identification of his fingerprints with the fingerprints of the burglar left on her screen, she, said affiant, feels that it is possible and entirely probable that she has made a mistake in identifying James W. Preston as her assailant, and that, in making said identification, affiant was undoubtedly influenced by the statements which had been made to her as above set forth, leading her to believe that the said James W. Preston had been connected with said crimes by evidence independent of said affiant's identification."

Frank Dewar, deputy sheriff and jailer of the Los Angeles County jail, has made and filed an affidavit in which he says in part:

"That since said conviction and sentence, and particularly within the past few weeks affiant has been actively engaged in cooperating with H. L. Barlow, police sergeant in charge of the Police Identification Bureau of the city of Los Angeles, and has become satisfied that said Preston was not the perpetrator of the crimes committed against the person and property of Mrs. Richard Parsons and that it now appears that the perpetrator of such crime is one Earl M. Carroll who is now in custody in the county jail of Los Angeles County and being prosecuted by the district attorney of said county for said crime."

Detective Lieutenant T. D. Robinson of the police department of the city of Los Angeles has made and filed with me an affidavit in which he expresses his belief in the innocence of Preston and says:

"Affiant further states that it has since been demonstrated to him by fingerprint expert H. L. Barlow of the Los Angeles police department, that the prints on the screen belong to Earl M. Carroll who was arrested by said Los Angeles police department on the charge of burglary. Affiant is also convinced that owing to the similarity of build and description of the said James W. Preston and the said Earl M. Carroll that Mrs. Parsons could have made an error in her identification at that time, especially as she saw only the eyes of the man who shot her, between the top of a handkerchief tied over Preston's face and a pulled-down hat and that she, the said Mrs. Parsons, heard his, the said Preston's voice in a moment of intense excitement."

M. M. Moran, police officer of the police department of the city of Los Angeles, and Police Officer H. L. Bain, who investigated the charges against Earl M. Carroll, have made and filed with me affidavits in which they express their belief that Carroll, and not Preston, is the person guilty of the crime for which Preston is now serving in the state prison. These affidavits set out the fact that Carroll has made certain damaging admissions to the officers connecting him with the crime in addition to the positive identification of the fingerprints.

G. E. Benedict, deputy public defender of Los Angeles County, who represented Preston at the time of trial, has made and filed with me an affidavit in which he states that Preston at all times maintained his innocence and further that the deputy district attorney in charge of the prosecution before the commencement of the trial offered to drop the charges on which Preston was convicted if he would plead guilty to simple assault, but that Preston refused to plead guilty to any charge in connection with the robbery and shooting of Mrs. Parsons.

I have made an independent investigation and from all of the facts and circumstances believe that James W. Preston is not guilty of the crime for which he was convicted. This is in no way a reflection upon the jury that found Preston guilty. In most cases I am willing to accept the verdict of juries. But facts in this case have developed subsequent to trial which I believe if submitted to the jury would have resulted in a verdict of acquittal. I have no hesitancy in stating that I believe that it is the duty of officers charged with the preparation of cases for trial and of district attorneys who prosecute to present all of the facts to the jury in order that a fair determination of the guilt or innocence of the accused may be had. I strongly believe in vigorous prosecutions of criminals, but I also believe in fair play for those accused of crime. Had the deputy district attorney who prosecuted Preston presented to the jury the evidence showing the dissimilarity between the fingerprints found on the screen of the Parsons residence and those of Preston, there is no doubt in my mind that Preston would have been acquitted by an intelligent jury without the subsequent additional proof that the fingerprints found on the screen were those of Earl M. Carroll.

In view of the circumstances of this case publication of notice of intention to apply for pardon is hereby waived.

For reasons hereinabove stated by virtue of authority vested in me as Governor of the State of California by the constitution and laws of this State, I hereby pardon James W. Preston on each of the three charges of which he was convicted.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, this second day of September, 1926.

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,

Governor of the State of California.

By the Governor:

FRANK C. JORDAN, Secretary of State.

By FRANK H. CORY, Deputy.

PARDON OF T. H. HEAPE.

Trafford Henry Heape was convicted in Los Angeles County of the crime of grand larceny by trick and device and on October 30, 1924, was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term of from one to ten years in the state prison at San Quentin. After the determination of an appeal, he was received at the State prison on August 15, 1925, and given No. 41161. Prior to his incarceration in the State penitentiary he had been confined five months in the Los Angeles County jail, making his total imprisonment for the crime for which he was convicted up to the present time, with credits allowed for good behavior, more than one year and seven months.

The crime of which Heape was convicted grew out of a real estate transaction with somewhat complicated details, all of which it is unnecessary to state. Heape entered into a business partnership with one T. C. Hughes for the purpose of building and selling houses. They entered into a contract with Bruce Gordon Kingsley whereby Kingsley was to advance $250 and a trust deed, the face value of which was $1,019, which money was to be used in the purchase of a lot and erection of a house to be sold in ninety days and out of the proceeds Kingsley was to receive his money back, plus the remarkable profit of $1,000. Kingsley put up his money and security, but Heape and Hughes failed to purchase the lot or erect the house, and in due time Kingsley, becoming dissatisfied, demanded his money back, but failed to receive it. In the meantime, it appears that the trust deed had been disposed of and the proceeds used for other purposes. The criminal complaint followed, although it appears from evidence not submitted to the jury that Kingsley attempted to use the criminal process as a means of collecting his money, plus his contemplated profit, and made representation to Heape that if he would pay to him approximately $3,000, Kingsley would secure the dismissal of the criminal action. In pursuance of such understanding, Heape executed a promissory note in favor of Kingsley and turned over to him an equity in his home by way of restitution. Subsequent to the trial, Kingsley dispossessed Heape's family and took possession of the house.

The complaint, however, was not dismissed and Heape went to trial. His attorney withdrew from the case immediately before the trial. Heape secured a new attorney and the judge refused to grant a continuance in order that the attorney might post himself on the facts in the complicated case. Hence, Heape was improperly represented and evidence that could have been presented to the jury was not presented. From evidence developed subsequent to trial and which has been submitted in connection for pardon, it appears that Heape entered into the contract with Kingsley in good faith and turned the money and trust deed over to his business associate, Hughes, but that Hughes converted the money and proceeds from the sale of the trust deed to his own use.

In addition to the loss of his home, Heape lost approximately $3,500 advanced to Hughes in connection with their brief relationship. Hughes was subsequently convicted of embezzlement in connection with another transaction and is now incarcerated in the State prison.

The complaining witness, Bruce Gordon Kingsley, was particularly vindictive at the trial and at the time Heape asked the judge for probation. Since the trial Kingsley says he has become convinced of the innocence of Heape, is deeply repentant of the mean part he played as prosecutor, and has filed two affidavits and various statements in which he says in part as follows:

"That affiant since the trial of said cases received new information which caused him to believe that it was rendered impossible for said Heape to carry out his contract with affiant because of the very money upon which the defendant was depending, and which was necessary for the fulfillment of said contract was withheld from Heape by his business associates; that said new information consists of the affidavits of Claude A. Shutt, Edgar L. Martin, and data consisting of documents showing that Heape was depending upon the action of one T. C. Hughes, his business associate, for the necessary financial support with which to complete said contract and that said T. C. Hughes, who has since been convicted of embezzlement, failed and refused to supply the necessary funds which Heape had the right to expect and did expect from said Hughes; that on account of new information obtained since the aforesaid trial affiant believes that the said Heape is not to blame for the crime of which he stands convicted."

The affidavits referred to in the above statement have been filed in connection with the application for pardon and tend to show the facts as hereinabove set forth.

Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles County, has made a statement in the case at my request under section 1420 of the Penal Code, in which he says in part:

"From a careful perusal of the transcript of the testimony in this case, I believe that it fails to show the commission of the crime of grand larceny by Heape. The theory of the prosecution at the trial undoubtedly was that at the time Heape obtained this money and trust deed from Kingsley he had larceny in his heart and did not intend to complete or carry out the contract which he made. From Mr. Heape's testimony at the trial, I am satisfied and at a loss to understand why the jury did not so find that Mr. Heape never at any time intended to steal either the $250 or the trust deed which had been entrusted to him by Kingsley and I believe that if he had been properly defended and all of the facts brought out at the trial which could have been produced in his defense, he would never have been convicted.

"I believe from what I have learned subsequent to his conviction that the failure of Mr. Heape and his partner, Hughes, to carry out their contract with Kingsley was due entirely to the fault of Mr. Hughes (Heape's partner) in not producing as he had promised the proper financial backing to carry this deal through.

"Mr. Heape's attorney did not ask a single question of the most important witness on cross-examination nor did he call Mr. Hughes in Mr. Heape's defense. The testimony of this man is particularly important when it is remembered that Mr. Heape testified positively that although he had received this money, the same had been disbursed on Mr. Hughes' order and for his benefit and that he was unable to complete this deal for Kingsley by reason of the fact that Hughes had spent this money and had failed to produce other capital which he had promised for the carrying out of this contract. From this testimony, I am of the opinion that Mr. Heape did not commit the crime of grand larceny as found by the jury and that his application for pardon should be granted."

The district attorney criticises Heape's attorney by saying that he improperly defended his client. As it is the duty of the district attorney to seek justice rather than conviction why did he not advise the jury to acquit? This is the sixth pardon I have given men convicted in Los Angeles County and later declared innocent by the district attorney.

Judge Carlos S. Hardy, who presided at the trial, was strongly of the opinion that Heape was guilty. When Heape applied for probation Judge Hardy brought out the facts of bad check transactions on Heape's part. Until just recently Judge Hardy has maintained Heape guilty. After reviewing new evidence Judge Hardy says:

"In consideration of these matters, I respectfully recommend pardon for Mr. Heape."

Nine of the twelve members of the jury have signed statements in which they state that they have reviewed new evidence not produced at the time of the trial and that "had said evidence been presented to the jury I would have voted for an acquittal instead of conviction. It is my opinion that there has been a miscarriage of justice and that a pardon should be granted by the Governor." This statement can not be considered of great weight, as the jurymen were probably strongly solicited. Still, the statement is entitled to some consideration.

I have carefully reviewed the evidence presented at the trial and the affidavits containing additional information which was not submitted to the jury. I do not feel that Heape was entirely blameless in the matter or had been entirely upright in his financial transaction. He made extravagant promises of profits amounting practically to a get-rich-quick scheme and did not properly safeguard the money turned over to him by Kingsley. He should have known that he could not have returned the huge profits promised within the time specified in the contract without material loss and he should have been prepared to meet such a loss before entering the contract. However, from all the facts and circumstances, I feel that Heape has been sufficiently punished, and that he will become a good citizen after this severe lesson. In view of the recommendation of the district attorney, the trial judge, and the prosecuting witness and the jurymen, I feel that he should be pardoned.

Now, therefore, by the virtue of authority vested in me by the constitution and statutes of the State of California, I hereby pardon Trafford Henry Heape of the crime of grand larceny by trick and device.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, this 24th day of September, 1926.

PARDON OF C. A. MCCORMICK.

Clifford A. McCormick was convicted in the superior court of Los Angeles County of the crime of first-degree robbery on two counts, and was sentenced on November 29, 1924, to the term prescribed by law. The judgment was affirmed by the appellate court and he was subsequently received at the state prison at San Quentin on July 10, 1926, where he was given No. 42429.

McCormick was charged jointly with one Carey Wilson. A separate trial was requested but denied. It was charged that McCormick, in company with Wilson and Godfrey H. Cowdrey participated in two robberies, one being the holdup of the Sultan Turkish Baths in Los Angeles and the second the holdup of a passenger bus belonging to the Los Angeles Railway. At the time of the trial, McCormick interposed the defense that during the time he had associated with Cowdrey and Wilson (and appeared to be planning the commission of the crimes) he was acting as a private detective under instructions of and securing information for his employer, J. N. Pyles Detective Agency.

The jury was undoubtedly justified in disbelieving his story on the basis of the evidence adduced at the trial. However, since the trial additional evidence has been developed, which has been carefully investigated, showing that McCormick's story was true and that he assisted the law enforcement officers by giving information relative to crimes committed by Wilson and Cowdrey.

During his association with these criminals as a detective, McCormick learned that Cowdrey had murdered one Joseph Langley during a holdup in Los Angeles. This information was conveyed to the authorities and Cowdrey was subsequently identified by a witness to the killing and convicted of murder in the first degree. McCormick testified against Cowdrey at the murder trial and was instrumental in securing the conviction. Cowdrey, after his conviction, was bitter against McCormick and was used by the district attorney as one of the principal witnesses against McCormick. Being under life sentence, Cowdrey had little to fear on account of perjury.

Some of the newly discovered evidence which has convinced me of McCormick's innocence is the following:

McCormick's employer, J. N. Pyles, called at the office of the sheriff of Los Angeles County and advised that he had an "under cover" man associating with some known criminals and that it would be necessary for him to appear to be associating with them in the commission of crime in order to secure evidence against them. McCormick reported the plans to commit the crimes to his employer but it appears that Pyles, being anxious to secure rewards and full credit for the detection and conviction of those responsible for the commission of the crimes, particularly in connection with the murder of Langley, was not frank in disclosing all the information in his possession to the officials. However, through information given by McCormick a holdup of the Leighton Cafeteria in Los Angeles was frustrated and Cowdrey and Wilson taken into custody. Subsequently, McCormick gave the sheriff's office full information relative to the crimes in which he appeared to be participating. The cooperation of McCormick with the officials and the fact that Pyles had previously furnished information to the sheriff's office was not properly presented in evidence, possibly, because of the fact that McCormick was represented by the attorneys of J. N. Pyles who were primarily instrumental in protecting Pyles from criticism and against the loss of his detective license.

At the trial of McCormick the two deputies district attorney who prosecuted the codefendants both represented and stated in their arguments to the jury their belief that McCormick had committed perjury in testifying against Cowdrey; that his story in the Cowdrey case was unworthy of belief and that they intended to apply to the Governor for a pardon on behalf of Cowdrey, believing him innocent. I am unable to ascribe a motive on the part of the district attorney's office in prosecuting McCormick and making such representations to the jury. The district attorney's office of Los Angeles County and neither of the deputies who prosecuted McCormick or Cowdrey have ever attempted to secure a pardon for Cowdrey. Additional evidence has been presented strengthening the guilt of Cowdrey and supporting the testimony of McCormick at Cowdrey's trial. Such evidence includes affidavits made by inmates of the county jail as to damaging admissions of guilt made by Cowdrey and an affidavit made by Carey Wilson to the effect that he was present at the time of the confession made by Cowdrey to McCormick concerning which the latter testified at McCormick's trial.

I have requested Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles County, to investigate the facts of this case and furnish a statement to me under section 1420 of the Penal Code. I have been unable to secure any expression from District Attorney Keyes relative to this case. His assistant, Charles W. Fricke, has expressed himself as not favorable to the granting of a pardon, asserting that "I feel from the entire record that the defendant McCormick was fairly and justly convicted of the crimes with which he was charged." Mr. Fricke has not expressed his personal opinion as to the guilt or innocence of McCormick. Arthur Keetch, the judge who presided at the trial of McCormick and Wilson, and who has carefully examined the evidence discovered subsequent to the trial, has recommended a pardon. I quote in part from his statement as follows:

"I am heartily in sympathy with the application and believe it is a proper one for executive clemency, particularly in view of the fact that no jurisdiction remains in the courts to grant the relief which, I am convinced, the case demands. I denied the motion for a new trial because the legal ground for the motion was insufficient. I am satisfied, however, that had I known at that time as much as I do now, I should have granted the motion. I am also satisfied, in the light of subsequent knowledge that the motion for a severance of the trial of McCormick from that of Carey Wilson could have been granted.

"I am satisfied in my own mind that if there was not actually a suppression of evidence during the trial of the case, as far as McCormick was concerned, much evidence of a vital character in support of the defense that he was acting as a detective and feigned accomplice was not presented. The fact, as stated in the affidavit of Mr. Harry Wright, the chief deputy in the Sheriff's office, that he had instructed his subordinate, Harvey Bell, to take steps to protect McCormick by calling the attention of the District Attorney to the fact that he was acting as a detective, and which Harvey Bell admits he neglected to do, was of the most vital importance to McCormick, and there are other matters set out in the petition and supported by affidavits, which were of equal importance to him in the trial of the case before a jury,

Furthermore, the fact that McCormick was jointly charged and jointly tried with Carey Wilson, against whom the evidence was unequivocal and convincing, undoubtedly was greatly prejudicial to McCormick if the jury believed he was a real accomplice and not a feigned one.

"In view of all the facts and circumstances which now appear in the case, I am satisfied that if the judgment is enforced it will result in a miscarriage of justice. I, therefore, earnestly join in the request for executive clemency at the hands of the Governor."

R. H. Wright, chief criminal deputy of the sheriff's office of Los Angeles County, has made a careful investigation of all the facts and circumstances relative to the association of McCormick with Cowdrey and Wilson and his alleged participation in the crimes for which he was convicted and has recommended unconditional pardon. He says in part:

"In talking with McCormick relative to this robbery, I am firmly convinced that he was placed in a position of carrying out this robbery because if he 'back fired' from this job, it is most probable and likely that Cowdrey and Wilson would never have been brought to justice for the commission of the crime for which they were convicted and they might have gone on indefinitely committing numerous crimes of violence which perhaps might have resulted in the death of other persons as in my opinion they were criminals of the most desperate kind."

Mr. Wright states that Detective Pyles came to him before the commission of the crimes and stated that he had an "under cover" man working with Cowdrey and Wilson and desired to have him protected and that he, Wright, instructed a deputy sheriff to arrange with the district attorney's office for McCormick's protection and subsequent immunity. Why this was not done has not been satisfactorily explained. Mr. Wright states in conclusion:

"I have given this case a great deal of thought, and have come to the conclusion that it is a case in which executive clemency should be granted. I firmly and sincerely believe that McCormick was a bona fide operative of the Pyles Detective Agency, and was so at all stages of the proceedings, and that at no time did he ever depart from his true character as an operative, and that in his participating in the La Brea bus job he did so believing that it was necessary in order to carry out the purposes of his employment, and I sincerely hope that His Excellency, Governor Richardson, will grant an unconditional pardon to this man. I have no personal interest in this matter other than to do all in my power to see that justice be done, and I sincerely hope that the Governor can see this case the same as I do."

E. Raymond Cato, assistant captain of detectives of the Los Angeles police department, has made a statement in which he says in part:

"It was my opinion at the time that McCormick was arrested, and this was substantiated later by the results of my investigation, that McCormick at the time he committed the robberies for which he was convicted, was working under the instructions and in the belief that Deputy Sheriff Harvey Bell and Pyles would protect him in his acts in order to secure evidence against Godfrey Cowdrey and Carey Wilson, co-defendants with McCormick. In conversations with me after his arrest, McCormick expressed the belief that he had nothing to fear and that his actions had been in accordance with instructions from the officers for whom he was operating."

Statements of several of the members of the jury have been filed in this office in which the jurors state that had the additional evidence been presented at the time of the trial and that had it been clearly made to appear that McCormick was in the employ of a private detective agency and working in connection with such employment at the time of the commission of the crimes for which he was charged, they would have voted for a verdict of acquittal.

After carefully reviewing the facts of this case, I have reached the conclusion that not only was McCormick acting in the course of his employment as a private detective at the time the crimes were committed, but that he was acting in the interest of justice in securing evidence against dangerous criminals and I feel, as does Judge Keetch, that the carrying out of the judgment would amount to a miscarriage of justice. It is regrettable that the district attorney's office of Los Angeles County did not properly investigate this case or if the facts were known that the truth was not fully presented to the jury.

For the reasons above stated and pursuant to authority vested in me by the constitution and laws of the State of California, I, Friend Wm. Richardson, Governor of the State of California, hereby pardon Clifford A. McCormick on account of his conviction of two charges of robbery.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, this 21st day of December, 1926.

[SEAL]

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON,

Governor of California.

By the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY DENIED.

Executive clemency has been denied in a large number of cases. The reasons for denial in a few of the more noted cases are included herewith in order that my policy in such matters may be fully understood.

CLARENCE (ALIAS "TUFFY") REID CASE.

A strong effort was made to secure the pardon, or commutation of sentence, of Clarence Reid of Los Angeles, convicted of murder and sentenced to be executed. More than fifty thousand persons signed petitions asking Reid's release. Certain sensational newspapers waged a strong campaign with the object of intimidating me, so that a miscarriage of justice might be forced. Offers of political support and threats were resorted to. Plain lying about the facts in the case filled the columns of a certain newspaper published in Los Angeles.

In denying the pardon I released for publication the following statement:

"The murder of Charles Weingarten, a Los Angeles merchant, by Clarence (alias "Tuffy") Reid, was one of the most cruel and cold-blooded of the many murders I have reviewed. Reid was doubly prepared for murder and when the deceased grabbed his right hand Reid deliberately reached in his pocket with his left hand for another pistol with which he killed the merchant. Reid then cursed his partner in crime for not shooting. Thus incited, his partner fired. Then the murderers fled. Reid had a fair trial and the higher courts have approved the verdict. The fact that Reid was a user of drugs aggravates rather than palliates his cold-blooded crime. Drug users should pay the penalty for their crimes. While in the county jail Reid entered into a plot for a general jail delivery and would have killed a turnkey but for the timely aid of a guard. Reid is a confirmed criminal with a long career of crime from the reform school to the murder.

"An affidavit presented by Lawrence McMullen, who was Reid's partner, is so inconsistent and conflicting that it deserves no consideration. The sympathy in this case should go out to the unfortunate victim and his family. When Reid pays the penalty for his crime it will be a solemn warning to other criminals that California is not a safe place for murderers, and that no influence, however powerful, of journalists, politicians, attorneys, or the sob sisters can avail to prevent the law being enforced. Threats of personal and political reprisal will not deter me from doing my duty."

FALSE STATEMENT OF REID'S PARTNER.

Lawrence McMullen, a prisoner serving a life term sentence in San Quentin, the partner with Clarence (alias "Tuffy") Reid, in the murder of Charles Weingarten, a Los Angeles merchant, confessed after Reid was hung that the affidavit made by him at the request of Assemblyman Dodge, before the hanging of Reid, was entirely false and was made for the sole purpose of securing for Reid a commutation of sentence. In an affidavit voluntarily made to a member of the prison board McMullen said:

"That on February 13, 1925, I signed a statement, purporting to be a confession, testifying to the alleged fact that I, Lawrence McMullen, and not Clarence Reid, fired the shot which killed one Charles Weingarten in Los Angeles on January 21, 1923. That the statement sworn to by me on said February 13, 1925, and especially as to the part thereof in which I confessed the killing of Weingarten, is wholly and completely false, and was made solely for the purpose of exonerating Clarence Reid in the hope of securing for him a commutation of sentence, and that the shot which killed Weingarten was not fired by me."

This affidavit was sworn to before a notary public in Marin County. McMullen said that it was considered good ethics among prisoners confined at San Quentin to make any affidavit or statement necessary to save their companions from execution. He laughingly ridiculed that part of his affidavit secured by Assemblyman Dodge wherein he said he had dyed his hair from its natural red to black. McMullen said he had never dyed his hair in his life and the false affidavit was made in order to meet the insistence of Reid's friends to help his partner in crime.

CASE OF CHARLOTTE A. WHITNEY.

One of the most noted cases in which I have been asked to grant a pardon was that of Charlotte A. Whitney of Oakland, convicted of violating the criminal syndicalist law. Hundreds of citizens wrote asking me to grant a pardon. Some worthy citizens mistakenly joined in the plea. Anarchists, syndicalists and Bolsheviks from all over the United States took this occasion to spread their false propaganda and to make the untruthful claim that Miss Whitney was to be imprisoned for merely expressing an opinion. That she was convicted for her acts of syndicalism and not for what she said, did not prevent the continued reiteration of the false statement. Some of the yellow metropolitan press, of course, aided in the campaign.

In the following letter to Upton Sinclair I expressed my convictions regarding the case:

October 31, 1925.

Upton Sinclair,
Pasadena, California.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 28th inst. asking a pardon for Miss Charlotte A. Whitney, who was arrested on November 28, 1919, and convicted of criminal syndicalism by a jury in the superior court of Alameda County on February 20, 1920. This verdict was upheld by the State appellate court, the State Supreme Court, and recently by the United States Supreme Court. Her powerful influence and wealth has kept her out of prison for nearly six years. Other violators of this law, who have lacked this influence, have been serving their terms in prison.

Many others have written and telegraphed me regarding this case. The tenor of your letter and the letters of some others is that I should respond to popular clamor and release this woman without any showing of a mistrial or even an application from her for a pardon. Applications for pardons are considered by me in an orderly manner, based on facts presented in written documents. The humblest prisoner is given the same opportunity to be heard as the richest and most powerful offender.

You ask me to set aside the verdict of a jury which heard all the testimony and found her guilty, and to nullify the decisions of the courts. You say she was convicted for merely "holding a political opinion," but the decision of the Supreme Court shows she was convicted of criminal syndicalism as defined by the law.

You say: "I know your views concerning the criminal syndicalism law." This is a loose statement made without investigation of facts. The act defining criminal syndicalism and prescribing penalties for its violation was passed by the Legislature of 1919, by unanimous vote in the Senate and only nine noes in the Assembly, and approved by Governor Wm. D. Stephens. It was considered so important that it was adopted as an emergency measure as "necessary to the immediate preservation of the public peace and safety" and became effective April 30, 1919.

During my term as Governor, two attempts have been made to repeal the law, one at the legislative session of 1923 and one at the 1925 session. Both attempts failed in the Legislature and the bills did not reach the Governor. Officially I have never had occasion to act upon or comment upon this law. Under these circumstances I ask that you correct your statement.

While I had no part in the passage of this law, still I have taken an oath to support the constitution and the laws of the State. It is my duty to stand for the enforcement of all the laws. The law penalizing criminal syndicalism is just as solemn and binding as the laws against murder, robbery, treason, arson and other crimes. Those who object to the criminal syndicalism law should appeal to the Legislature or take the matter direct to the people by initiative. To ask me to nullify the law is to ask me to violate my oath and set myself against the will of the people as expressed through the Legislature.

While I am Governor I propose to stand staunchly for the laws of the State and to support the constitution. Those who have been convicted, after fair trials by juries, sustained by decisions of courts, can not expect to escape punishment of their crimes by appealing to me. It is my duty to stand up for the laws and to protect society, and I will not issue pardons merely because of popular clamor.

Yours sincerely,

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, Governor.

CASES OF TANKO AND HALL.

A reward was offered by me for the arrest and capture of Joe Tanko and Floyd Hall, two life termers who escaped from the State prison. These young men committed a particularly cold-blooded murder in San Mateo County. The city marshal of San Bruno apprehended them for violating a traffic rule and followed them on a motorcycle and tried to stop them. They ran him into the curb and caused him to fall off of his motorcycle, thereby he broke his leg. Then these young criminals stopped their car and went back and shot the officer in cold blood as he lay on the ground. The jury, owing to "sob sister" influence, gave them life imprisonment. These men had criminal records and had been in reform schools in another State. While in State prison they succeeded in escaping and terrorized different communities, killed one citizen and wounded an officer. If society is to be protected against murderers the law must be rigidly enforced. It is particularly important that every criminal who murders a police officer should be severely dealt with as these officers are simply representing the majesty of the State, and when a criminal attacks an officer he is in effect defying the whole people of the State. I sincerely hope that the criminal exploits of these two young murderers will be a warning to kind-hearted but misguided jurors in murder cases.

FERDINAND, SEARS AND GEREAC.

The three men named above convicted in Los Angeles County and sentenced to be executed. After a careful review of their crime I made the following statement:

"More than a year ago three men, named Ferdinand, Sears and Gereac, were arrested in Los Angeles charged with murder. They were subsequently tried and sentenced to be hung in January of this year. These three men engaged in rather promiscuous holdups of automobile parties. On the night of the crime they were in an automobile which they parked and then went a short distance to where two men and two women were in a car standing along the side of the street. The criminals had figured that in cases of this kind, where men were out with women not their wives, they suffered very little danger of apprehension, as the victims would prefer to suffer financial loss rather than gain publicity. After holding up these two couples and taking their valuables, the three criminals rode on the running board of the car, and with drawn pistols compelled the owner of the car to drive on until they came to another car standing alongside of the road, in which was a third couple of a man and a woman not his wife. Ferdinand and Sears got off the running board and held up this third couple, while Gereac stayed on the running board and kept the first two couples under subjection. Ferdinand stood in front of Chapman, the male member of the third couple, and took from him his pocketbook and other valuables and then went behind him, and while behind him, while the poor victim was holding his hands in the air and offering no resistance whatever, he deliberately shot him in the back and killed him. The victim fell forward and then Ferdinand turned him over and continued his search, finding some money in his watch pocket. Then the three criminals jumped on the running board and compelled the driver to conduct them further up the street, where they came alongside of another car parked at the roadside, in which was a fourth couple consisting of a man and a woman not his wife. This fourth couple were compelled to get out of their car and they were also robbed. After that the criminals again mounted on the running board and compelled the driver to drive them back into the vicinity of where their own car was located. When they arrived there, the criminals turned off the lights, took the key out of the car and threw it down, and then ran to their own car and got aboard and went back to their rooms in Los Angeles.

"I have looked into this case very carefully and read the transcript and the statements of the criminals after their sentence, and various letters and documents in connection with the matter. The evidence at the trial was overwhelming as to the guilt of all three of the defendants, and the Supreme Court has sustained the sufficiency of the evidence to warrant the convictions.

"The crime which these three criminals committed is such a serious one that it is necessary that something drastic be done to warn other criminals that crimes of this kind will be punished severely, and that there are in California juries, judges and other officials who will not listen to the pleas of criminals, but will stand firmly by the law and see that it is enforced, so that it may be a lesson to criminals generally. It is a sad thing that these three young men should have engaged in wholesale robbery of this kind. It is particularly sad that they should have mothers and other relatives who have suffered on account of their crimes. It is tragic that they should have intentionally murdered a man by shooting him in the back, but this is not a matter for sentiment. This is a matter where society must be protected, where the law must be upheld, and where an example may be made which will help sustain the very foundations of society.

"After a full investigation of the matter, I am firmly convinced that the verdict of the jury in condemning these men to be executed was warranted by the facts, and that Gereac and Sears are equally guilty with Ferdinand although they did not fire the fatal shot."

ALEXANDER A. KELS CASE.

A statement was issued by me on the case of Kels, the Lodi murderer, on January 2, 1924, in which I said:

"Alex A. Kels committed one of the most cold-blooded and deliberately planned murders in the history of the state. His victim was a workingman unknown to his assassin. Kels, after his flight and arrest, appeared in court, plead guilty, calmly told all the details of his brutal crime (too horrible to be repeated here), was carefully cross-examined by the court, was subsequently examined for his sanity, and then sentenced to death by the superior judge of San Joaquin County. The laws as enacted by the people were carefully carried out.

"Since his commitment to state prison Kels has been repeatedly examined and found sane. The statement made by Mrs. Kels shows she knew nothing of the crime and she gives no extenuating circumstances.

"The Governor may, for good reasons, commute sentences but in this case there is not a single fact on which to base any such action. To subvert the will of the people in this case would be to violate my oath of office and deserve impeachment.

"The wife and young children of the murderer deserve sympathy but it should be remembered that Kels deliberately brought this sorrow and disgrace upon them. It should not be forgotten that the man so foully murdered was a poor wandering, friendless laboring man.

"This case has brought to public notice the foul methods of the yellow press, which will even prey upon the grief of a wife and the sorrow of young children to intimidate officers who refuse to bow to their yoke.

"The law as enacted by the people must take its course and Kels must pay the penalty of his horrible crime. His fate should be a warning to criminals that the laws will be enforced in California and that influences, no matter how powerful, can not prevent their execution."

THE LINDSLEY CASE.

In denying the application for pardon of Alfred Lindsley, a Eureka editor, confined in the county jail of Humboldt County for contempt of court, I emphasized the importance of respect for the law and the viciousness of the policy of certain yellow journals in attempting to intimidate the officials of the courts and said:

"Alfred Lindsley was found guilty of contempt of court and sentenced to pay a fine of $2,000, with the alternative of 1000 days in the county jail of Humboldt County. Not having paid his fine he is now in jail.

"The question of the liberty of the press is not involved in this case. The contempt was based upon the finding of the superior court that Lindsley had published four articles in his newspaper for the deliberate purpose of influencing the judgment of jurors and witnesses, to embarrass the judge and to interfere with the administration of justice. Lindsley did not deny that his purpose in publishing the articles was to interfere with the administration of justice. His application for pardon is based upon a plea that the sentence is excessive.

"Lindsley has had his day in court and his case has been passed upon by the appellate and Supreme courts of this State. His legal and constitutional rights have not been violated. The issue presented to me is one of maintaining respect for the courts and a fair trial for those charged with crime, and has nothing to do with the liberty of the press. A fair trial, in my opinion, means not only one which is fair to the accused but also fair to the people. The rights of the people must be considered as well as the rights of the one accused. The sentence of Lindsley should stand, in my opinion, and he deserves the punishment inflicted.

"He attempted to interfere with the administration of justice and exhibited contempt for the courts. I have read several copies of Lindsley's newspaper and articles written by him. His newspaper is of the gutter type and his articles clearly attempt to intimidate the courts and prejudice the public and thus create a miscarriage of justice. His punishment should be an object lesson to some of the yellow journals in our metropolitan cities.

"After carefully reviewing the case I am convinced that Lindsley's acts are not a credit to the journalistic profession, and that he does not deserve the sympathy of any respectable newspaper publisher or editor."

Respectfully submitted.

FRIEND WM. RICHARDSON, Governor.

Constitution:

Section 4. The returns of every election for Governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government directed to the Speaker of the Assembly, who shall, during the first week of the session, open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the Legislature. The person having the highest number of votes shall be Governor; but in case any two or more have an equal and highest number of votes, the Legislature shall, by joint vote of both houses, choose one of such persons so having an equal and the highest number of votes for Governor.

Section 15. A Lieutenant Governor shall be elected at the same time and place, and in the same manner, as the Governor, and his term of office and his qualifications shall be the same. He shall be President of the Senate, but shall have only a casting vote therein.

Of the Political Code:

Section 1292. When an election has been held to fill the office of Governor or Lieutenant Governor, the clerk of each county, in addition to the abstract made for transmission to the Secretary of State, must as soon as the statement of the vote of his county is made out and entered upon the records of the boards of supervisors make two certified abstracts of so much thereof as relates to the vote given for such officers.

Section 1293. The clerk must seal up each abstract separately, and indorse thereon "Election Returns for Governor and Lieutenant Governor."

Section 1294. He must at once direct one copy to the Speaker of the Assembly next to meet, address it to Sacramento, California, and deposit it, postpaid, in the post office.

Section 1295. The other copy he must direct and address, in the same manner, and at once deliver it to a member-elect of the Legislature, or to a Senator who holds over; and the person to whom it is so delivered must deliver it to the Speaker on or before the second day next after his election.

Section 1296. The returns of election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor must, during the first week of the session, be opened, canvassed, and the result declared by the Speaker of the Assembly, in presence of both houses.

Section 1297. No declaration of the result, commission or certificate must be withheld on account of any defect or informality in the return of any election if it can with reasonable certainty be ascertained from such return what office is intended, and who is elected thereto.

INTRODUCTION OF GOVERNOR-ELECT C. C. YOUNG.

Hon. Arthur H. Breed, President pro tempore of the Senate, addressed the Joint Convention as follows:

It is my great honor to introduce to you the incoming Chief Executive of the State of California. The great powers and responsibilities of Governor rest, I am sure, upon a man worthy of his task. Our State is indeed fortunate to have at the head of its government a man of such training and experience and of such integrity of character and sincere purpose to serve the public welfare as the Honorable C. C. Young.

The people of California have a deep and abiding faith in our new Governor. Seldom have we inaugurated a new Chief Executive under such happy auspices of good will and helpful cooperation. This is a truly inspiring occasion because of the manifestations on every hand of a new zeal to advance the public good.

Under the leadership of Governor Young we are assured that the government of our State will be conducted with resolute endeavor to secure the greatest efficiency. The ideals that will dominate will be those of the highest standards of honesty and sincerity. We shall have forthrightness, intelligence and experienced ability dealing with all problems that arise.

I congratulate the citizenship of California on the induction into office of a new administration that gives such promise of being one of the most competent and constructive administrations in the history of this State.

I introduce to you Governor C. C. Young, who inspires us all to renewed effort to serve the welfare of our beloved California.

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR C. C. YOUNG.

Governor C. C. Young proceeded to address the Joint Convention as follows:

Four years have passed, and again, in accordance with statute, and with time-honored custom, the two houses of the Legislature are met to induct into office a new administration for the State of California. In accordance with that custom, also, it devolves upon me, as one invested with large responsibility for this administration, to speak somewhat of its plans and purposes, somewhat of its ideas and ideals of government, which will actuate us during the next four years.

In the first place, I should be remiss if I did not express to the people of California, through you, their representatives, my appreciation for the generous confidence shown me at last November's election. I accept the result of that election, not at all as a personal tribute, but rather as the endorsement of a philosophy of government which I trust has been consistently mine throughout my eighteen years of endeavor to serve the State. Those of us who hold to that philosophy represent very definite governmental principles, which have prevailed in California for the major portion of that time; principles which sixteen years ago aroused, and which today inspire, the great majority of our people; principles which this administration will try to translate into action.

OUR IDEALS OF GOVERNMENT.

I feel that you legislators before me are, like myself, responsive to those ideals and principles which have done so much to place California, both governmentally and materially, at the very forefront among progressive states. The responsibility is ours to maintain this government on the high plane of success and achievement of those splendid years which followed California's political revolution of 1911. "Revolution" is exactly the word, for it meant an overturning of conditions where entrenched special interests governed the State to a condition where the State governed those same special interests. There must be no receding from those principles of free government which were then rooted in our political growth. With your permission I shall outline some of these governmental principles, which, I trust, will guide both you and me in our endeavors.

In the first place, I imagine we are not afraid to be progressive. By this I mean we are not afraid to try new things which appeal to us as sane and reasonable. No one of us, I hope, is a revolutionist or radical, who desires change merely for the sake of change. But I believe we all recognize that government, like everything else in a growing world, must progress, and that we are willing to promote such progress as may best serve the public interest.

Secondly, I believe it will be conceded that we have not entered public service merely for the sake of advancing our own selfish interests. I like to think that you and I are interested in government from the standpoint of the greatest good to the greatest number; that we recognize the purpose of government to be the increasing contentment and protection and prosperity of all our people. For this reason we accept humanitarian ideals in government, wherein the human being assumes an importance at least equal to that of the dollar mark.

Finally, and very fundamentally, I know that we shall all insist on a "square deal," fair and impartial government, devoid of special privilege or favor. Ours is, and should be, a government of equal opportunity under the law to every citizen and every legitimate interest. We insist, however, that special interests seeking undue privileges keep their hands off our legislative or other governmental machinery. Particularly must we be sure that all our governmental regulatory agencies shall be above suspicion in their wholehearted fealty to the interests of the whole people.

I want to point out that there is nothing in this conception of progressive government to give the least concern to any legitimate business, or industry, or corporate enterprise. We want these to grow and prosper, for we recognize that their prosperity is linked with the prosperity of all our State. I desire this to be a business administration in the truest sense of that term; which means not only that it shall be conducted along business principles, but also that it shall be an administration for the fair treatment and support and encouragement of every legitimate business.

STATE EXPENDITURES AND THE BUDGET.

In conformity with the requirements of the State constitution, I have already done much work upon the budget which is soon to be submitted to the Legislature. I have carefully reviewed the budget figures and requests as made to, and partially passed upon by, the present Board of Control. After conferences with the heads of the departments and institutions concerned, I have succeeded in reducing these figures by somewhat more than $10,000,000. Despite these reductions, the curve of the State's expenditures is still going upward; a condition which will continue as long as the State continues to grow.

The budget which will be presented this year will contain for the first time all the expenditures of the State—expenditures of every kind, irrespective of the agency through which they are made or the sources from which their revenues are secured. I feel that this frank and complete statement of all expenditures not only keeps faith with our people by removing all possible grounds of future budget controversy, but also is the only way to live up to the spirit of the constitutional budget amendment.

THE SURPLUS AND OUR TAX SYSTEM.

Ever since the adoption of our present tax system, State expenditures have tended to outrun our revenues. We have thus far been able to keep the revenues up to the requirements of a growing State through periodically raising the tax rate to be paid by public utility corporations. Each such raise has produced a temporary surplus, which has later been absorbed by the increase of expenditures beyond current revenues. Thanks largely to the receipt of impounded money from the King tax bill suit, we shall enter the next biennium with a considerable surplus in the treasury. But the State Controller, in a recent public statement, has pointed out that we have already reached the period when unescapable fixed charges and normal increases in expenditure will of necessity cut that surplus almost in half; in other words, a period when our expenditures are unavoidably greater than our current revenues.

At previous similar periods we have met the situation by an increase in the rate of public utility taxes. This same procedure could be followed again. I doubt, however, if sufficient facts have been accumulated during the past four years to furnish the Legislature an adequate basis for determining accurately the extent to which such an increase would be equitable, either to the various classes of public utilities or to the citizen taxpayer. Moreover, I believe that with your cooperation we can conserve our present surplus to meet the excess of expenditures over revenues for the next two bienniums, and at the same time find the opportunity to do a thing which I believe should have been done long ago—namely, to make a careful and expert study of our State tax system.

I would sum up what I have said by the following three recommendations:

First—That the present Legislature provide for a commission to investigate whether our existing tax system, with periodic justifiable increases in public utility tax rates, will continue to provide necessary revenues for the State's normally increasing expenditures; and, if not, what modifications should be made in our present system to put it upon a safe, permanent, and equitable basis.

Second—That, pending this investigation, at least during the present legislative session, no change of any kind be made in our existing provisions for raising general revenues.

Third—That, during the period which must elapse before any change in our tax system can take effect, our surplus shall be conserved as a reservoir to provide for unforeseen contingencies of any kind, and to meet the necessities of the inevitable excess of future irreducible expenditures over corresponding future revenues. Ordinarily, with a settled and adequate tax system, a large surplus is probably unnecessary and unwise. Under present circumstances, however, it must be protected at all hazards by an insistence that the strictest economy in every direction shall prevail. My work upon the budget has convinced me that the positively fixed and unavoidable increases in governmental expense will leave no room for a dollar of expenditure which can not justify itself as absolutely necessary.

REORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES.

The government of California, like that of most other states, has gradually taken on a large number of functions, social, regulatory, and developmental—functions which some governmental agency must perform, and which for many reasons naturally devolve upon the State. This has given rise to numerous boards and commissions, now operating independently of each other, but of such nature that they readily fall into groups, each group containing agencies with interrelated and sometimes overlapping functions. California, eight years ago, made a preliminary study of this problem to determine whether it would not be in the interest of economy, and more especially in the interest of efficiency, to organize these groups into departments of the State government.

At that time, only a beginning of this work was accomplished. I accordingly invite the attention of the Legislature to this problem, and suggest that the work of departmentalizing the State's activities be at this time continued. Probably this work can not at present be fully completed, for the reason that certain of the State's offices and commissions are written into the State constitution, and can be reorganized only by constitutional amendment. One innovation, however, can be accomplished now, and I believe might be very wise—namely, an arrangement by which the heads, or directors, of such departments as may now be formed shall be constituted into a Governor's cabinet or council, to the end that at regular meetings there may be discussed in orderly fashion the various problems which confront the State. Some system like this would, I believe, be far more businesslike and effective than such haphazard and infrequent consultations as must otherwise normally take place between a Governor and our numerous unrelated boards and commissions.

COMPLETION OF OUR HIGHWAY SYSTEM.

I pass now to certain problems of the State's material welfare, which must be solved, and speedily solved, if the growth and development of California is to continue unretarded. I believe that the problem of most general interest at the present time is the completion of our State highway system.

I shall waste no words in emphasizing the importance of this problem, or the economic value of providing, at the earliest possible moment, a complete system of State highways. I believe that the speedy completion of our highway system is an end desired by every citizen. The only question is the best method of securing the necessary revenues.

In the first place, it is clearly impossible to secure our necessary highway revenues from the State's general fund. To do this would inevitably lead to the necessity of imposing a State ad valorem tax upon our citizens, already suffering under too great a burden of local taxes. Secondly, I do not believe that at present we should attempt to divert to the construction of new roads the money now being used to save our existing roads through the reconstruction process of widening and thickening. Finally, I am convinced that we should not depend upon the issuance of bonds for this purpose, partly because of the extra expense involved, and partly because we can not afford to delay our highway work by waiting two years for a bond election.

Accordingly, if we are to satisfy the almost universal demand that we at once resume work upon our State highway system, we are thrown back upon the necessity of adopting some plan which will produce the necessary revenues. It is true that such a plan was defeated at the recent election, but when we consider the narrow margin of the defeat, and analyze the reasons for it, I am sure that it is not to be taken as a verdict of the people against the general proposition, nor as precluding the Legislature from now undertaking to find some solution of it which will be assured of general approval and acceptance.

I believe, that with proper regard for the interests involved, the Legislature should determine upon a policy through which this vitally important problem may be solved. Toward this policy I offer the following suggestions: First, let the northern and southern sections of the State determine upon a list of roads, such, for instance, as all interstate roads and other roads included in the first bond issue, to be set aside as a charge against the State as a whole. Second, let the revenues for remaining roads, both for construction and reconstruction, be allocated fairly and equally between the two sections of the State. Finally, fix upon a gasoline tax, or some equivalent method for the financing of new roads; and thus, by giving this proposition a fair trial, permit the coming administration to show what can be done in highway construction, to the satisfaction and for the benefit of the entire State. It is unnecessary to point out that the problem must not be complicated by any attempt to add to the present State highway mileage at this time.

WATER RESOURCES AND FOREST CONSERVATION.

I pass now to what I regard as the problem most important to the future growth and development of California—the problem of water storage and distribution. Owing to its extremely rapid increase in population, the southern portion of the State has been compelled to face this problem earlier than has been necessary for the north. The prospects are very bright that the Congress at its present session will furnish the needed relief for the south by passing the bill for the dam at Boulder Canyon. California will certainly do all she can toward this end by making clear her attitude through representatives of this administration in Washington, as well as by legislative action which will fully safeguard the interests of the states comprising the basin of the upper Colorado River. I feel assured that this Legislature will also meet the acute need of the south for an adequate domestic water supply by authorizing the formation of a metropolitan water district such as may permanently solve her difficulties along this line.

In the other portions of the State, however, the solution of the problem in its major aspects is still before us. Our population is growing and is undoubtedly destined to become very large if we can supply the need of an adequate food supply. Our local irrigation projects, excellent as they are, can obviously not meet this need. Our agriculturists who depend upon underground water are becoming more and more disturbed as they see the water table sinking lower and lower. The solution of this problem can no longer be left to haphazard and unrelated development. There is no doubt that it is high time to seek some comprehensive plan which will meet the needs of both our great central valleys. The water which falls so bountifully during our winters, and which now wastes itself in bay and ocean, if properly stored and controlled and placed upon the land, would be sufficient to water every irrigable foot of this vast area, beside practically eliminating all future danger from winter floods.

This enterprise, however, is so vast that it can be financed by no one agency alone. The farmer whose lands are benefited can not meet the expense, as he largely does in the case of minor irrigation projects. The county whose cities are dependent upon local agricultural prosperity must also do its share. The State must take the leadership in coordinating and planning the whole. The federal government possibly must be asked to advance the money for the initial construction, just as is proposed in the Boulder Canyon project. It is highly desirable that an advisory commission be provided, consisting of State officials and engineers, and the representatives in California of the federal departments interested, to consider the coordination of present activities and of proposed plans for the future. Past Legislatures have provided money for a comprehensive study of this problem, and the report should soon be in your hands. I trust that it may point the way to a beginning of this great undertaking.

I shall here mention forest conservation only from the standpoint of its importance to our water resources, for there is no doubt that by the burning of the forests and brush lands of our watersheds an even greater loss is sustained through the diminution of our water supply than through the actual damage to our timber products. I feel that every possible effort should be made to minimize the annual destruction of this coverage for our watersheds, as well as to encourage the reforestation of our cut-over timber lands. I shall recommend in my forthcoming budget a forestry increase of at least 50 per cent, to aid in the building of fire trails and in other protection against fire, for I believe that the expenditure of money for this purpose constitutes the truest kind of economy.

This water problem is naturally of special importance to our agricultural interests. Agriculture is California's basic industry. We have long ago learned that whatever contributes to the prosperity of the agriculturist proportionally contributes to the prosperity of the State as a whole. Accordingly, the problems of agriculture can not be dismissed as of importance only to the farmer. They are problems which the entire State has a vital interest in solving, and are matters which at all times should engage the attention of the Legislature.

THE CRIME PROBLEM AND OUR PRISONS.

The spread of organized crime throughout the United States has become a very real problem. This has become the day of the professional criminal, who has in cold blood organized the business of preying upon society. The effective way to reduce the numbers of these professional criminals is to make it clear to them that their chances of escaping the penalty of the law are too remote; that the risks are so great the crime business doesn't pay. If the criminal or potential criminal is to be deterred from his crime, he must be convinced that his punishment will be certain and that it will be prompt. A wise coordination of the agencies of crime detection and prevention, coupled with carefully considered reforms in our obsolete criminal procedure, should effect a prompt reduction in the amount of crime in California.

I believe that in our penal institutions every effort should be made to study the individual prisoner, and to restore him, whenever possible, to useful citizenship. I do not believe, however, that the criminal should be sentimentally pampered as the innocent victim of untoward circumstances. I believe that the prison should provide plenty of work, wholesome food, medical attention, and an opportunity for self-development through education, but there should be no reason for criminals to regard it as a desirable place of residence.

Furthermore, I believe in a careful segregation of prisoners, so that the first offender may escape contamination by the hardened criminal. I believe in a wise and conservative use of the parole system, to be applied to such prisoners as the Parole Board feels morally certain of redeeming thereby. However, I also believe that parole is rarely justified in the case of a repeater, or habitual criminal. I emphatically believe in the prison road camp, and hope to see its work extended as rapidly as possible, in order that discharged prisoners may leave with strong bodies, and such small sums of money as they have honestly earned, thus giving them a fairer chance to break away from crime and criminal associations.

Finally, I believe that we should lose no time in relieving the intolerably crowded conditions in our own State prisons, where two, and sometimes three, prisoners are confined in the same cell. I also believe that San Quentin is no place for our women prisoners, and I would favor the appointment of a commission, consisting partly of women, to plan for the establishment of a separate penal institution for women offenders.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY LAW.

Eighteen years ago California passed her first direct primary law. From session to session since that time the law has been improved, until it is now conceded to be possibly the best in the Union. Despite the concerted attack now being made upon the primary in certain other states, I confidently predict that the direct primary in California has come to stay. Our people have learned that only by this means are they able to secure candidates of their own choice. Any modification of the law must not be an attempt to weaken it, or break it down, but rather an effort to improve and strengthen it, possibly by some plan such as the proposed "sponsor system."

What has been said about the direct primary may also be said about direct legislation. Our recent election has again demonstrated the ability of our voters to do their own discriminating thinking on initiative measures. An initiative or referendum usually presents an issue rather clear cut and easy to understand, and is greeted by the electors by a much more decisive and intelligent vote than is ordinarily accorded to a constitutional amendment submitted by the Legislature. In short, direct legislation in California seems to play no small part in sustaining the interest of the people in the problems of their government.

HUMANITARIAN AND EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

Those of us who have had experience in legislative work recognize the fact that nearly all proposed legislation falls very naturally into two classes, more or less mutually interdependent, and yet essentially distinct. The first has to do with material things, with business and its regulation, with the conservation of natural resources, with the production and distribution of wealth. The second concerns itself primarily with the human being, with the education and proper development of the normal human being, and with the care, custody, protection, maintenance, or restraint of the human being under abnormal conditions. This humanitarian branch of legislation is what has particularly distinguished California during the past sixteen years. Throughout most of that period we have been carrying out a program of humane and social legislation in which we have a right to feel genuine pride. We need only point to the eight-hour law for women; to the regulation of child labor; to the assurance of fair and honest treatment for the man who toils; to improved conditions in our institutions for the sick and afflicted; to our provisions for orphans' aid—the most generous of any State in the Union; to the workmen's compensation act, whereby the burden of industrial accident is removed from the shoulders of him who is least able to bear it, and made the responsibility of society as a whole; to many other similar measures, designed to make brighter the lot of the underprivileged human being. These measures have gradually won their way into public confidence until they are now regarded with approval by all our citizens.

Not only in its humanitarian and social endeavors, but also in its educational progress, California has maintained a place of leadership. Our schools are ranked by those competent to judge as the best in the Union. Our teachers, particularly those in rural communities, are better paid than teachers in other states. Our teacher-training institutions are rated extremely high and are growing better every year. Our university is excelled by none, and a statewide system of junior colleges is springing up by which the first two years of university work are made accessible to almost every community. More than a third of our entire State expenditures is devoted to education.

There are, however, certain parts of our educational machinery that need adjustment. There have arisen conflicts, growing out of a certain duplication of authority between the State Board of Education, on the one hand, and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, on the other. It would seem wise to so modify our laws affecting the administration of our school system that the functions of the Board of Education shall be more clearly defined, and that the State Superintendent shall have entire responsibility for the educational conduct of the schools, and for the appointment of his professional assistants.

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE.

I am looking forward with especially pleasant anticipations to my association as Governor with you who make up the two houses of the Legislature. For ten years I served as Assemblyman in this chamber, six of them as presiding officer behind this desk. For eight years I have been privileged to preside over the Senate in the opposite wing of the Capitol. As a result of this experience, I believe I am rather uniquely able to understand and appreciate your problems. I want you to know of my sincere desire to aid you and cooperate with you in every possible way.

As one who from long experience is familiar with legislative procedure, may I be privileged to make a few definite suggestions? I trust that this session may be distinguished by a very small quantity of legislation, partly because we must admit that much proposed legislation is always really unnecessary, and partly because the smaller the number of bills, the greater the time for considering each, and the better the final result. Especially do I suggest to you a greater sense of legislative responsibility than has characterized some of your predecessors in past years. You and I are all too familiar with the process of passing hasty and ill-considered legislation down to the Governor's office, with the comfortable feeling that it will be rejected if considered unwise. Thus the Governor by his vetoes, instead of merely being used to correct inadvertent errors, or to negative major policies with which he can not agree, is forced to become a very important part of the Legislature—a function which was never contemplated by the constitution.

I also trust that something may be done this year to make impossible the introduction of so-called "skeleton bills." The constitutional provision creating a legislative recess contemplated that each bill, at least as far as the intent and best judgment of the author is concerned, should be in its final form from the moment it is first submitted. Otherwise a public study of bills during the month of recess would mean nothing. Moreover, the constitution also provides that after this legislative recess only two bills may be introduced by any member. If, however, there are skeleton bills, or bills otherwise essentially modified by author's amendments, and which assume their really intended form after this recess, this provision of the constitution is virtually nullified. It is accordingly obvious that the legislation which will be most sure of approval, both by the public and by the Governor's office, will be that which is carefully drafted before its introduction, and is passed through the Legislature before that grand final rush which renders careful consideration so impossible.

Before I close I wish to pay my tribute to the splendid spirit and conscientious endeavors of our California Legislatures. I have never been happier than in my work with them, as presiding officer of one or the other of the two houses. To you, who were my friends and coworkers in former Legislatures, and to my new friends who are here for the first time, I wish to extend my greeting, and to express the hope that every one of you will realize how welcome you are on all occasions to lay your problems before me. I was a member of the Legislature a long, long time before I ever thought of becoming part of what we legislators always referred to as "the corner office downstairs."

You and I have a splendid task before us. We have gone a long way forward in California—gone forward inspired by the hearty approval of a people whose heart is fundamentally sound, whose ideals are fundamentally high. In fairness to that people, there must be no backward step. We must hold all the ground we have gained in the past. We must press on to new achievements for the future. We must keep pace with the growth of a growing world.

Just one thing more: I am happy to believe that we are entering upon an era of good feeling in California, with the vast majority of our citizens wishing well for the success of this new administration which we are inaugurating here today. Since being elected to the office I am about to assume I have received most courteous treatment from the outgoing administration and its friends, and I trust that I have reciprocated in kind. Life is too short to make it worth while to prolong the echoes of pre-election battles. I enter upon my new duties with a very full sense of the responsibilities which will be mine, and I propose to do my utmost to meet those responsibilities in a manner which shall be worthy of this high office. And in all my efforts toward this end, the generous good-will of you, my friends, will be my constant encouragement and support.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE.

Hon. Buron R. Fitts took and subscribed to the following oath administered by Hon. W. H. Waste, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of California, and discharge the duties of the office of Lieutenant Governor of the State of California to the best of my ability, so help me God.

INTRODUCTION OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR BURON R. FITTS.

Hon. Edgar C. Levey, Speaker of the Assembly, addressed the Joint Convention as follows:

It is a profound privilege to rise, on this auspicious occasion, for the purpose of making the introductory remarks to the address which will be delivered to you by the incoming Lieutenant Governor.

A few years ago, this nation was happily engaged in peaceful pursuits. Suddenly the call to arms was heard and the brain and brawn of the land responded. Among the youth who answered was a young man, strong, stalwart, firm in body and in his very prime. With his fellows, he crossed the ocean and, as lieutenant in the Ninety-First Division of the American Army, he led his troops in combat on the battlefields of France.

When the conflict ended, he returned to the land of his birth, scarred in body but still unmarried in spirit. His loyalty to his Flag continued to call him to public service and led him to an honorable career as assistant district attorney of Los Angeles County. Not satisfied to perform these duties alone, he gave himself to the cause of his fellows who, like him, had worn the uniform for the preservation of democracy. He became commander of the Department of California of the American Legion and, in this capacity, labored hard and well for his buddies and his colleagues.

Finally true recognition was granted him and, by what is said to have been the largest vote ever given a candidate for public office in California, he was chosen, by a poll of over 800,000 of his constituents, to become the second highest executive officer in this commonwealth. He needs no introduction—I simply present to you the Lieutenant Governor of California, the Honorable Buron R. Fitts.

The Lieutenant Governor, Buron R. Fitts, then addressed the Joint Convention.

"Star Spangled Banner."

Benediction by Rev. Bryant Wilson, Chaplain of the Senate.

STATEMENT.

The following statement was offered by Senator Taylor, and on motion of Senator Taylor ordered printed in the Journal:

The new method of printing amended bills for the California Legislature follows almost identically the plan in vogue at the Government Printing Office for the printing of congressional bills.

Deletions from original bills will be shown by the use of canceled or "strike-out" type, while new matter or additions to original bills will be printed in italics. This plan makes evident even to the casual reader just how much of the original bill has been deleted and how much new matter has been inserted.

Under the old plan, in vogue in California for the past fifty years, it was difficult to follow amendments. Heavy brackets were used to show the additions of new matter and heavy parentheses the eliminations. Especially in the cases of long deletions or amendments the reader had difficulty in remembering which sign had been used, and at any rate the plan was confusing to the reader.

At the suggestion of the members of the printing committees of both Senate and Assembly in the session of 1925, a thorough investigation was made of the various plans used in the different states of the Union, and it was unanimously agreed by the experts of the State Printing Office and by the members of the committees of the Legislature that the congressional plan was vastly superior. In accordance with this decision, the printing committees informally authorized the State Printer to arrange for the change at the beginning of the session of 1927. The proposed plan also was approved by a great many of the other members of the Legislature.

All of the equipment needed for this change in the printing of legislative bills is now installed, and upon the adoption of the proper resolution by the two houses of the Legislature the new method will be started at once.

The direct cost for the equipment needed for the change in the printing of legislative bills is approximately $2,000 for the canceled matrices. In addition, four new linotype machines of the mixer-distributor type have been purchased, which will be used on this work, but these machines would have been needed in any event with the growing business of the printing office for use in the composition for legislative journals, histories, indexes, etc. The Mergenthaler Linotype Company, in view of the purchase of the new machines, made no charge for the cutting of the special matrices required, a saving of approximately $1,900.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The following report was offered by the Senate Committee on Printing of the forty-sixth session of the Legislature, and on motion of Senator Taylor ordered printed in the Journal:

All bills amended by either house shall be immediately reprinted; in the case new matter is added by the amendment such new matter shall be printed in italics in the printed bill and in the case of matter being omitted, the matter to be omitted shall be printed in type bearing a horizontal line through the center and commonly known as "strike-out" type. When a bill is amended in either house, the first or previous markings shall be omitted. When a bill amendatory of a code section is engrossed, all figures or symbols shall be removed.

TAYLOR.
EVANS.

Special Duties of Certain Committees—Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

12. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments, and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. The indications of new matter, omissions, or amendments appearing upon the printed bill shall be omitted from the engrossed copy of the bill. All such bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment; the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper endorsements, and the original retained by the Senate. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report at any time.

The President pro tempore shall be the chairman of this committee, and the President shall be an ex officio nonvoting member. When executive communication of nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

Committee on Contingent Expenses.

2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attaches and employees of the Senate. 5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

Custody of Bills and Papers.

18. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

19. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all of its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest, for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

Distribution of Printed Matter.

20. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators, at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

Preparation and Introduction of Bills—Introduction and First Reading.

21. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his seat and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same. The title shall be announced by the Secretary, the bill shall be read the first time and thereupon referred by the President to a standing committee.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

22. Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall have but one reading, which reading shall occur after they have been reported by committee.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee.

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee, whereupon the bill shall immediately be read the first time, ordered to print and placed upon the second-reading file.

Introduction of Bills After the Constitutional Recess.

24. The Committee on Rules shall constitute a standing committee on introduction of bills to serve after the constitutional recess. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills." The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction, nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

Bills in Committees—Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference.

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment, Enrollment and Printing for comparison, which committee shall report without delay whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Reports of Committees.

32. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

Order of Considering Bills—Order of Making File.

33. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

34. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

35. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

36. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the yeas and noes dispense with this provision).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

37. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

38. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll call.

39. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

40. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restrictions as to Amendments.

41. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

42. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure of Debate—Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

43. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question

47. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

48. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

Voting by Senate—Calling Ayes and Noes.

49. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting.

50. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

51. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

52. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

53. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

54. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question.

Messages and Other Papers—Messengers from the Governor.

55. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

56. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

57. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time, by unanimous consent, or by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

58. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

Contents of Senate Journal—Proceedings to be Printed.

59. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

Titles of Bills to be Printed.

60. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

Statement of Petitions to be Printed.

61. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

Other Matter to be Printed.

62. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate, shall be printed in the Journal in full; provided, that in case of a concurrent resolution offering the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments shall not be printed in the Journal.

Legislative Printing—Number of Bills Printed.

63. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

Number of Journals Printed.

64. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

Number of Other Documents Printed.

65. Seven hundred fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

Excess Printing Only on Written Order.

66. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Form of Printing Amendments.

67. All bills amended shall immediately be reprinted; the new matter added by any amendments to be enclosed in heavy brackets, and the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses.

It shall be the duty of the gatekeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

No Lobbying in Senate Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

72. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read, and referred to the Committee on Rules:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, January 6, 1927.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

The State of California is vitally concerned with the development of the lower Colorado River. A comprehensive plan for its development has been worked out by Federal agencies. This contemplates what is known as the Boulder Canyon project and is authorized by the Swing-Johnson bill now pending in the Congress of the United States. This bill is before both houses of Congress in almost identical form and has received favorable committee action.

The State as such should have some official representation at Washington to aid and assist the State's representatives in the Senate and House in forwarding this vitally important legislation. I therefore respectfully ask your authorization to designate three or more citizens of California to represent the State in this respect.

Again it is desirable that a tri-state compact or agreement between the states of Arizona, California and Nevada respecting the use of the waters of the Colorado River be reached. A legislative committee has been working faithfully to this end. As yet it has not been possible to arrive at a completely satisfactory agreement. Negotiations looking to such a tri-state agreement should be carried on without delay. I therefore urge prompt action to provide an appropriate board or committee to represent the State in carrying on these negotiations with representatives of the states of Arizona and Nevada.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

When executive communication of nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

Committee on Contingent Expenses.

15. No claim shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate unless the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

Committee on Revision and Printing.

16. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall have general charge of matters connected with all printing done for the Senate. It shall have the specific duties prescribed for it in the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly.

Other Senate Officers—Secretary of the Senate.

17. 1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every session, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers ordered read by the Senate or the presiding officer.

2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attaches and employees of the Senate. To assign, reassign or transfer all attaches or employees to their respective duties. To certify to and transmit to the Assembly all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly of the action by the Senate on all matters originating in the Assembly, and requiring action on the part of the Senate.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

Custody of Bills and Papers.

18. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

19. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all of its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest, for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

Distribution of Printed Matter.

20. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators, at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

Preparation and Introduction of Bills—Introduction and First Reading.

21. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his seat and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same. The title shall be announced by the Secretary, the bill shall be read the first time and thereupon referred by the President to a standing committee.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

22. Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall have but one reading, which reading shall occur after they have been reported by committee.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee.

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee, whereupon the bill shall immediately be read the first time, ordered to print and placed upon the second-reading file.

Introduction of Bills After the Constitutional Recess.

24. The Committee on Rules shall constitute a standing committee on introduction of bills to serve after the constitutional recess. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills." The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction, nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

Bills in Committees—Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference.

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee: provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report without delay whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Reports of Committees.

32. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

Order of Considering Bills—Order of Making File.

33. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

34. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

35. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

36. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the ayes and noes dispense with this provision).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

37. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

38. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll call.

39. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter of business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had, during a call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

40. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restrictions as to Amendments.

41. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

42. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure of Debate—Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

43. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

Order in Debate.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question.

47. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

48. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

Voting by Senate—Calling Ayes and Noes.

49. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting.

50. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

51. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

52. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

53. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

54. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question.

Messages and Other Papers—Messengers from the Governor.

55. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

56. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

57. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time, by unanimous consent, or by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

58. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

Contents of Senate Journal—Proceedings to be Printed.

59. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

Titles of Bills to be Printed.

60. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

Statement of Petitions to be Printed.

61. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

Other Matter to be Printed.

62. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate, shall be printed in the Journal in full; provided, that in case of a concurrent resolution offering the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments shall not be printed in the Journal.

Legislative Printing—Number of Bills Printed.

63. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

Number of Journals Printed.

64. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

Number of Other Documents Printed.

65. Seven hundred fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

Excess Printing Only on Written Order.

66. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Form of Printing Amendments.

67. All bills amended shall immediately be reprinted; the new matter added by any amendments to be enclosed in heavy brackets, and the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses.

It shall be the duty of the gatekeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

No Lobbying in Senate Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

72. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

By Senator Evans:

WHEREAS, The citrus white fly has three foci of infestation in California—the cities of Sacramento, Marysville and Yuba City; and

WHEREAS, Should the white fly become established in southern California it would become our worst pest, as it now is in Florida, and would be comparable with our present black scale, which costs southern California $5,000,000 a year in control and Los Angeles County alone $1,250,000 annually, to which should be added the cost of fruit washing, fruit and tree loss, which brings the annual loss to southern California to above $15,000,000; and

WHEREAS, The State Department of Agriculture needs $160,000 to carry on control and eradication work in connection with the white fly in the next two years, and having available only $80,000 at the present time ($40,000 of which was donated by the California Fruit Growers Exchange), which will take care of the first year, and being in need of $80,000 to carry on through the second year, without interruption; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Governor-elect Young and the southern California legislators be apprised of the necessity of their support of this action.

ADDRESS.

On motion of Senator Taylor, the address delivered by Senator H. C. Jones, before the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, on State finances was ordered published in the Senate Journal.

THE LEGISLATURE AND STATE FINANCES.

From Governor Young's remarks, as well as the remarks of General Webb, you have gathered that, at times, there has been confusion about the interpretation of the budget amendment and the budget law.

The financial aspect of our State government, as you can readily appreciate, is becoming increasingly important. The pamphlet that was issued to the voters containing the measures to be voted on at the last election had twenty-eight proposals. Considerably more than a majority of them dealt with questions of bond issues, finances, revenue and taxation. Sixteen, in fact, out of the twenty-eight were finance measures.

Finance and taxation is a matter of vital interest to every citizen, not only to the property owner, but to every citizen who pays taxes, directly or indirectly. And so it becomes important to give consideration to the question of taxes.

COSTS OF STATE GOVERNMENT RISING.

I have here the chart prepared a year ago by State Controller Riley, giving the expense for running the State Government from 1910 to 1924. In 1910 the total expense for running the government of the State was slightly over $14,000,000. In 1924 it was about $57,000,000. Last year, according to the report of the Controller, it amounted to about $73,000,000.

Now, first of all, I think it is well to get a perspective of the whole field of taxation, because the State tax burden, increasing as it is, and presenting a problem that we are to discuss tonight, is, after all, a minor portion of the tax burden that we have in California. We pay, in California, over $2,000,000 in taxes every day. According to the figures of Controller Riley, annually there is paid in taxes, by the people of California, over $750,000,000. But less than one-tenth of that is the State tax burden. Of the $750,000,000, $150,000,000 is city and district and county taxes, $225,000,000 is federal taxes, leaving about $73,000,000 State taxes. So that, in getting this picture before us, we must appreciate first of all that State taxes are less than one-tenth of the total burden of taxes that we have to pay in this State. Nevertheless, the State taxes present the same problem as federal and local taxes do. They are increasing, as the Controller's paper pointed out tonight, at the rate of from 300 per cent to 500 per cent in a period of ten years, while the population increases by no such rate.

WHY ARE STATE TAXES INCREASING?

Then the question is, why are State taxes so increasing? It is a practical problem that we are interested in. The political history of California shows that four times there has been a political revolution, a political upheaval where the major if not the controlling issue was a question of economy, and yet, notwithstanding those political changes, the amount of State expense increases steadily and gradually. The expiring State administration, elected on the platform of reducing State expenditures and economy, expended more, in four years, than the two previous administrations in eight years, in spite of the fact that it was elected upon a platform of economy and endeavored to make every effort to reduce State expenditures.

That brings us to an analysis of why it is that State expenditures are increasing at a rate much faster than the increase of population. Let us analyze, then, a few of the chief items of State taxes.

We will take, for example, the construction of highways. In the first year of the administration of Governor Johnson, 1911, there was spent for state highways, $58,000. In the first year of the administration of Governor Richardson, twelve years afterwards, there was spent for the construction of State highways, instead of $58,000, $21,500,000. In other words, the one item alone of highways, in the first year of Governor Richardson's administration, was 50 per cent more than the total expenses for the entire conduct of the government of the State during the first year of Governor Johnson's administration. The total expense, under Governor Johnson, in the first year of his administration, was a little less than $15,000,000. And yet, in the first year of Governor Richardson's administration, there was spent, for the construction of highways alone, $21,500,000.

AUTOMOBILES INCREASING COST OF STATE GOVERNMENT.

You can appreciate from that, I think, that there must be some fundamental reason. And that reason is found in the advent of the automobile, which comes from the increase in the standard of living of the American people. As machinery releases human energy for other activities, the standard of living increases. And so in California we have today over one million automobiles, an average of one for every family in the State. That increase in the standard of living in the private homes demands a corresponding increase in the standard exacted of the State of California. Those automobile owners require highways as smooth as velvet. Every pound of rock and gravel and cement must be hauled and mixed and poured and smoothed out to make this system of highways. Now, that is expensive. And that accounts for the increased cost of highway construction.

EDUCATION IS COSTING MORE.

We pass to the matter of schools. In the first year of Governor Johnson's administration the total expenditure for schools was $7,000,000. In the first year of Governor Richardson's administration it was something more than three times that; it was $25,000,000.

That comes from a number of causes. It comes from the enactment of attendance law, whereby we require, in this State, compulsory education for every boy and girl up to the age of sixteen years, and part-time instruction beyond that, up to the age of eighteen years. We provide night school and part-time instruction. To relieve the congestion at the University of California and our other universities, we provide a system of junior colleges. We provide free text books. We have extended our system of education so that there is an additional burden placed upon the State taxpayers.

THE HIGH COST OF HEALTH.

Let us next take the subject of public health: In the first year of Governor Johnson's administration the appropriations for public health were $57,000. In the first year of Governor Richardson's administration they were $471,000. In those intervening years the increased population brought about certain demands. I, myself, in my first session as Chairman of the Committee of Public Health, introduced and put through the Legislature, at the request of the State Board of Health, a bill providing for the sanitary engineering department to have supervision over the fresh water streams of the State. In the pioneer days, when there were few settlers, legislation of that kind was unnecessary; but, as our population increases, as cities are built upon the banks of our streams, as factories are erected, waste and sewage are turned into the waterways and streams and then flow down to the mouths of our rivers. Thus our water courses are polluted and typhoid fever is spread over the State. It becomes necessary for the State, in order to protect the public health of its citizens, to enact sanitary legislation.

At that same session, likewise at the request of the State Board of Health, I put through legislation abolishing the common drinking cup and the common towel in railway stations and places of public resort. Those are simply samples of the progress of the social viewpoint, the insistence by the public that the health of society should be protected and preserved.

PURE FOOD LAWS EXPENSIVE.

We enact pure food laws, legislation for inspection of meat and fruit markets, establish pure milk standards and other measures of that kind, which require inspection by State representatives; we enact legislation for the inspection of eating houses made necessary by the increase of auto travel. The enactment of laws for meeting the tuberculosis problem is made imperative by the numbers of people coming out from the eastern states to the splendid climate of California, and that immigration becomes an increasing menace to the health of the citizens of the State. And so the State has stepped in and subsidized cities and counties in the care of tubercular patients, by providing that all county hospitals that have a certain standard of housing, ventilation, diet and nursing shall receive a certain aid or subsidy from the State. Now, all of these new duties account for the increase in expenditures of the State Board of Health.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE PROTECTS STATE INDUSTRIES.

We will take the Department of Agriculture: Before consolidation was effected, the appropriation in Governor Johnson's first term was $65,000. The first year of Governor Richardson's administration it was $891,000. The farming interests of the State are making ever increasing demands upon the Legislature and the State. We require the protection of California live stock from Texas fever and infection from Mexican cattle. We have in this State the great fruit industry. It could be wiped out, in a moment, if the Mediterranean fruit fly came through our port here in San Francisco. So we have quarantine service at the port in San Francisco and at other places along the coast. We protect ourselves by a quarantine against the alfalfa weevil from Nevada, and the potato pest from Idaho and Wyoming. We quarantine against nursery stock, bulbs from foreign countries, from pests of any kind that might affect the horticultural or viticultural industry of California. We provide standardization laws for fruit—a standard pack for melons, grapes and apples, passed at the request of the marketing interests of the State. These come as the result of the insistence of the agriculturists in California.

I could go on to cite similar instances in other departments. We will take, for example, the increased functions of our State hospitals. I can recall visiting a State hospital for the insane in another state. It was a great four-story building, with iron bars at the windows. As a person went by, the unfortunate inmates screamed and screeched at him. Go to the institution in Santa Clara county now, the Agnews State Hospital. We have 1800 inmates there and not one is under physical restraint. We have an expensive institution on the cottage plan. It is a good deal like an old people's home there. They have an auditorium with hardwood floors, where they can have dances among the attendants and the inmates. They have their baseball teams, their band and their theater. It is an institution with a splendid group of buildings. I heard of some eastern visitors who were coming up the coast from the southern part of the State, who came to San Jose, and then, mistaking the direction up the peninsula to San Francisco, came up on the east side of the bay, and when they got opposite the grounds of the hospital, one of the members of the party, commenting on the beauty of the buildings, said: "Well, then, this is Stanford University that we have heard so much about." (Laughter.)

STATE SUCCEEDS IN CURING INSANE.

Now, that institution is expensive to conduct. The increase in appropriations outruns the number of inmates. But let me tell you this, gentlemen, they are turning out from that hospital the highest percentage of permanent cures of any institution in the United States. They do not regard insanity now as something that is inherited. They regard it as simply a disease that can be handled and treated and cured. And they are endeavoring now, in a constructive way, to prevent insanity, to prevent those cases ever coming to the State hospital. That is some of the constructive work that is being done in their laboratories, and by reason of the increased State appropriations.

SPENT $28,000—SAVED $1,169,000.

We will take, as a further instance, the Railroad Commission: At the budget hearings in 1923 we had the Railroad Commission representatives before us, and we found that, whereas, under the first year of Governor Johnson's administration the expenditure for the Railroad Commission was $46,000, under Governor Richardson's first year it was $524,000. We found this situation: That an enormous saving was made to the rate payers of the State when the Railroad Commission had adequate funds.

Let us take one or two illustrations: There were eight street car lines and other transportation companies which were applying for rates computed on the valuation of their properties. They put in valuations of their own, which were reduced by the Railroad Commission. The reduction was some $14,000,000 in the valuations, and that, computed at 8 per cent, made a saving of $1,169,000 a year to the rate payers of the State. To investigate the valuations of these eight companies required an expenditure by the commission of $28,000.

We had another illustration presented at that hearing, involving ten light and power companies on which a reduction in valuations of about $8,000,000 was made. The saving to the rate payers on an 8 per cent basis was $696,000 a year. And the valuation cost only $8,000.

I could go through a long list of those valuations and the savings to the rate payers. That year there was paid, by the rate payers of the State, $420,000,000. A saving of one per cent would mean more than $4,000,000. So that you can see why the Legislature was justified in giving adequate appropriations for the support of that department.

Now let us consider the increased expenditures in the Corporation Commissioner's office: In 1915, when this was established, which was the first year of Governor

Johnson's second term, there was spent, in that department, $11,000. In the first year of Governor Richardson's term, $190,000. Yet I think the majority of business men would not, for a moment, consent to the elimination of the work and the safeguarding of investors which is performed by the Corporation Commissioner.

MOTOR VEHICLE DEPARTMENT COSTS NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS.

Finally, I might mention the Motor Vehicle Department. In Governor Johnson's first year the total expenditure for that department was $11,000. In the first year of Governor Richardson's administration it was $895,000. Now, that is the department that supervises your every act while traveling on the highway. You can not turn a corner in your automobile or hold your hand up or down or out sideways without touching the functions of that department. You must have your lights at a certain height and pitched at a certain distance in front of your machine. You can not park your machine on one side of the road in a certain way without being in violation of the motor vehicle laws of the State. And yet, with all the expense it requires, there is not a citizen who would, for a moment, contemplate the elimination of that department. If it were eliminated, there would be chaos; order would be entirely impossible if it were not for the regulation of our traffic officers.

I mention these instances, which I have taken more or less at random, to illustrate the fact that the laws enacted by the Legislature and the appropriations made are to safeguard, to protect and to advance the welfare of the citizenship of the State. These appropriations come, not as a matter of the whim of the Legislature, but as the result of the pressure of public opinion. The Legislature, after all, is a cross-section of the people of the State. I know of no way whereby you could select one hundred twenty people who as nearly represent the sentiment of the State and who can come as near being experts in guessing what the people of the State want as the members of the Legislature. The Legislature has its weaknesses, but the weaknesses of the Legislature are the weaknesses of democracy itself.

LEGISLATURE DOES WHAT PEOPLE DEMAND.

The Legislature does what the people demand. To bring this out I might illustrate just from cartoons that I have here. Here is a cartoon taken from a great metropolitan daily, ridiculing the tremendous increase of taxes. It represents the great burden upon the back of the business man. And yet, in the same issue of that paper, is an article commending, in the highest terms, the enactment, by Congress, of the soldier bonus legislation. I have here in my hand the recommendations of another metropolitan paper in regard to the measures on the ballot at the last election of November 2d, a paper that, philosophically and apart from specific measures, at a specific election, insists always upon reduction of expenditures and reduction of taxes, and yet in this issue it consistently recommends each of six municipal bond issues and also recommends the State bond issues, the judges' pension and the increase of salaries of State officials on the State ballot.

AS WE VOTE SO WE PAY.

Now, that illustrates the difficulty. Fundamentally or abstractly, we are in favor of reducing State expenditures, but the farmers want their appropriations granted, the educators want their appropriations granted, the militia want their appropriations, those interested in public health want their appropriations, and so each specific group, demands and insists upon the passage of the appropriations for its own activities. They are not particularly concerned about the others, but they want to attain their own object. And so there arises the pressure of public opinion which insists upon the enactment of these appropriation measures and which accounts for the number of appropriations granted. It is the working out of the social viewpoint.

I think those instances show that there is something fundamental which accounts for this ever increasing load of taxation and State expenditure. It is simply the old proposition that you can not have your cake and eat it, too. We can not have our system of State highways, we can not have our system of schools, unless we are prepared to pay the bill; and the voters, apparently, when it is put up to them on bond issues for public improvement, for ratifying the acts of the Legislature and confirming what the Legislature has done in the enactment of these measures, nearly always vote "Yes."

In conclusion, I simply want to reiterate what your president has said with reference to the carrying out of the budget. I might say that two-fold congratulations are in order, congratulations to the Governor-elect for receiving the most handsome vote that any public official was ever accorded in the State of California. On the other hand, the people of the State of California are complimented and honored in the selection of a man who will bring to that office an amount of knowledge and experience unexcelled by any other man in the employ of the entire State, a man of the highest industry, sincerity of purpose, and devotion to duty. He will bring to bear a sincere desire to present to you a true picture of the receipts and disbursements of the State, a budget that does not eliminate certain expenditures, but that gives to the taxpayers of the State a complete statement of all the financial transactions of the State. And so I say, in concluding, the State of California is to be congratulated in having this budget administered by a man who brings to it this industry and this integrity and this good faith in carrying out the budget amendment which was originally sponsored by your club. (Applause.)

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of article IV of the constitution of the State of California, and as such it shall take effect immediately.

The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity :

Pursuant to that certain convention known as the "Migratory Bird Treaty," made and entered into between the United States of America and certain foreign powers, and under the authority of that certain act of Congress known as the "Migratory Bird Treaty Act," the period of the open season for the hunting of wild ducks and certain other water fowl was advanced two weeks, the limits now being October fifteenth and February first instead of October first to January fifteenth as formerly. This change has been made by regulation duly issued by the Secretary of Agriculture and promulgated by the President of the United States.

It is the known and established policy of the State of California that the laws of this State in relation to the protection of such water fowl shall conform precisely to the corresponding regulations of the United States, and until the recent adoption of the regulations hereinabove referred to, said laws did so conform.

In reliance upon said known and established policy, and in the sincere and innocent belief that said federal regulations, by virtue of the treaty and the federal statutes, prevail over State law, many thousands of persons resident in this State, unless this act becomes immediately effective, would engage during the last two weeks of January, 1927, in the hunting of such water fowl, contrary to the mandate of the laws of the State. These illegal practices would occur owing to the confusion produced by the discrepancy between federal regulation and State law.

All such persons would be subject to arrest and fine or incarceration, it being the solemn duty of the peace officers of this State faithfully and rigidly to enforce the mandate of the existing State law irrespective of the fact that the federal regulations permit such hunting. In consequence thereof it is believed that there will be numerous arrests, attended by resistance to officers of the law, and other breaches of the peace, together with an unusual and burdensome congestion in the business of the courts, involving the imposition of sentences of fine and imprisonment, all against the dignity of the courts and of the State, and to the impairment of the public peace and safety.

In order to prevent all this, it is necessary that the law of this State be made to conform to treaty and the federal law and regulations by an act passed by this Legislature to take effect immediately.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

NOES—None.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Senate Bill No. 56 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, J. M., Allen, N. M., Baker, Boggs, Breed, Canepa, Chamberlin, Christian, Cobb, Crowley, Fellom, Garrison, Gray, Handy, Hollister, Ingram, Inman, Johnson, Jones, H. ## MOTION.

Senator Breed moved that amendments to the standing rules of the Senate, as printed in the Journal of January 10, be adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

Wherever the words "Engrossment and Enrollment" appear in said rules as the designation of a Senate committee, amend the same to read "Engrossment, Enrollment and Printing."

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

Wherever the words "Revision and Printing" occur in said rules as the name of a committee, amend the same to read "Engrossment, Enrollment and Printing."

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

In Rule 8, following the words "Governmental Efficiency," strike out the word "nine" and insert in lieu thereof the word "thirteen."

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

Following Rule No. 72, insert the following:

Call of the Senate.

73. Upon a motion being carried for a call of the Senate the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon no one shall be permitted to leave or enter the Senate except by written permission of the President or President pro tempore, or except such members as are taken into custody as herein provided. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided. No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate.

Parliamentary Rules.

74. In all cases not provided for by these rules, or by the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly, the authority shall be Robert's Rules of Order.

Suspension or Change of Rules.

75. No standing rules or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the entire Senate, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Senate, except the portion of Rule 13, relating to the order of enrolling bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

Amend Rule No. 8, so as to provide that the Committee on Governmental Efficiency shall consist of thirteen members, the Committee on Motor Vehicles fifteen members, and the Committee on Roads and Highways fifteen members.

Custody of Bills and Papers.

18. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment, Enrollment and Printing, and take receipts therefor.

The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

Distribution of Printed Matter.

20. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators, at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

Preparation and Introduction of Bills—Introduction and First Reading.

21. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his seat and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same. The title shall be announced by the Secretary, the bill shall be read the first time and thereupon referred by the President to a standing committee.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

22. Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall have but one reading, which reading shall occur after they have been reported by committee.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee.

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee, whereupon the bill shall immediately be read the first time, ordered to print and placed upon the second-reading file.

Introduction of Bills after the Constitutional Recess.

24. The Committee on Rules shall constitute a standing committee on introduction of bills to serve after the constitutional recess. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills." The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction, nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

Bills in Committees—Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference.

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President, to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment, Enrollment and Printing for comparison, which committee shall report without delay whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Reports of Committees.

32. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

Order of Considering Bills—Order of Making File.

33. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

34. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

35. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

36. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the ayes and noes dispense with this provision).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

37. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

38. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll call.

39. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter of business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had, during a call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

40. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restrictions as to Amendments.

41. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

42. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure of Debate—Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

43. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question.

47. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

48. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

Voting by Senate—Calling Ayes and Noes.

49. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting.

50. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

51. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

52. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When a Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

53. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

54. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question.

Messengers and Other Papers—Messengers from the Governor.

55. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

56. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

57. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time, by unanimous consent, or by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

58. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

Contents of Senate Journal—Proceedings to Be Printed.

The following petition was presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Taylor:

Resolution passed by the Board of Directors of the San Dimas Fruit Exchange, January 6, 1927:

WHEREAS, The Florida White Fly has become established in certain parts of central California and is known to be one of the worst pests known in citrus culture; and

WHEREAS, The California Legislature of 1925 appropriated the sum of $100,000 to eradicate such pest and thus prevent it from spreading to the main citrus areas both in northern and southern California, but such appropriation was reduced to $40,000 by Governor Richardson when he signed the bill; and

WHEREAS, In order to provide enough funds to undertake such eradication the Citrus League of California, representing practically the entire citrus industry of the State, has contributed an additional $40,000 for such work; and

WHEREAS, Because of the spread of said pest and the greatly increased number of host-plants (now known to be thirty-two in number) the Director of Agriculture, engaged in the work of such clean up, advises that the money available will not be sufficient to complete such eradication and that additional funds will be required to carry on the prosecution of this work for the next two years; now, therefore, he it

Resolved, That the San Dimas Fruit Exchange, representing 4300 acres of orange and lemon groves, realizing the menace of this pest to the industry, earnestly requests the Legislature in view of the gravity of the situation and the earnestness of the contribution by the citrus growers themselves to this end—to which fund its members are contributing—that an appropriation in the sum represented by the Director of Agriculture as necessary to carry on this work to completion be made for this purpose in order that the present effort to eliminate this dangerous pest shall not be lost, but followed up until the pest has been destroyed; for, on the advice of our best entomologists, if this pest is not now destroyed the annual cost of control measures will become a tremendous and continuous added burden that will run into many millions of dollars each year in such costs and the loss of production.

SAN DIMAS FRUIT EXCHANGE.

H. C. FOSTER, Secretary.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, January 13, 1927.

To the Senate of the State of California.

I herewith return without my approval Senate Bill No. 1. This bill seeks to change the period of the open season for the hunting of wild ducks and other waterfowl in such a manner as to make it conform to the federal regulations on the same subject, not lengthening the season, but advancing by two weeks the date on which the season opens and closes. Unless some such bill is enacted into law, serious confusion would result from this discrepancy between State and federal regulations. Therefore, I am in full accord with the purposes of the bill.

However, certain defects have been discovered in Senate Bill No. 1, and after consultation with its author I have decided to return it without my approval, and to sign instead Senate Bill No. 56, subsequently introduced to accomplish the same result.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 13, 1927.

To the Legislature of the State of California.

We herewith transmit our report, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 346, Statutes of California, 1925, in relation to our study of the methods of criminal procedure, together with certain suggestions for amendments to the present system which will, in our opinion, tend to provide for this State a more efficient system for the swift and certain administration of criminal justice.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION FOR THE REFORM OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, TO THE LEGISLATURE.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of California.

The Commission for the Reform of Criminal Procedure created by your honorable body of 1925 (Statutes of 1925, page 622), presents its report. By the act creating said Commission, your honorable body directed this Commission:

"To make a study of the methods of criminal procedure and to recommend to the Legislature of the State of California, which will convene in the year 1927, such new system of criminal procedure or such amendments to the present system as will in its opinion tend to provide for this State the most efficient system for the swift and certain administration of criminal justice."

Pursuant to your mandate, the Commission has made the study directed and herewith submits a number of recommendations, all designed to secure an efficient system for the swift and certain administration of justice.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT.

The studies of your Commission have shown that the amount of crime in this State, and indeed throughout the United States, is appalling. The first and most fundamental duty of every state is to insure the safety of the lives, homes, and property of its citizens. It is sad, but true, that this primary duty is being performed worse throughout the United States, including the State of California, than in any other civilized country in the world. The prevalence of crime, particularly crimes of violence, in this country is simply staggering. Human life has become so cheap, disregard for it so great, that we have a homicide rate fifty times as high as that of England. Robberies at the point of a gun of citizens on the streets, of banks, stores, oil stations and like institutions, are of daily occurrence. No one's home is safe, for gangs of burglars, always armed and ready to kill, break into every habitation from the mansion to the humblest dwelling; and in our cities and towns, every morning sees the report of a long list of burglaries frequently accompanied by most atrocious acts of violence. Gangs of gunmen ply their profession of killing for profit or pleasure. In broad daylight, and in the streets of our greatest cities, it is necessary to use armored cars protected by men armed to the teeth—veritable engines of war—to transport money or valuables. Even to move the United States mail, it has become necessary to call upon the armed forces of the United States designed to repel foreign enemies and to use armed marines acting under orders "Shoot to kill," in order that this function of our national government may be carried on. Whether we realize it or not, we have a state of war, all the forces of organized crime making war upon the law-abiding citizenry of our country. Crime has become an organized business. It operates throughout the length and breadth of the land. It pays no attention to such artificial boundaries as city lines, county lines or state lines. It makes use of every modern invention, the high-powered automobile, the airplane, the automatic pistol, the machine gun. Crime is antisocial. It undermines the very foundations of the entire social structure. Either society must control and destroy organized crime, or organized crime will control and destroy society.

There are probably a number of causes which contribute to the vast amount of crime. One of the main contributing causes, if not indeed the chief one, undoubtedly is the gross inadequacy and inefficiency of our system of criminal procedure to meet the present day conditions. In dealing with the crime situation, as it exists today, we are dealing with a peculiarly twentieth century problem. Our system of criminal procedure is essentially a seventeenth and eighteenth century system. A procedure that may have been quite adequate to meet the conditions of those centuries is utterly inadequate in the present century. It is slow, cumbersome, archaic, inefficient. It should be swift, certain, modern and highly efficient. The present system, with its many opportunities for delay, with all the loopholes which it offers for the escape of the guilty, can almost be said to be an encouragement to crime. A swift, certain and efficient system, on the other hand, will be a most real and potent deterrent to crime. The entire history of criminal jurisprudence proves the truth of these observations.

The reasons for the defects in our present system of criminal procedure are mainly historical. The system grew up in England. It grew up at a time when criminal prosecutions very frequently were crown persecutions for political offenses. Another strong contributing factor in the development of the system was the fact that punishment for crime, even relatively trivial crimes, was hanging, and the rights given to defendants were very few. As a result of these conditions, there was gradually evolved a series of technical rules deliberately designed to give protection to the defendant, irrespective of whether he was guilty or innocent of the crime charged. Many of the rules were deliberately designed to prevent the proceedings from arriving at the truth. We have inherited, to a large degree, this system of rules. They may have been proper enough for the times and conditions under which they were evolved. They have no application in this day or to the conditions of today. England, where these rules grew up, discarded them and adopted a modern system of procedure seventy-five years ago. The result was a great and immediate reduction of the amount of crime. The old system was designed primarily for the protection of the defendant. It ignored almost entirely the rights of the public. The new system must protect all legitimate rights of a defendant, but at the same time must insure and protect, so far as possible, the great body of law-abiding citizens, the public. In the recommendations submitted herewith, great care has been taken not to infringe any right of a defendant. At the same time it has been constantly borne in mind that the safety of the great body of law-abiding citizens must also be conserved.

The great objective of any judicial proceeding should be to arrive at the truth. In criminal proceedings, particularly, the truth should be reached with swiftness and certainty. In general, it may be stated that those provisions which tend to aid courts and juries in arriving at the truth are good; conversely that those which tend to prevent or make more difficult the arrival at the truth are bad. Likewise far too little attention has been paid heretofore to the great importance of prompt and speedy hearings in criminal matters. This is of great importance from two aspects: First, as making it much more likely that the truth will be reached; second, in its deterrent effect upon the commission of other crime. The more promptly a case can be heard the more likely it is that a true verdict will be reached. Indeed when a matter of this kind is delayed, the chances of a miscarriage of justice increase probably not merely in arithmetical, but almost, if not quite, in geometrical ratio. Witnesses scatter, their memory becomes dimmed, they are subject to influence, and a host of other things arise that render likely a miscarriage of justice. Delay has been one of the greatest weaknesses in our criminal procedure and one of the greatest shields of the guilty.

Likewise, delay in the administration of criminal justice greatly weakens its deterrent effect, which is one of the great objectives of the criminal law. Punishment administered promptly after the commission of the crime, while the memory of that crime is still fresh in the minds of the public, brings forcibly to the attention of all the fact that punishment does follow crime. This tends strongly to deter the commission of other crimes. When punishment does not follow promptly after the crime, a very large percentage of this deterrent effect is lost. Every consideration, therefore, proves the correctness and wisdom of the mandate of your honorable body that the criminal law should be made to function with swiftness and certainty. Your mandate has at all times been foremost in the minds of the Commission. The system which we are recommending has this as its objective: That in administering criminal justice the proceedings shall arrive at the truth and do so with the greatest simplicity, swiftness and certainty.

Much of the foregoing object can be accomplished by direct enactments of your honorable body. Certain parts of it, however, can only be accomplished by amendments to the constitution. The Commission, therefore, recommends the adoption of certain statutory enactments and that your honorable body submit to the people of this State for their consideration and action at the next general election certain constitutional amendments. Bills to carry out these recommendations have been prepared and are submitted concurrently with this report. The statutory enactments recommended will first be presented.

GENERAL OUTLINE.

It seems advisable to submit a general statement of some of the principal statutory enactments recommended.

SWIFTNESS.

There are three primary recommendations on this point:

First: Promptness in filing information and in proceedings prior to trial;

Second: Promptness in bringing the case to trial;

Third: Promptness in the hearing of the appeal.

Preliminarily, the Commission recommends the adoption, as section 681a of the Penal Code, which is the first section dealing with the matter of criminal procedure, a statute substantially as follows:

Sec. 681a. The welfare of the people of the State of California requires that all proceedings in criminal cases shall be heard and determined at the earliest possible time. It shall be the duty of all courts and judicial officers and of all district attorneys to expedite the hearing and determination of all such cases and proceedings to the greatest degree that is consistent with the ends of justice.

The purpose of this statute is self-evident. It declares, as the public policy of this State, a principle as to which we believe there can be no dispute, and imposes a mandate upon all courts, judicial officers, and district attorneys, which should permeate the entire conduct of criminal proceedings with a spirit of promptness and efficiency.

TIME FOR FILING INFORMATIONS.

The Commission next recommends that section 809 of the Penal Code be amended to require district attorneys to file the information within fifteen days (instead of thirty days as is now the law) after a defendant has been committed by a magistrate. This seems to be ample time for the district attorney and is also to the advantage of those defendants who for any reason are unable to secure their release on bail. It is further recommended that this section expressly permit the information to charge either the crime named in the order of commitment or any offense shown by the evidence taken before the magistrate. This will save time and avoid uncertainty and vexatious delays in cases where for any reason the order of the committing magistrate does not correctly designate the crime shown by the evidence.

TIME FOR TRIAL.

To insure cases being brought on for trial promptly, the Commission is recommending the enactment of a new section of the Penal Code to be known as section 1050, providing as follows:

Sec. 1050 (new). The court shall set all criminal cases for trial for a date not later than thirty days after the date of entry of the plea of the defendant. No continuance of the trial shall be granted except upon affirmative proof in open court, upon reasonable notice, that the ends of justice require a continuance. No continuance shall be granted for any longer time than it is affirmatively proved the ends of justice require. Whenever any continuance is granted, the court shall enter in its minutes the facts proved which require the continuance. Criminal cases shall be given precedence over civil matters and proceedings. If any court is unable to hear all criminal cases pending before it within thirty days after the respective defendants have entered their pleas, it must immediately notify the chairman of the Judicial Council.

The purpose of this section is self-evident. Perhaps the greatest delay in the past has been in bringing causes on for trial. As already noted, the sooner they can be brought to trial the greater the likelihood of a true verdict being reached. Practically all cases can be brought to trial with fairness to all parties within thirty days after defendant's plea is entered. To guard against injustice in the exceptional case, the court is given power to grant a continuance where it is affirmatively proved that the ends of justice require it, but only for such time as it is proved that the ends of justice require. The facts proved which require the continuance should be entered in the minutes for the sake of the record. The proposed statute also gives criminal cases precedence over civil matters. It is believed there can be no dissent from this proposition. The welfare of the entire public is involved in the prompt determination of criminal matters to a far greater degree than in civil matters. It is finally recommended that if a court for any reason can not hear all criminal matters pending before it within thirty days it report that fact to the chairman of the Judicial Council, to the end that additional judges may be assigned to assist in clearing the overcrowded calendar. Under our present procedure delays extending through many months are not uncommon.

TIME FOR HEARING APPEALS.

It is recommended that the statute be amended to provide that all appeals in criminal matters shall be heard not later than thirty days after the filing of the record on appeal, unless upon affirmative proof to the satisfaction of the court that the ends of justice require a continuance. This statute, if adopted, will mean that in each district the District Court of Appeal should call a criminal calendar once each month and should insure the prompt hearing of practically all appeals in criminal cases. At the present time, it is not infrequent that six, nine, or even twelve, months may elapse after the record is filed in the appellate court before a case is brought on for hearing. No delays should be granted on stipulation of counsel, but only where it is proved to the court that the ends of justice require it.

CERTAINTY.

A number of recommendations are submitted designed to make the functioning of our criminal laws more certain. Only a few of the major recommendations will be referred to here.

PLEADINGS.

A more simple form of pleadings, both of indictments and informations, is recommended. It is believed that this will result in doing away almost entirely with technical questions of pleading and with cases being determined upon formalities rather than upon the merits, at the same time fairly advising the defendant of the nature of the case against him. It should save much time now consumed by demurrers, motions and proceedings of a similar character which relate only to questions of pleading.

TRIALS.

One of the fundamental defects in our method of trying criminal cases is that to a very considerable extent the trial has been a game between counsel for the people on the one hand and counsel for the defendant on the other, with the judge a mere umpire. We have had far too much of the "sporting element" in our administration of criminal justice. The administration of justice is far too important a matter to be made a game. The "sporting element," indeed all elements of chance, should be removed to the utmost possible extent and the greatest possible certainty of arriving at the truth substituted therefor. To this end statutes are recommended making it not only the right, but the duty, of the trial court to control the conduct of the trial, to limit the examination and cross-examination of witnesses, the introduction of evidence and arguments of counsel to relevant and material matters. For the same reason and also for increasing the swiftness of the operation of the law, a statute is recommended making it primarily the duty of the trial court to see that a fair and impartial jury is selected, with the discretionary power of permitting reasonable examination of prospective jurors by counsel. Nowhere in the world is as much time consumed in selecting a jury, with all the consequent expense and delay and congestion of calendars, as we permit in this country. The proposed statute is designed to cure this evil.

CERTAINTY OF PURPOSE.

Several recommendations designed to increase the certainty of proper punishment are made in connection with parole, indeterminate sentence and probation laws. These will be more fully explained later.

BAIL.

The present statutes relating to bail have been carefully reviewed and several changes recommended. These will be more fully discussed later in the report.

With this preliminary statement, we will proceed to take up in their order as they appear in the Penal Code the sections which it is recommended should be amended, or repealed, and new sections which it is recommended should be added, stating briefly the reasons for the several recommendations.

STATUTORY CHANGES RECOMMENDED.

(To the Penal Code.)

Section 165. This section relates to the crime of bribery. It is proposed to amend it by making it a crime for a member of a common council, board of supervisors, board of trustees, etc., to solicit or offer to receive a bribe. It has been held that under the law as it now stands such a public official who offers to receive, or solicits a bribe is not guilty of any crime.

Section 190. This section relates to murder in the first degree. Under the law as it now stands, it is made the duty of the jury, when a defendant is convicted of murder in the first degree, to fix the penalty either at death or life imprisonment. It has recently been held by the Supreme Court, People vs. Hall, 72 Cal. Dec. 341, that where a jury unanimously agree that defendant is guilty of murder in the first degree, but fail to agree upon the punishment, the judgment of conviction must be reversed and a new trial ordered. To cure this condition, the amendment recommended provides that if the jury finds a defendant guilty of murder in the first degree but can not agree upon the penalty, the court shall determine the same.

Section 484. (new). This is a new section. It consolidates the present crimes known as larceny, embezzlement and obtaining property under false pretenses, into one crime, designated as theft. The basis of all of these crimes as at present known is the unlawful taking or converting to one's own use of the property of another. The crimes are so similar that as the law now stands it is difficult, frequently practically impossible, to tell which crime has been committed in a particular transaction. By combining them all as the crime of theft, this difficulty will be obviated. In addition, the statute is so drawn that hereafter one who obtains real property by false pretenses will be guilty the same as one who obtains personal property by like pretenses. That seems clearly to have been the intention of the Legislature in the statute as it now stands, but it has been held that as the statute is drafted this object is thwarted. (People vs. Foley, 50 C. A. D. 203.)

Sections 485-490, inclusive. These sections dealing with the distinction of grand larceny, petty larceny, etc., are recommended to be amended to conform to section 485. In section 487 the word "automobile" is added so as to make one who steals an automobile guilty of grand theft without the necessity of proving its value.

Section 49a (new). It is recommended that this new section be added, providing that wherever any law or statute of this State mentions larceny, embezzlement, or stealing, it shall hereafter be read and interpreted as if theft were the crime referred to, thus obviating the necessity of amending several sections which relate to the crimes now sought to be consolidated into the new crime of theft.

Section 644. This is the habitual criminal statute. It is recommended that the statute be amended to provide that any person convicted of a felony, who has been twice previously convicted of a felony, either in this State or elsewhere, shall be adjudged an habitual criminal and sentenced to imprisonment for life. The law now is that a person convicted of a felony, who has been twice previously convicted of robbery, burglary, rape with force and violence, arson, or any of them, shall be adjudged an habitual criminal but he is not for that reason alone punished by life imprisonment. The Commission recommends that this distinction, which makes one who has been convicted three times of certain felonies, an habitual criminal, and one who has been convicted the same number of times of other felonies, not an habitual criminal, be abolished, and that all persons who are convicted the third time of any felony be adjudged habitual criminals and sentenced to imprisonment for life. Under the law as it now stands, one might, for example, be convicted three times of murder, or might be convicted of murder, grand larceny and embezzlement or of bribery, extortion and grand larceny and still not be adjudged an habitual criminal. It is submitted that when a person has three times committed and been convicted of crimes of the seriousness of felonies, it is the right and duty of society to put him where the law-abiding citizens of the State shall no longer be subject to his depredations. The habitual criminal is a fact. Law-abiding citizens are entitled to be protected from him.

If your honorable body feel that this provision is too severe, the general purpose may be preserved and at the same time those felonies which it is deemed are not sufficiently serious to come within the rule may be specifically excepted from its operation. If your honorable body should adopt this view such crimes as violation of the Corporate Securities Act, falsification of public records, and certain other minor felonies (if any crime which your honorable body has declared to be a felony may be deemed to be a minor crime) may be excepted.

Section 668. It is recommended that this section be amended to include section 644 within its terms.

Section 669. This section relates to the matter of consecutive or concurrent sentences where a person is convicted of two or more offenses. Its meaning may not be entirely clear. At least it has resulted in considerable confusion in actual practice. It is recommended that the section be amended to provide that when any person is convicted of two or more offenses he shall be sentenced separately for each offense and such sentences shall run consecutively. This will carry out the intent of your honorable body as expressed in the present section, is in accord with sound policy, and will remove the confusion that has heretofore existed.

Section 681a (new). This being the first section relating specifically to criminal procedure, it is recommended that it declare the policy of the law as follows:

Sec. 681a. The welfare of the people of the State of California requires that all proceedings in criminal cases shall be heard and determined at the earliest possible time. It shall be the duty of all courts and judicial officers and of all district attorneys to expedite the hearing and determination of all such cases and proceedings to the greatest degree that is consistent with the ends of justice.

The purpose of this section is to announce a principle and policy which shall be mandatory upon all judges, judicial officers and district attorneys to expedite criminal cases and proceedings from their inception to their final conclusion. This will vitalize all criminal proceedings with a new spirit. The present section 681 is made section 681b.

Section 809. This section requires the district attorney to file his information within fifteen days (instead of thirty days as at present) after defendant has been committed by the magistrate. It also authorizes the information to charge any offense shown by the evidence taken before the magistrate. Its purpose has already been explained.

Section 825. It is recommended that this statute be amended so as to require that a defendant be taken before a magistrate within not more than two days after his arrest, excluding Sundays and holidays. No specific time is fixed by the statute as it now reads.

Section 859. It is recommended that this section be amended to provide that the magistrate may postpone the examination for not less than two, nor more than five days, to permit defendant to send for counsel. No limit of time is fixed in the statute as it now reads.

Section 861. It is recommended that this section which relates to continuances of preliminary examination be amended to provide that such examination may be continued for not more than two weeks in all when consented to by defendant.

Section 869. It is recommended that subdivision five of this section be amended so as to require reporters' transcripts of preliminary examinations to be filed within five days after the close of the examination instead of ten days as at present, and provides that should the reporter fail to file the transcript within said time he shall receive but one-half of the compensation to which he would be otherwise entitled. This is necessary in view of the requirement that the information shall be filed within fifteen days after the order of commitment instead of thirty days as at present. It also provides that a copy of the transcript be served on the defendant at least five days before trial.

Section 915. This section now reads that the grand jury "must" inquire into all public offenses committed or triable within the county and present them to the court by indictment. It is recommended that the word "must" be changed to "may." A large percentage of crimes are now presented by complaint and information and it is impossible for the grand jury to inquire into all public offenses. The statute as it now reads is simply ignored.

Section 925. It is recommended that this statute be amended so as to require that every defendant indicted by a grand jury shall be served with a copy of the evidence given against him before the grand jury. As the statute stands at present, he is only entitled to such transcript if a stenographic reporter is present. Thus some defendants receive a copy of the evidence given against them and some do not. Either all defendants should receive a copy of the evidence or none should receive it. The Commission has resolved the doubt in favor of the defendant and recommends that all defendants have this benefit.

Sections 941-942. It is recommended that these sections be repealed. They relate to the effect of the failure of a grand jury to find an indictment. They seem to serve no useful purpose and might well thwart justice being done in some cases.

Section 951. It is recommended that this section be amended to provide a more simple form of indictment or information. If adopted, an indictment for murder (for example) may be in the following simple form:

"The grand jury of the county of-----hereby accuses
A. B. of a felony, to wit: Murder, in that on or about the-----day of -----, 19-----, in the county of-----, State of California, he murdered C. D."

This is one of the statutes designed to eliminate technicalities in pleading and to make proceedings more simple.

Section 952. To help accomplish the same purpose it is recommended that this section be amended to conform in spirit and intent with section 951 as amended.

Section 954. It is recommended that this statute, which relates to joinder of offenses in an indictment or information, be enlarged to embrace complaints as well as indictments and informations and amended by changing the clause which now reads, "different statements of the same offense" so that it will read, "different statements of the same transaction." This is somewhat broader and more in line with correct policy and is in accord with what was evidently the intent of the Legislature in adopting the section. It is also recommended that a sentence be added reading as follows:

A verdict of acquittal of one or more counts shall not be deemed or held to be an acquittal of any other count.

It not infrequently happens that where the same transaction is charged in two counts the jury, having convicted of one, feels that it should and it does acquit of the other. Defendant then argues that since the same transaction was involved in both counts the acquittal on one operates as a matter of law as an acquittal on the other. The proposed amendment will obviate such contention.

Section 956. It is recommended that this be amended by adding the words "or of the place where the offense was committed, or of the property involved in its commission." This is in accordance with sound policy and with the evident intent of this statute as it now reads.

Section 959. This section, which relates to the sufficiency of indictments and informations, is recommended to be amended to include complaints as well, but to omit sections six and seven for the reason that their subject matter is fully covered by section 952 as proposed to be amended.

Section 960. It is recommended that the words in this statute "which does not tend to the prejudice of a substantial right of the defendant upon its merits," be amended to read, "which does not prejudice a substantial right of the defendant upon the merits." This accords with article VI, section 4½ of the constitution. It should also be made to embrace complaints as well as indictments and informations.

Section 969. This section now provides that not more than two previous convictions must be charged in any one indictment or information. It is recommended that it be amended to provide that "all known previous convictions, whether in this State or elsewhere, must be charged." The entire criminal record of a defendant should be before the court in every case. This is particularly necessary, in view of the policy of the habitual criminal act.

Section 969a (new). It is recommended that this new statute be adopted designed to cover cases where, after the filing of an indictment or information, it is discovered that defendant has previously been convicted of felonies which were not known at the time of the filing of the indictment or information. If the discovery is made before sentence, the pending indictment or information shall be amended upon order of the court and the case proceed as if such prior convictions had been charged in the original indictment or information. If discovery is not made until after sentence, the statute provides for the filing of a supplemental information. Defendant shall be arraigned thereon and if he admit the prior convictions, shall be resentenced accordingly. If he deny them, the issue shall be tried. If the issue be determined in the defendant's favor, the proceeding shall be dismissed. If the issue be determined against him, he shall be resentenced accordingly.

The justice of this provision seems to require no argument. If a defendant has in fact been convicted of one or more previous felonies he ought not escape the consequences thereof simply because he has succeeded in concealing them.

Sections 995 and 995a. Section 995 now provides, among other things, that an indictment must be set aside if the names of witnesses who testify before the grand jury are not inserted at the foot of the indictment or endorsed thereon, and that an information must be set aside when not subscribed by the district attorney. To set aside a proceeding for such trivial reasons seems absurd. It is proposed that this be amended by eliminating these two provisions and adding a new section, 995a, providing that if the names of witnesses are not endorsed on the indictment or the information is not subscribed by the district attorney, the court may order this defect to be cured and the proceedings shall then continue.

Section 1006. It is recommended that this section be amended to require immediate hearings on demurrers unless exceptional cause for a delay be shown.

Section 1008. This section relates to amendments of indictments and informations. It is proposed to change the section to facilitate such amendments and further to provide that the sustaining of a demurrer and consequent dismissal of the charge shall not be a bar to instituting a new prosecution for the same offense. It is submitted that a mere defect in pleading in an indictment or information ought not to prevent a trial on the merits if the charge can be stated in such a way as to avoid the defects in pleading.

Section 1011. This section relates to pleas after demurrer disallowed. The changes recommended are to require the plea to be made forthwith and to eliminate the provision that "if defendant does not plead, judgment may be pronounced against him."

Sections 1016, 1017, 1020, 1026 (new), 1026a (new), 1151 and 1167. Insanity. These sections are grouped for the reason that they all relate to the matter of the defense of insanity and proceedings based thereon. This subject has been one of the most troublesome ones in the administration of American criminal law. The abuses of the present system are great. Under a plea of "not guilty" and without any notice to the people that the defense of insanity will be relied upon, defendant has been able to raise the defense upon the trial of the issue as to whether he committed the offense charged. This lack of notice that such defense would be made has very frequently placed the people at a very great disadvantage. An even more serious fault of the present system is that a defendant, when on trial as to whether he committed the offense, is able to bring into the case the whole matter of his sanity at the time of the offense charged. This enables him to submit to the jury great masses of evidence having no bearing upon the question whether the offense was committed. This is frequently made the basis of appeals to the sympathy or prejudice of the jury and even though this is not done, often introduces great confusion into the trial. It not infrequently happens that a jury finds a defendant not guilty when, in fact, it is convinced that the defendant committed the crime but believes he was insane at the time. Thus persons who are really dangerous to society through suffering from criminal insanity are turned back upon the public and become a menace to society.

After much study and consultation with experts, the Commission has worked out a system which it is believed will eliminate these evils. We recommend the establishment of a state hospital for the criminal insane. This will be more fully considered later in the report. So far as the legal proceedings relating to the matter of insanity are concerned, we recommend that section 1016 be amended to provide that where a defendant intends to raise the defense of insanity at the time the alleged offense was committed, he shall plead "not guilty by reason of insanity." This plea may be joined with any of the present pleas, but one who does not make such plea shall be conclusively deemed to have been sane at the time of the commission of the alleged offense. When defendant pleads "not guilty by reason of insanity," joining with it any other pleas, he shall first be tried in the regular way as to the issue raised by the other pleas without any question of insanity being raised. In such trial, for example, if defendant pleads "not guilty" and also "not guilty by reason of insanity," he shall first be tried in the regular way on the plea of not guilty. If the verdict be in defendant's favor, that, of course, ends the matter. If the verdict be in favor of the people, then the issue as to whether defendant was sane at the time the offense was committed shall be promptly tried, either by the same jury or by a new jury in the discretion of the court. If it be found that defendant was sane, he shall be given the legal sentence. If, on the other hand, it be determined that defendant was insane he shall be committed to the hospital for the criminal insane, or if such hospital be not yet established, to some other state hospital for the insane. Such commitment shall continue until it be judicially adjudicated that defendant's sanity has been restored. A person so committed, after having been in the hospital for one year, may file an application to have it adjudged that his sanity has been restored. If, on such application, the court finds in his favor, he shall be discharged. If the finding be against him, he may, at the expiration of a year, file a new application.

It is believed that this will obviate practically all the difficulties in the present system. The making of the plea "not guilty by reason of insanity" will give to the people notice that they must meet this issue. By having the trial on the merits distinct from the trial as to the issue of sanity, the present great confusion will be avoided, the issue will be clean cut and much time will be saved. If the defendant is found not guilty, all of the time, expense and delay now consumed in trying the issue of insanity will be saved. If defendant be found guilty, the issue of his sanity will be tried without any confusion with other matters. Where it is determined that a defendant is criminally insane, he will be committed to an institution. Thus the public will be saved from the constant menace to which it is subjected when insane persons with criminal tendencies are allowed to roam at large. By being in an institution designed for care and treatment of such persons, the insane person will be saved from many menaces to himself and will be given treatment which may result in the restoration of his sanity. It is believed that the plan recommended is sound, from a legal, practical and humanitarian standpoint.

In accordance with this policy, section 1167 should be repealed, and section 1151 amended by striking out that portion which refers to acquittals because of insanity.

Section 1044. It is recommended that a new section numbered 1044 be enacted to read substantially as follows:

It shall be the duty of the judge to control all proceedings during the trial, and to limit the introduction of evidence and the argument of counsel to relevant and material matters, with a view to the expeditious and effective ascertainment of the truth regarding the matters involved.

This is probably only declaratory of the power which the courts now have but which is far too little exercised. The purpose of the statute is to make it mandatory upon the court to control its proceedings to the end that justice shall be done. As heretofore noted, one of the great defects in our criminal proceedings has been that it has been too much a game between opposing counsel with the court acting merely as umpire. It has frequently been declared that in our country it is better to have a poor case and a good lawyer than a good case and a poor lawyer. This may not be entirely sound, but there certainly is an element of truth in it. The aim of judicial proceedings should be to arrive at the truth, regardless of the ability of counsel for the respective parties. To accomplish this, as well as to expedite the proceedings, it is essential that the court be more than a mere umpire. He should at all times control the proceedings. It is believed that the enactment of this statute will be very helpful in attaining this object.

Section 1049. This section now provides that after his plea the defendant is entitled to at least two days to prepare for trial. It is recommended that the words "two days" be changed to "five days." The Commission does not know of any cases where the present statute has been abused. Nevertheless, there might be cases where it would be unfair to force a defendant to trial in as short a time as two days. By increasing this time to five days this possibility of injustice to a defendant will be obviated.

Section 1050 (new). This statute requires that all criminal cases be set for trial for a date not later than thirty days after defendant enters his plea, and no continuance may be granted unless it is proved that the ends of justice require the same. This has already been fully discussed in the early part of this report.

Section 1052. It is recommended that this section be repealed, the matter being fully covered by section 1050.

Section 1070. Peremptory Challenges. It is recommended that this statute be amended to provide that the state and the defendant shall have an equal number of peremptory challenges, ten in capital cases and five in other cases. The law now gives the defendant twice as many challenges as the people.

Sections 1077-1078. It is recommended that section 1077 be repealed and section 1078 be amended to read as follows:

Section 1078. It shall be the duty of the trial court to examine the prospective jurors and to select a fair and impartial jury. He may, in his discretion, permit reasonable examination of prospective jurors by counsel for the people and for the defendant.

The purpose of this section is twofold: First, to cut down the great amount of time now consumed in the selection of juries; second, to increase the probability that a fair and impartial jury will be selected. As heretofore noted, there is no place in the world where anything like the amount of time is taken in selecting a jury as is common in this country in criminal cases. Days, weeks, sometimes even months, are used up in this way. Moreover, at the present time, the selection of a jury is to a large extent a game between counsel. It is but natural that each side should endeavor to secure jurors who will be favorable to that side. The ideal should be to select a fair and impartial jury. Each side is entitled to that. Neither side is entitled to more. This statute is designed to make it primarily the duty of the trial court to bring about the selection of such jury. There are undoubtedly cases in which reasonable examination by counsel should be permitted. The proposed statute permits this. It makes it the right and duty of the court always to control such examination to the end that justice shall be done and no undue delay occur.

Section 1089. It is recommended that this section be amended to equalize peremptory challenges to alternate jurors.

Sections 1096 and 1096a. Presumption of innocence. Reasonable doubt. Section 1096 now reads:

A defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until the contrary is proved, and in case of a reasonable doubt whether his guilt is satisfactorily shown, he is entitled to an acquittal.

It is recommended that this be amended and a new section added, to read substantially as follows:

Section 1096. The defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until the contrary is proved, but the effect of this presumption is only to place upon the state the burden of proving him guilty, beyond a reasonable doubt. Reasonable doubt is defined as follows: "It is not a mere possible doubt; because everything relating to human affairs, and depending on moral evidence, is open to some possible or imaginary doubt. It is that state of the case, which, after the entire comparison and consideration of all the evidence, leaves the minds of jurors in that condition that they can not say they feel an abiding conviction, to a moral certainty, of the truth of the charge."

Section 1096a. In charging a jury the court may read to the jury section 1096 of this code and no further instruction on the subject of the presumption of innocence or defining reasonable doubt need be given.

The question of the effect of the presumption of innocence and of the meaning of reasonable doubt has been one of the most troublesome in the whole field of criminal procedure. It would be difficult to estimate how many mistrials and how many reversals have resulted from instructions on this subject that have been held erroneous. If the proposed section is adopted, it will remove all doubts and uncertainties on this subject, and provide a clear statement of the law which can be given in every case and to which nothing need be added. This statement of the law is as fair and favorable to the defendant as any defendant can ask. The definition of "reasonable doubt" is copied verbatim from the most classical statement in American jurisprudence, namely, the decision of Chief Justice Shaw in Commonwealth vs. Webster, 5 Cushing 320. This definition has received the approval of courts and text writers ever since it was pronounced and has frequently been commended and declared to be the best definition by the Supreme Court of this State. (See for example, People vs. Miller, 171 Cal. 649). The adoption of this statute will add much to the certainty of the operation of criminal law.

Section 1098. This section now provides that when two or more defendants are tried jointly, each of them is entitled to five peremptory challenges in addition to those allowed by section 1070, but the State is given only "one-half the number of all the additional separate challenges allowed the defendants, any fraction to be regarded as an additional challenge." It is proposed to give the State "additional challenges equal to the number of all the additional separate challenges allowed the defendants," in conformity with the amendment suggested for equalizing the number of peremptory challenges.

Section 1123. When section 1089 was added to the Penal Code, authorizing the calling of alternate jurors, this section was apparently overlooked, as the two are inconsistent as they now stand. It is recommended that section 1123 be amended to conform to section 1089.

Section 1156. This section now provides that the court must order a new trial for certain defects in a special verdict which could easily be remedied by further deliberation of the jury after instructions from the court pointing out the defects. The recommendations proposed will bring about a proper verdict at the first trial.

Sections 1168 and 1203. Probation, Indeterminate Sentence and Parole Law. It seems advisable to group the presentation of the recommendations made with reference to these laws. Many persons feel that these laws are wrong in principle and frequently abused in practice. After a careful study, however, the Commission has reached the conclusion that they are sound in principle. At the same time, it must be conceded that great errors and sometimes even serious abuses have occurred in their operation. The Commission therefore sought to work out a plan which would preserve all of the benefits of these systems and minimize their evils. It is believed this result has been accomplished.

A—Probation.

We are convinced that probation has a proper place in the law and serves a very useful purpose. Properly applied it is a great force for good. Improperly applied it is an undoubted force for evil. It is believed that the true purpose and function of probation is this: That one who has for the first time breached the social compact by an act so serious as to constitute a felony, but has not shown himself to be a menace to the lives of his fellow men, should be entitled to apply to the State as a matter of grace (for it should always be remembered that probation is a matter of grace only, not of right) for a chance to redeem himself and not have stamped upon him the brand of a penitentiary sentence. Conversely, however, a person who has more than once been convicted of a crime so serious as to be a felony, or a person who in committing a felony for the first time has shown himself to be a menace to the lives of his fellow citizens, should not be entitled to this act of grace on the part of the State. If probation be granted to such a person, the whole purpose of the law is prostituted. The law-abiding citizens of the State are subjected to a menace which is most unjust to the individual and dangerous to society. For all practical purposes it may be affirmed that any person who commits a felony while armed with a deadly weapon is a potential murderer. By that very act he demonstrates that he is a menace to the lives of his fellow citizens and to society. The person who arms himself with a deadly weapon to commit a felony does so that he may use it, that he may wound or kill if it seems necessary or advisable to insure the perpetration of the crime or his escape. The welfare of society demands that adequate steps be taken to deter such persons from carrying deadly weapons. It is, therefore, recommended that the probation law be amended so as to provide: First, that no person who has been previously convicted of a felony, either in this State or elsewhere, shall be eligible for probation; second, that no person who, at the time of the commission of the offense, or at the time of his arrest, was armed with a deadly weapon shall be eligible for probation; third, that the present provision which prevents public officials guilty of bribery, embezzlement or extortion from receiving probation, be retained.

It is further recommended that subdivision (c) of section 1203 be amended. That section now provides that a defendant who has been admitted to probation may, after such probationary period is complete, withdraw his plea and have the proceeding dismissed, and that he "shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which he has been convicted." It is recommended that there be added to this subdivision immediately after the words quoted the following:

"except that in any subsequent prosecution of such defendant for any other offense such prior conviction may be pleaded and proved and shall have the same effect as if probation had not been granted or the accusation or information dismissed."

If one who has been convicted of a felony and has received the grace of the State through probation, thereafter commits another felony, there would appear to be every reason, indeed, if anything, more reason, why he should be treated as a second offender, than one who upon his first conviction received and served a sentence. To say that such a person, when he commits the second felony, is really a first offender, is simply to deny the truth. The Commission would not withdraw from the person who has received probation and thereafter lives a life of rectitude any of the protection now given him by this law. But if such person thereafter again becomes a felon, the law should permit the truth to be shown.

B—Indeterminate Sentence.

There is very considerable objection to the indeterminate sentence law. The Commission, however, believes that it serves a useful purpose, but that one very important change in it should be made. Under the system formerly prevailing in this State, the trial court fixed the sentence. This had certain disadvantages, the chief of which probably was the great disparity sometimes existing between the sentences given by one judge and those given by another judge for the same crime committed under like conditions. It had, however, certain very real advantages. The judge of the trial court, who knew local conditions, who saw and observed the witnesses, who saw and observed the defendant, had an opportunity to form an opinion as to the real degree of culpability which the board of prison directors, sitting perhaps hundreds of miles away and acting on a printed record, can not possibly have. Realizing that there were advantages in each system and disadvantages in each, the Commission sought to work out a plan by which the advantages of both could be retained and the disadvantages of both minimized. Such a plan has been evolved. The plan recommended is this: That at the time of, and as part of the sentence, the trial court shall recommend the minimum term for which in his opinion the defendant should be confined before being eligible for release on parole or otherwise. This, it is to be noted, is not the fixing of the sentence, but only a recommendation as to the minimum term of actual confinement. The Board of Prison Directors shall have jurisdiction and power to release the defendant prior to the expiration of such recommended term, but shall not do so unless in its opinion exceptional cause therefor is shown. This leaves power in the prison board to correct any abuses that may arise through excessive recommendations, and to take into consideration facts which may develop subsequent to sentence and which were not known at that time. The plan thus preserves to a large extent the undoubted value of the opinion and recommendation of the trial court without in any substantial degree infringing upon the indeterminate sentence law or the power of the Board of Prison Directors. As a matter of fact, this board has for a long time attempted to get the opinions of trial judges in practically all cases coming before it.

C—Parole.

No changes are recommended in the parole law, except one to insure that second offenders and those who are armed with deadly weapons at the time of the commission of felonies or at the time of arrest shall receive adequate punishment, largely to the end that others may be deterred from embarking on a life of crime or at least from using deadly weapons in the commission of crime or arming themselves to resist arrest. It is recommended that offenders of this class shall not be released on parole except in accordance with the following schedule:

1. A person sentenced to life imprisonment shall not be eligible for parole until he has served a minimum of twenty-five years.
2. A person convicted of a felony, who at the time of the commission of the offense or his arrest was armed with a deadly weapon and who has theretofore been convicted of a felony, shall not be eligible for parole until he has served a minimum of fifteen years.
3. A person not theretofore convicted of a felony, but who at the time of the commission of the offense or his arrest was armed with a deadly weapon, shall not be eligible for parole until he has served a minimum of ten years.
4. A person for the second time convicted of a felony, but who was not armed with a deadly weapon at the time of the commission of the offense or his arrest shall not be eligible to parole until he has served a minimum of seven years.

It is believed that this plan, if adopted, will have a great deterrent value. At the present time many persons sentenced to life imprisonment are released on parole in ten years. There is a strong feeling that a sentence of imprisonment for life should mean exactly what it says, and that a person so sentenced should serve for life, unless released by pardon or commutation of sentence. There is much to be said in favor of this view. The Commission feels, however, that if the law provides that a person so sentenced must serve at least twenty-five years, the deterrent value will be almost as great as if no parole were allowed. There may be cases where after twenty-five years the parole board will find it proper to release such persons on parole. The second offender who uses a deadly weapon ought to be made to realize that he must serve a very substantial sentence. Such a law will probably tend to deter those who have been once convicted from committing other felonies, or at least, if they do commit them, from using a deadly weapon in their perpetration. The purpose of the other two recommendations is obvious and is along the same line.

Section 1180. This section as it now stands provides, among other things, that "the granting of a new trial places the parties in the same position as if no trial had been had." Its effect has been practically nullified by judicial decision. It is believed that it can be restored by amending it to provide that a defendant who makes a motion for a new trial, or who appeals from a judgment of conviction, thereby consents that if a new trial is granted or the judgment reversed, the effect shall be the same as if he had never been tried, and that he may again be tried upon the original charge, irrespective of the verdict of the jury in the first trial. The constitutionality of such a provision is established by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in Trono vs. United States, 199 U. S. 521, and a series of cases both in the federal and State courts since that time. The proposed amendment will simply make effective the clear intent of the Legislature expressed in the statute as it now stands.

Section 1181. It is recommended that subdivision six of this section be amended so as to provide that where a defendant has been convicted of a crime and the evidence is found insufficient to justify the conviction for that crime, but does justify the conviction of a lesser degree of the crime, or of some lesser and included crime, either the trial court or the appellate court, as the case may be, need not set aside the verdict entirely, but may modify the judgment of conviction to the lesser crime.

The value of such a statute was illustrated by a recent decision of our Supreme Court in People vs. Nagy, 72 Cal. Dec. 192. In that case, defendant was convicted of arson in the first degree. The evidence clearly showed that the defendant was guilty of arson in the second degree, but was insufficient to show the presence of a human being in the property burned, which is necessary to constitute arson in the first degree. The court was compelled to set aside the judgment entirely and grant a new trial. Under the proposed statute, it would have been able to enter a judgment of arson in the second degree. The proposed statute in no way infringes upon the province of the jury, since it authorizes the court to pronounce only judgments on crimes which are lesser than and included within the verdict of the jury.

Section 1191. The proposed amendment to this section requires that judgment be pronounced immediately after plea or verdict of guilty, or after a verdict against the defendant on a plea of former conviction or acquittal, or once in jeopardy, instead of at a time (not less than two nor more than five days thereafter) to be appointed by the court, as now provided.

Section 1243. It is recommended that this section be amended to provide that the granting of a stay of execution on appeal shall rest in the sole discretion of the judge of the trial court. The evident intent of the Legislature in adopting the section as it now stands was to make the issuance of such certificate a matter of discretion. This intent has, to a large extent, been nullified by judicial decision. The proposed amendment will restore it. It is felt that this discretion should rest with the judge of the trial court rather than with the justices of the supreme or appellate courts, who can have no personal familiarity with the case.

Sections 1246, 1247*d*, inclusive. These sections all relate to the matter of making up the record on appeal. It is recommended that they be repealed and in lieu thereof a section be adopted providing that the record on appeal shall be made up within the time and in the manner prescribed by rules to be promulgated by the Judicial Council, and until such rules are promulgated the rules applicable January 1, 1927, shall apply. This suggestion is in accord with the prevailing policy that such matters of detail as making up of records on appeal should be regulated by rules of court rather than by hard and fast statutes.

Section 1252. It is recommended that this statute be amended to provide that all appeals in criminal cases shall be set for hearing for a date not later than thirty days after the filing of the transcript and that no continuance shall be granted unless the court shall find that the ends of justice require it. No continuance shall be granted upon stipulation of counsel. It is further provided that upon an appeal by defendant the appellate court shall, in addition to the points raised by defendant, consider and pass upon all rulings adverse to the State which it may be requested to pass upon by the Attorney General. The purpose of this proposed amendment is to carry out the policy of increased swiftness in the functioning of the criminal law. It is not uncommon under the present system that from six months to a year elapse after the verdict of conviction before the appeal is brought on for hearing. This is not the fault of the courts, but rather the fault of the system now in force. There is no good reason why the great majority of cases on appeal can not be heard promptly. Where, for some peculiar reason, the ends of justice require a longer time, the proposed statute permits the court to grant the continuance.

The additional provision that the appellate court shall pass upon rulings adverse to the State which it is requested to consider by the Attorney General is deemed an important one. At the present time the State has no way to review rulings adverse to it made during the trial. The proposed amendment will give this right, and thus a way will be opened to settle many disputed questions.

Section 1256. It is further recommended that a provision be added to the present statutes making it the duty of the district attorney to assist the Attorney General in presenting all matters on appeal. It is believed that it will prove very helpful, both to the Attorney General and to the court, to have the assistance of the district attorney who tried the matter in the court below.

Sections 1270-1307. Bail. The entire subject of bail has received the careful attention of your Commission. As a result of the study of the present system and its practical application, several changes are recommended. The present system has been and is subject to a number of very serious abuses. Perhaps first among these is the so-called "straw bail" evil, that is, the giving of bonds which are not collectible. Another series of abuses has grown up in connection with the bail bond business, that is, the business of giving bail bonds for pay. In considering the entire subject of bail, it should always be remembered that while it is right and proper in most cases for a defendant to be released on bail, still the bail bond must be of such a nature and in such amount that it will in practically every case (theoretically at least, in every case) insure that the defendant will not leave the State or secrete himself to escape punishment. The bail bond should be a secured obligation in favor of the people of the State of California. When cash is used as security, the cash must be deposited. If property is made the basis of security, the people are entitled at least to a lien upon that property. They are entitled to insist, certainly as much as any private client would be entitled to insist, that that security shall be a real, not merely a nominal, security.

This is of the utmost importance from each of two aspects: First, unless the security is of this nature there is a definite inducement to the defendant to flee and so thwart the whole course of justice; second, as the holder of a secured obligation the people are entitled to insist that the security shall be such that the obligation will be certainly collectible.

The general plan proposed is this: The sureties must justify upon oath and list the property which it is proposed to give as security for the bond. They must satisfy the trial judge that they own the property and that its value above all prior liens is ample to satisfy the amount of their undertaking. When the undertaking is approved by the trial judge it becomes a lien upon the property offered as security. This is designed to cure one of the great defects in the present system. Now the undertaking does not become a lien upon anything. There is now nothing to prevent a surety from encumbering or disposing of his property the day after the bail bond is accepted. To remedy this condition and make the undertaking a real security to the people of the state (not merely a nominal one) it is proposed that where the property offered is personal property it shall be deposited with the court to be held until the undertaking is discharged or, in case it be forfeited, the obligation is collected. Where the property offered as security is real property, the undertaking becomes a lien thereon and provision is made for recording notice of the undertaking in the county where the real property is situated. This plan will give to the people of the State the same measure of protection and security which any private client would insist upon his lawyer obtaining for him on a secured obligation. It is believed that the people in this tremendously important matter of insuring the enforcement of the criminal law are entitled to at least this degree of protection.

It is next proposed to amend the form of undertaking by adding a provision by which the surety will consent that, in the event the bail bond is forfeited, judgment may be entered forthwith for the amount of the undertaking. Under the present system, it is necessary to bring a separate civil action to enforce collection of the bond. When such judgment is entered it may be enforced in the usual way by the sale of the property given as security. To give an additional protection to the surety, however, it is provided that if within ten days after forfeiture of the bond the defendant and his bail appear and satisfactorily excuse the forfeiture and show to the satisfaction of the court that the absence of defendant was not with the connivance of the bail, the court may discharge the forfeiture of the undertaking upon such terms as may be just.

It is next recommended that the statute expressly provide that in fixing the amount of bail, the judge or magistrate shall take into consideration the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the defendant and the probability of his appearing at the trial; that the proposed sureties shall be required to state upon oath what, if any, consideration, indemnity or security they have received or been promised, and from whom, and that the bond shall not be accepted unless the judge is satisfied that none of the consideration, indemnity or security was feloniously obtained by defendant. In the British Empire bail for indemnity is prohibited. Indeed, the giving of bail for any consideration is in itself a crime. The Commission feels it is not necessary to go so far here. The proposed amendments will still permit a legitimate bail bond business to be carried on, but it is only right and just that where a bail bond is given for consideration or upon indemnity, the State should know what that consideration or indemnity is and from whom received.

It is further provided that all statements made by the proposed bondsmen (which must be under oath) shall be deemed material statements and if such a bondsman makes a false statement he shall be guilty of perjury.

If this proposed plan be adopted it is believed the present abuses of bail will be substantially cured without any injustice being done to any one. It has been suggested that the proposed plan may in some cases somewhat increase the difficulty of securing bail. This may or may not be true. If it proves true, however, it will only be in those cases where the bondsmen are unwilling to give to the people of the State real security for the appearance of the defendant. If it be conceded that the people are entitled to have a security that is real, not merely one that is a matter of form, this possible objection falls to the ground. The enforcement of criminal justice is a matter of the greatest importance to the welfare of the people of this State. Unless the defendant is present, the whole course of the administration of justice is thwarted and the arms of the people are paralyzed. Hence, when a defendant asks to be released on bail, the people have a right to insist that the bond which he gives to insure his appearance shall be a real one secured in such a manner that it is certainly collectible. This is the result which the proposed amendments are designed to accomplish.

Section 1506. It is recommended that a new section be added giving the right of appeal, in habeas corpus cases, to the people or to the petitioner, from a final order discharging or remanding a prisoner, and providing that if the people appeal, the defendant shall not be released from custody, except upon bail. Under the present system, the people are very greatly handicapped by having no redress where a defendant is improperly released on habeas corpus.

HOSPITAL FOR THE CRIMINAL INSANE.

The Commission recommends that your honorable body create a hospital for the criminal insane. The fact that we do not have such a hospital is a serious blot upon the good name of the State. There can be no doubt about the fact that there are people who are criminally insane. Dementia praecox, paranoia in its various phases, and similar afflictions are real. People suffering from them are a menace to themselves and a most serious menace to society. They belong in an institution, so that this menace both to themselves and to society can be eliminated, and so that they may receive the best of care and treatment and, where possible, be restored to sanity. It is most unfair both to them and to the public that they be allowed to roam at large as most of them now do. It is most unfair likewise that they be confined in a hospital for the harmlessly insane where there are no adequate provisions for caring for them and where they are a menace to the lives of the other unfortunates committed to such institutions.

Hospitals for the criminal insane have demonstrated their worth and value wherever they have been established. It is suggested that the hospital be placed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Prison Directors. The same staff of experts can then be utilized for the hospital and for the necessary psychiatric and similar examinations which should be made of all convicts in the penitentiaries. Such examinations are essential in proper penology. The hospital will not only provide greatly needed security to the public and to the individuals who are afflicted, but can also be made a splendid clinic for the study of criminal insanity and cures therefor.

The cost need not be great. It can be planned and constructed on the unit system, allowing enlargement from time to time as needed. The establishment of such a hospital will not only add greatly to the safety of the people of the State, but will be in accord with the finest humanitarian principles.

EXTRADITION OF WITNESSES.

The Commission recommends the adoption of a statute authorizing the Governor in proper cases to subpoena persons who are present in California, but who are material witnesses in criminal prosecutions pending in other states, to attend and testify in such proceedings; their mileage and fees must be paid by such other state. The law all over the United States is deplorably deficient through absence of provisions for securing the attendance or testimony of witnesses who have left the State. If a material witness leaves a state and declines to return, there is usually no way to secure his evidence. Thus in many cases justice is completely thwarted. The proposed statute is an act of comity to assist our sister states in enforcing criminal justice. In this respect it is similar to our statutes providing for extradition of persons accused of crime. If any further reason for its enactment be desired, it should be sufficient to call attention to the fact that crime is no longer localized. It has become national in its character. Every state is directly interested in the enforcement of criminal law all over the country.

The proposed statute provides in effect that the Governor of any other state of the United States may apply to the Governor of California to subpoena any person present in California to attend as a material witness in a criminal prosecution pending in said other state. If it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Governor of California that such person is a material witness in a criminal prosecution there pending, and said other state shall advance the mileage and fees for said witness, the Governor of California may issue his subpoena requiring said witness to attend and testify in said proceeding. If the Governor of California be of the opinion that said witness may refuse to obey said subpoena, he may issue a warrant for said witness delivering him into the custody of an officer of said other state to be transported to the place where said proceedings are pending. The statute shall apply equally whether the attendance of the witness be desired by the people or by the defense. It is hoped that if California adopts such a statute other states will do likewise and thus promote the enforcement of justice throughout the entire country.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

As noted at the beginning of this report, certain changes necessary to proper administration of criminal justice can be brought about only through your honorable body submitting to the people, for approval by them, of certain amendments to the constitution. It is recommended that your honorable body submit to the people for their action at the general election of 1928 the following amendments:

First—One permitting the jury to consider the fact that defendant fails to take the stand in his own behalf;

Second—One empowering the Legislature to provide for the taking of depositions in criminal cases, either within or without this State;

Third—One permitting the waiver of a jury trial in felony cases where both the people and the defendant desire to make such waiver;

Fourth—One restoring the jury trial as originally known and developed, by repealing the provision which prohibits the jury from receiving the benefit of any comments on the evidence by the trial court;

Fifth—One authorizing the Legislature to create new divisions of the district courts of appeal when necessary :

Sixth—One shortening the time within which the decision of a District Court of Appeal in a criminal case becomes final, from thirty days to fifteen days, allowing an additional fifteen days within which the Supreme Court may order a hearing before itself ;

Seventh—One authorizing the Legislature in its discretion to provide reasonable compensation to the members of the State Board of Prison Directors and to provide for them the services of trained psychiatrists and similar experts ;

Eighth—One providing that where a verdict of judgment of conviction is set aside on the application of defendant he may be retried on the original charge, irrespective of the grade or degree of crime of which he was convicted in such verdict or judgment.

These will be briefly considered in their order :

First—One Permitting the Jury to Consider the Fact That Defendant Fails to Take the Stand in His Own Behalf.

It can not too often be stated that the fundamental purpose of a criminal trial should be to arrive at the truth. If a defendant refuses to take the stand on his own behalf that is a fact in the case. Its weight may vary with circumstances, but whatever its weight it is a fact in the case. The law now provides that the jury must not consider this fact. It may well be doubted whether it is humanly possible to fail to consider it. Be that as it may, the jury should be entitled to consider it. In many cases it will materially aid in arriving at the truth.

The rule which prohibits the jury from considering this fact is probably an outgrowth of another rule long ago in force in England, which prohibited a defendant from testifying in his own behalf. The defendant not being permitted to testify, it was of course fair and just that his failure to testify should not be considered a fact in the case. The rule which forbade him to testify has long ago been discarded and he can now testify like any other witness. Strangely enough, however, we have still kept the companion rule after the reason for it has ceased to exist. In the interests of truth it should be discarded.

Second—One Empowering the Legislature to Provide for the Taking of Depositions in Criminal Cases, Either Within or Without This State.

The law now permits the defendant to take depositions but prohibits the people from doing so. This has brought about a condition that is intolerable. To illustrate: A murders B. C is the only witness. If C can be induced to leave the State of California there is no way to bring him back. His deposition can not be taken by the people and as a result the whole course of justice is thwarted and the arms of the people are paralyzed. The proposed amendment simply empowers the Legislature to provide, upon such terms and conditions as it may deem just, that the people may take depositions either within or without the State.

Third—One Permitting the Waiver of a Jury Trial in Felony Cases Where Both the People and the Defendant Desire to Make Such Waiver.

Jury trials may be waived in all civil cases and in all criminal cases except felony cases. It is submitted that there is no reason why it should not be permitted in felony cases also where both the people and the defendant desire the waiver. This is in no sense depriving any one of a jury trial, for he will have the jury trial unless he voluntarily waives it. This system has been in force for a long time in Connecticut and Maryland and has worked well. In a very considerable percentage of the cases the jury is waived. This results in a great saving of expense to the State and in considerably greater expedition in the trial of such cases.

Fourth—One Restoring the Jury Trial as Originally Known and Developed, by Repealing the Provision Which Prohibits the Jury From Receiving the Benefit of Any Comments on the Evidence by the Trial Court.

The jury trial as originally developed and as now known and conducted in all courts of the English speaking world (including the United States courts) except only the courts of some of the American states, of which California is one, is a trial by a jury which may receive the benefit of the comments on the evidence by counsel for the people, counsel for the defense and by the trial court. Such comments by the court have no binding effect. The jury remains the sole judge of the facts. The comments are simply to assist the jury in arriving at the truth. Under the practice in this State, counsel for the people may comment on the evidence, counsel for the defendant may do likewise, but the jury is absolutely deprived of any comment on the evidence by the one trained and impartial man in the courtroom, namely, the judge of the trial court. His lips are sealed with a constitutional padlock, and the jury is ordered to struggle the best that it can to arrive at the truth without the benefit of any comment whatever from the trained judge whom the people have placed upon the bench. This is not the jury trial, which is one of the glories of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence. The Supreme Court of the United States in Capital Traction Company vs. Hof, 174 U. S. 1, describes the historical jury trial, the time-hallowed institution, as follows:

"'Trial by Jury,' in the primary and usual sense of the term at the common law and in the American constitution, is not merely a trial by a jury of twelve men before an officer vested with authority to cause them to be summoned and impaneled, to administer oaths to them and to the constable in charge, and to enter judgment and issue execution on their verdict; but it is a trial by a jury of twelve men, in the presence and under the superintendence of a judge empowered to instruct them on the law and to advise them on the facts and (except on acquittal of a criminal charge) to set aside their verdict if in his opinion it is against the law or the evidence. The proposition has been so generally admitted and so seldom contested, that there has been little occasion for its distinct assertion. Yet there are unequivocal statements of it to be found in the books." (Italics ours.)

Professor Thayer, one of the greatest commentators and jurists that this country has produced, speaking upon the same subject, says:

"It is not too much to say of any period, in all English history, that it is impossible to conceive of trial by jury as existing there in a form which would withhold from the jury the assistance of the court in dealing with the facts. Trial by jury, in such a form as that, is not trial by jury in any historic sense of the words. It is not the venerated institution which attracted the praise of Blackstone and of our ancestors, but something novel, modern and much less to be respected." (Italics ours.)

It is probably true that one of the main reasons for the greater efficiency of jury trials in the courts of England and of Canada and in the courts of the United States over that existing in our State courts is the fact that there the jury can receive the benefit of the comments of the trial judge. The fundamental test to be applied to this as to other questions of procedure is: What rule will be most likely to insure that the proceedings will arrive at the truth? The Commission believes that, both as a matter of sound principle and by the demonstration of long experience, a jury is more likely to arrive at the truth when it is permitted to have the benefit of the comments of the trial judge upon the evidence than when it is deprived of them. One of the most important functions of citizenship is jury service. Nothing is more essential to the welfare of society than that those who serve upon a jury should return a true verdict. We draw our juries from all walks of life. Generally speaking, they are not familiar with the processes of adducing evidence in a courtroom, the slow and somewhat cumbersome method of question and answer, the objections and arguments of counsel, and the various matters that arise in the conduct of almost every criminal case. They may listen for days, or even weeks, to the evidence. At the conclusion counsel for the people and counsel for the defense may argue to them at length (in passing, it should be noted that this argument is not to permit counsel to display their talent, but for the reason that their comments on the evidence may assist the jury in arriving at the truth). At the conclusion of it all, the jury must sift the evidence, accept this and discard that, believe this and reject that, and by its verdict arrive at the truth. Can it be denied that in the great majority of cases they will be more likely to arrive at a true verdict if they are permitted to have the benefit of the comments on the evidence not only of counsel, but also of the one trained and impartial man in the courtroom, the representative of the people of the State in a true sense, the judge upon the bench?

Objection may be made to the proposed plan on the ground that it would be possible for the trial judge to abuse his power in commenting on the evidence. It must be conceded that an occasional abuse is a possibility. There can be no power without it being possible that such power may be abused. The pardoning power, the veto power, the power to grant probation and parole, the power of city councils and boards of supervisors, of railroad commissions, of legislatures, and even of the Congress may possibly be abused and perhaps in some instances have been abused. That is no reason for destroying the power or abolishing such bodies. There is no reason to believe that the power proposed to be given to our judges would be abused to any substantial degree. Indeed, any attempted abuse of the power, any attempt to influence the jury unfairly in favor of one side or the other, would be more likely to react against the desired result. Any marked abuse of the power by a judge would probably result in his soon ceasing to be a judge.

Many of the leading jurists of our country, such men as Chief Justice Taft of the Supreme Court of the United States, Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard Law School, and numerous others of the same caliber believe that the proposed change is not only just and wise, but essential to insure greater certainty of true verdicts in our criminal courts. The Commission appreciates, at the same time, that there are persons who sincerely fear that the proposed power might be substantially abused. The question is one of fundamental importance. It can be decided and should be decided only by one body, namely, the people of California. The Commission believes that it is only just that the people should be given an opportunity to decide. It is, therefore, recommended that the proposed amendment be submitted to the people for their decision.

Fifth—One Authorizing the Legislature to Create New Divisions of the District Courts of Appeal When Necessary.

At the present time, it is necessary to amend the constitution each time it is desired to create another division of the District Court of Appeal. The State is growing so rapidly that the business of the courts has greatly increased and the present district courts of appeal are far behind in their calendars. It is a fundamental truth that a delay of justice is frequently a denial of justice. Your honorable body has shown that it appreciates the importance of swiftness in the administration of justice. There would seem to be no good reason why your honorable body should not have the power to create new divisions of the district courts of appeal when the public interest requires it.

Sixth—One Shortening the Time Within Which the Decision of a District Court of Appeal in a Criminal Case Becomes Final from Thirty Days to Fifteen Days, Allowing an Additional Fifteen Days Within Which the Supreme Court May Order a Hearing Before Itself.

At the present time a decision of a District Court of Appeal does not become final for thirty days and another thirty days then elapses during which time the Supreme Court may order the cause transferred to itself for hearing and decision. For criminal cases, at least, this time seems entirely too long. It is not consonant with the swift administration of criminal justice. An amendment, therefore, is recommended which will provide that in criminal cases the judgment of a District Court of Appeal shall become final in fifteen days after its rendition, with an additional fifteen days allowed during which time the Supreme Court may order the cause transferred to itself. Since this Commission's activities are directed toward the administration of criminal justice only, no change is recommended with regard to civil cases.

Seventh—One Authorizing the Legislature in its Discretion to Provide Reasonable Compensation to the Members of the State Board of Prison Directors and to Provide for Them the Services of Trained Psychiatrists and Similar Experts.

The present constitution (article X, section 4) provides that the members of the Board of Prison Directors shall receive no compensation, other than reasonable traveling and other expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of official duties. This was adopted in 1879 at a time when the duties of the Board of Prison Directors were very much less onerous and less important than they are now. Since that time both the indeterminate sentence law and the parole law have been passed, imposing upon the board very important duties, which were unknown at the time the constitution was adopted. Likewise, the burden of administering the prisons has greatly increased. It is recommended that a constitutional provision be submitted to the people which will reduce the number of members of the board from five to three and authorize the Legislature in its discretion to provide reasonable compensation for the members of the board, and also to furnish them necessary expert assistants, psychiatrists, psychologists, and the like. The duties now performed by this board are of great importance. If they are to be properly carried out they require a large portion of the time of the members of the board. The proposed amendment does not in itself allow the members of the board any compensation. It simply empowers the Legislature in its discretion to provide compensation.

Eighth—One Providing That Where a Verdict or Judgment of Conviction is Set Aside on the Application of Defendant He May Be Tried on the Original Charge, Irrespective of the Grade or Degree of Crime of Which He Was Convicted in Such Verdict or Judgment.

The purpose of this amendment may be illustrated by the following example: A defendant is charged with murder in the first degree. He is convicted of manslaughter. On his motion for new trial or on his appeal the judgment and verdict are set aside. It has been held that he can not again be tried on any charge more serious than manslaughter. This is based upon the theory, which is purely legalistic, that the conviction of manslaughter amounted to an acquittal of murder. The fallacy of this doctrine has been fully exposed. See for example, Trono vs. United States, 199 U. S. 521. Moreover, where a defendant causes a verdict to be set aside, it should be set aside completely and he should not be allowed to claim any protection under it. This is the policy of your honorable body as declared in section 1180 of the Penal Code as it now stands. The Commission has recommended an amendment of that section to make this policy effective. It is believed that amendment is constitutional. To avoid any possible doubt, however, this amendment to the constitution is also proposed.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

Your honorable body appropriated $10,000 for the expenses of this Commission. The Commission is happy to report that it will be able to return to the treasury of this State a very substantial part of the money appropriated, probably in excess of $3,000.

CONCLUSION.

It is hoped and believed that if your honorable body sees fit to adopt the statutory changes recommended and the people of the State approve the constitutional amendments, the result will be not merely greatly increased efficiency, swiftness and certainty in the administration of criminal justice in this State, but also a great reduction in the amount of crime. All past experience proves that this increased efficiency is always followed by such reduction in crime. The Commission has endeavored to do the task assigned to it, namely, to provide a more efficient system for the swift and certain administration of criminal justice. It has endeavored not to encroach upon other fields. Our studies have led us to the conclusion, however, that indispensable as it is that such a system of criminal procedure should be adopted, still this is only a part of the problem of crime. There are other very important phases. The Commission, therefore, has reached the conclusion and hereby respectfully recommends that your honorable body create a commission to study the other phases of the crime problem and report its findings and recommendations to you. Some of the important phases that it is suggested might well receive such consideration are:

First and foremost, crime prevention. Everything that can be done to prevent the commission of crime, to turn those disposed toward such a life into a life of honest effort, to take a boy or girl who is just entering upon the pathway of crime and turn his feet to the paths of rectitude, is a social service and a humanitarian service of the highest order. There are vast opportunities in this field. Some methods also must be devised for segregating the hardened criminal from those who may be redeemed to become useful members of society. Too often the former become professors of crime, and our jails and penitentiaries (in spite of the best efforts of sheriffs, jailers and wardens) become institutions for education in all the arts of the criminal profession. The whole subject of crime prevention has been too long ignored in this country. This is one of the reasons for the tremendous price we are now paying. Both morally and financially it is cheaper and easier to prevent crime than to attempt to cure it.

Secondly, the matter of crime detection and the apprehension of criminals. The subject of the detection of crime is in itself a vast one. Recent scientific discoveries have opened entirely new fields without disturbing in any substantial degree fundamental principles that have long been known among experts. Those who are charged with the detection of crime should be given the best education in their profession and furnished with all the facilities which the scientific world affords. The matter of the apprehension of criminals is also one where much improvement can be made. The criminal pays no attention to artificial boundaries, whether of city, county or state. Too often our officials charged with the apprehension of criminals are bound down, hampered and limited by such lines. Such a commission as is recommended might be able to evolve a plan which would result in far greater efficiency than we now have in the fields of detection and apprehension.

Third, another subject worthy of careful and complete study is that of penology. Among other things this might involve a complete survey of our jail system, our reformatories, our penitentiaries, our road camps, and kindred institutions. An important question for consideration is that of giving to convicts in our institutions some kind of training, technical or otherwise, to fit them to earn an honest livelihood after they are released. Another subject worthy of consideration is whether the State can be of greater assistance in helping released convicts to secure employment and keeping some check of their activities for a reasonable time after their release.

The foregoing observations are made not with the idea of expressing an opinion on any of the subjects, but as indicating the great necessity of such a commission as that recommended, the wide scope which its activities may well take and the great public benefits which may result.

Such a commission should be adequately financed. If objection be raised to the State spending the necessary money, it may be worth while to note that it is estimated the cost of crime to the United States is ten billions of dollars each year. Just what is the cost to the State of California can not be accurately stated, but it is fair to assume that we bear at least our fair proportion of this tremendous total. Bearing in mind the human and social, as well as the financial, cost of crime, it would seem doubtful whether money could be better expended than in ameliorating these conditions. Certainly no greater humanitarian service can be rendered.

The problem of crime is probably the most vital one now confronting our State and our nation. All our citizens, whatever their walk in life, their race, their color, their vocation or their political beliefs are equally subject to this menace. All are equally concerned in preserving the lives of their loved ones and themselves, in securing the sanctity of their homes and the security of the property accumulated by their toil. Serious as is the problem of crime, it is by no means a hopeless one. If we meet it with true American courage and determination the problem will be solved and the lives, homes and property of our citizens will be made safe and secure.

Respectfully submitted,

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILLS NUMBERS TWO HUNDRED TWENTY-THREE, TWO HUNDRED TWENTY-FOUR AND TWO HUNDRED TWENTY-FIVE.

Senator Jones, H. C., asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up for consideration Senate Bills Nos. 223, 224 and 225.

CASE OF URGENCY.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR.

In accordance with article IV, section 34 of the constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bills Nos. 223, 224 and 225:

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, Sacramento, California.

Senate Bills Nos. 223, 224 and 225, make appropriations for the expenses of the Judicial Council, for the State's share of additional salaries of judges transferred by order of the Judicial Council, and the necessary expenses of the judges so transferred.

The constitutional amendment creating the Judicial Council became effective immediately after its adoption in November, 1926. The Judicial Council is now functioning in accordance with the powers fixed by that amendment.

In my opinion the appropriations necessary for the expenses of such operation during the remainder of the seventy-eighth fiscal year constitute an emergency within the meaning of article IV, section 34, of the constitution, and I therefore recommend the passage of these bills as emergency measures.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

BUDGET MESSAGE OF C. C. YOUNG, GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly.

The budget herewith presented has been prepared in accordance with section 34 of article IV of the State constitution, which reads in part as follows:

"The Governor shall, within the first thirty days of each regular session of the Legislature, and prior to its recess, submit to the Legislature, with an explanatory message, a budget containing a complete plan and itemized statement of all proposed expenditures of the State provided by existing law or recommended by him, and of all its institutions, departments, boards, bureaus, commissions, officers, employees, and other agencies, and of all estimated revenues, for each fiscal year of the ensuing biennial period; together with a comparison, as to each item of revenues and expenditures, with the actual revenues and expenditures for the first fiscal year of the existing biennial period and the actual and estimated revenues and expenditures for the second fiscal year thereof.

"If the proposed expenditures for the ensuing biennial period shall exceed the estimated revenues therefor, the Governor shall recommend the sources from which the additional revenue shall be provided. The Governor, and also the Governor-elect, shall have the power to require any institution, department, board, bureau, commission, officer, employee, or other agency to furnish him with any information which he may deem necessary in connection with the budget or to assist in its preparation. The budget shall be accompanied by an appropriation bill covering the proposed expenditures, to be known as the budget bill."

I have quoted fully these budget provisions of the constitution in order to show how the budget is prepared and what it should contain. The fact that these provisions have not been carried out in former budgets compels us, in conformity with the purpose of the constitution, to strike out along new lines and to incorporate into this budget features which have been wanting in those which have preceded.

A COMPLETE BUDGET.

In the first place it will be noted that the constitution requires the Governor to submit a complete plan of "all proposed expenditures of the state provided by existing law or recommended by him." The budget submitted in 1923 purported to total less than $79,000,000 for the ensuing biennium, although the actual total State expenditures for that biennium exceeded $142,900,000. The budget of 1925 was announced as totaling $103,430,000, as against an actual total of more than $180,000,000. That it should not have been difficult to determine what these totals really were is evidenced by the fact that the figure of $179,000,000 was announced nearly a year and a half ago, at the beginning of the present biennium period, both by the State Controller and by myself—a figure which was afterward raised to $180,000,000. Notwithstanding this fact, owing to its incomplete presentation this $180,000,000 budget has, during the past six months, been quoted as of varying amounts ranging all the way from $44,000,000 to $104,000,000.

ITEMS NOT SUBJECT TO BUDGET.

By frankly including in the budget every State expenditure, all possible grounds of future budget controversy will be removed, the budget requirements of the constitution will be satisfied, and the people of the State will have a complete knowledge of the cost of every department, institution, or activity of their government. The only agencies which can not be included are those which, though established and conducted under State law, do not receive or expend State funds. Such agencies are the State Compensation Insurance Fund, the Public School Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund, the Veterans' Welfare Board, the State Land Settlement Board, the State Reclamation Board, the State Board of Accountancy, and the Board of Pilot Commissioners for San Francisco.

After consultation with the Attorney General in one specific case, it is my opinion, and the opinion of the fiscal officers of the State, that the funds and boards named above should not be included in the budget as connected with State expenditures, since they can not be included in the budget bill as beneficiaries of State appropriations. However, in order that the financial operations of these independent activities may be made known, they are reported in an appendix to the budget herewith submitted, except for the Land Settlement Board and the Board of Pilot Commissioners, which are omitted for the reasons explained in the appendix.

There has been one item inserted by error in both previous budgets—namely, the Division of Printing, which expends only such money as is supplied to it by the various departments, boards, and commissions. The actual expenditure of this money is reflected as one of the expenditures of each of the departments concerned, and the inclusion in former budgets of these same expenditures under the head of Division of Printing is an obvious duplication.

Accordingly the second presentation of these expenditures is omitted from the present budget, both for this biennium, and, in comparative statements, for the preceding biennial periods. A statement of the financial operations of the Division of Printing, including the estimated figures for the coming biennium, is also reported in the appendix to this budget.

WHAT THE BUDGET CONTAINS.

Aside from the items mentioned above as not properly subject to a budget, the budget herewith submitted contains all State expenditures of every kind, irrespective of the agency through which they are made or the sources from which their revenues are secured. For instance, the budget contains large sums for schools, highways, orphan aid, tuberculosis subsidies, and the like, expended in accordance with State law, not by the State directly but through the agency of the counties. All these are properly held by the Controller to be State expenditures.

The money from which all State expenditures are made comes from a variety of sources. Much of it is derived from taxes on public utility corporations, which, in consideration of their contribution toward State support, pay no local county or city taxes on their operative property. Much comes from franchise taxes, inheritance taxes, and the like, contributed by those who also pay local taxes. Much comes in the form of fees, licenses, or special taxes, such as automobile licenses, fish and game licenses, gasoline taxes, harbor revenues, corporation and real estate department fees, and similar sources, the revenue in each case fully sustaining one of the twenty-five or more so-called self-supporting activities of the State. A small part comes from revenues produced from State hospitals, agricultural boards, prisons, commissions and other like activities; while the remainder is secured from federal allotments to our highways and schools. Your attention is directed to section 12, article XIII, of the constitution adopted November 4, 1924, providing for the levy of an annual educational poll tax. The Legislature has not provided for the levy or collection of this tax. For that reason no prospective revenue from this source is estimated to accrue in the budget figures herewith presented to you. The expenditure of money borrowed through bond issues is reflected in the budget only as it is repaid in the form of interest or principal, since this constitutes the only actual State expenditure involved.

The only point here to be stressed is that the budget contains every expenditure of the State, no matter how the money to meet that expenditure is secured. In this way every citizen on examining the budget may get a complete picture of our entire State expenses for every institution, department, or activity of any kind. They are all State expenditures, whatever the agency which spends the money or whatever the source from which the bills are paid.

THE BUDGET BILL.

In conformity with the constitutional requirement, this budget is accompanied by a general appropriation bill, known as the "budget bill." My conviction is that the constitution intends that this budget bill shall be so proposed as to reflect exactly the recommendations of the budget. Accordingly, you will find that every provision of this budget appears in the accompanying budget bill, excepting those items of fixed charges and recurrent appropriations now specifically covered by existing constitutional or statutory enactments.

Certain changes of language, to clarify the budget bill in the light of past experience, have been incorporated after consultation with the State Controller and the Attorney General. I believe that in all these respects the present budget bill will be found a great improvement over any other budget bill heretofore submitted.

SPECIAL APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The constitution clearly contemplates that, as far as possible, every State expenditure shall be included in the budget. Such a procedure would do away with a vast number of special appropriation bills which in the past have contributed so much toward slowing down legislation. For instance, at the last session a hundred of these special appropriation bills were signed, many of which might properly have been given a place in the budget.

In the present budget will be found provisions for the San Joaquin Valley deep water channel, for the completion of the John Muir Trail, for the purchase of land for the State Fair Grounds and for other institutions, and for many similar purposes which have previously been the subjects of special appropriation bills. If any have been inadvertently omitted, it is suggested that they be included by the Board of Control as budget amendments, rather than presented as special acts. In this way we can help to reduce materially the number of bills before the Legislature.

There are bound to be certain appropriations, however, which can not be included in the budget. Among these in the payment of claims, which affect, not the ensuing biennium and its budget, but the present or past bienniums. Neither should increases of statutory salaries nor the compensation of additional statutory officers or employees be included until such increases or additions have been provided by new legislation. Nor can the budget include appropriations for the launching of new projects and policies, such as the expenses of proposed commissions and the like, until you have given to such projects legislative authorization. All other expenditures, I believe, were intended by the constitution to be included within the budget and budget bill. In being thus included they are in no respect removed from the power of the Legislature, since that body has exactly the same relation to the budget bill and its amendments as it has to every other appropriation bill.

TOTAL STATE EXPENDITURES.

As will be noted from an examination of the budget herewith submitted, the total State expenditures for next biennium are estimated at $193,518,165.09. This sum has been arrived at after numerous conferences with the heads of all the institutions and departments of the State—conferences which resulted in reducing the figures submitted to the previous Board of Control by somewhat more than $10,000,000. As will be noted also, the increase of expenditures of this budget over the last is far smaller than any other increase during the past twelve years, as well as probably the smallest percentage of increase in the history of the State.

During the course of the present legislative session, I shall possibly suggest certain amendments to the budget bill submitted at this time. For instance, after solving our main highway problems it may be thought wise to make an appropriation for prison road camps. Partially offsetting this, however, would be a reduction in the maintenance cost of the prisons; so that the actual budget figures will not be materially increased.

OUR INCREASING EXPENDITURES.

Notwithstanding the comparatively small increase in expenditures for the next biennium we can not shut our eyes to the fact that State expenditures during the last decade have grown very rapidly. This growth may be seen by tracing during the past twelve years the total expenditures for each biennium, together with the increase and percentage of increase from one biennium to the next. The figures for the first three of these bienniums are taken from the State Controller's table, "Showing State Expenditures for the Past Fifteen Years." The figures for the last three bienniums are identical with those in the body of this report, and have been compiled by the State Board of Control in consultation with the Controller. They may be easily traced by an examination of the following table:

GROWTH OF STATE EXPENDITURES FOR TWELVE-YEAR PERIOD.

Fiscal years of bienniums	Date limits of bienniums	Total expenditures of bienniums	Increase over previous biennium	Percentage of increase over previous biennium
71st and 72nd	1919-1921	79,687,495.03	$18,564,532.71	30.3%
73rd and 74th	1921-1923	115,448,943.27	35,761,448.24	44.8%
75th and 76th	1923-1925	142,915,833.44	27,466,890.17	23.8%
77th and 78th	1925-1927	180,189,054.40	37,273,220.96	26.0%
79th and 80th	1927-1929	193,518,165.09	13,329,110.69	7.4%

As will be noted the percentage of increase for this biennium over last is 7.4 per cent, as compared with 23.8 per cent, the lowest percentage prior to this time during our twelve-year period. This percentage of increase, for the first time in many years, has been held down to the approximate percentage of the State's growth in population. I need not say that it will be the policy of this administration to continue holding down these increases to the lowest possible figure. It is of course inevitable that expenses must grow with a growing state, but we must exercise constant care that not a dollar is spent which does not bring back one hundred cents worth of efficient service or of absolutely necessary permanent improvements. This is the kind of sound economy that the public demands.

OTHER BUDGET COMPARISONS.

The present constitutional budget provisions have been in effect for the past two biennial periods. For this reason I have presented to you certain comparative tables covering the entire experience under the budget system. You will find among these a comparative table for the periods 1923-1925, 1925-1927, and 1927-1929, reflecting State revenues of every kind, from every source—the first such presentation which has ever been made. Another feature of the table of revenues reflects the disposition of these, indicating which go into the State's general fund and which go into "special funds" dedicated to certain specified uses.

Expenditures of all departments, for all purposes, during the same periods, are likewise presented for the first time. You are invited to make careful comparisons of these expenditures during the three bienniums for each agency or activity in which you are particularly interested.

ANALYSIS OF SURPLUS.

From the report of the State Controller to Governor Richardson, under date of December 14, 1926, I quote the following:

"The general fund surplus will approximate $15,000,000 as of June 30, 1927.

* * * In the event a $5,500,000 appropriation for highway construction, authorized at the last legislative session, is unexpended, the present surplus will be augmented to that extent.

"An analysis of the surplus indicates that it is transitory in character and will be absorbed by increased fixed charges and normal departmental expansion within the next four years. * * *

"The budget for the seventy-ninth and eightieth fiscal years will reduce the general fund surplus to $10,000,000 as a minimum, without taking into consideration special appropriations for road construction or other items commonly provided for at each legislative session."

The Controller in his report properly characterizes this surplus as one which "is transitory in character and will be absorbed by increased fixed charges and normal departmental expansion within the next four years." This period of four years must elapse before we can hope to modify our tax system, should a constitutional change in that system be found necessary. On the basis of the Controller's forecast that the absolutely fixed and unavoidable increases in governmental expense will inevitably absorb our surplus within four years, it is very evident that we must conserve this surplus and make it last as long as possible by the most rigid economy in every direction.

SOURCE OF PRESENT SURPLUS.

It is interesting to note how it has come to pass that we have so large a surplus at this time. This is clearly shown by the same report of the State Controller to Governor Richardson. On his point the Controller says:

"On June 30, 1923, there was a general fund surplus of $4,707,522.11. * * * During the past two years $11,500,000 has been paid into the general fund by railroad companies to cover the impounded taxes as a result of the King tax bill litigation. It is to be observed that the sum so received, plus the surplus on hand as of June 30, 1923, is substantially the present general fund surplus."

In other words, the present surplus, instead of being an accumulation of the past four years, in large part was actually inherited from the earlier administration, either in the form of cash or of impounded money from a suit instituted in 1921. This is an unusual situation which can not be expected to occur a second time. It is therefore imperative that some modification be made in our existing tax system before the accumulated excess of future irreducible expenditures over corresponding future revenues shall have entirely wiped out our surplus now in the treasury.

NECESSITY FOR STUDY OF TAX SYSTEM.

In pointing out these facts I am in no wise assailing our present tax system. In my opinion it is incomparably better than the old system which it supplanted sixteen years ago. The last legislation produced by the present system under the form of the King tax bill—a bill which not only equalized the burden of taxation, but which has also saved the State from an ad valorem tax. If the King tax bill had not been enacted, instead of a surplus we should now be faced with the necessity of levying upon all property owners to meet a $25,000,000 deficit accruing within the past six years.

The only thing to be determined by an investigation of our tax system is whether we can continue to raise the necessary revenues for our growing State by periodic new "King tax bills," or whether we must make some modification of or addition to our present system. To determine this, I trust that the Legislature will authorize the appointment of a tax commission to make a careful study of the entire situation.

CONCLUSION.

The budget which I am here presenting has been prepared under my personal supervision, but it would have been impossible to present it so early in the session had its details not been worked out with an immense amount of labor by the members and accountants of the present Board of Control. To them I wish to express my appreciation for their long hours of faithful service. And to you, the members of the Legislature, I herewith submit these results of our work, confident that each of you will cooperate with me in helping to make this budget a pledge to the people of California that you and I propose to unite in giving to them everything they can possibly desire in the way of an economical and businesslike administration.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 275—An act to add a new section to the Code of Civil Procedure, to be numbered section 1381, and relating to who shall be deemed a party of interest in the matter of estates of deceased persons, incompetent persons and minors, and making the same an urgency measure.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

There are many hundred mentally incompetent persons, wards of this State, for whom guardians of the estate have been appointed to receive, prudently expend and conserve the compensation, pension, insurance or other allowance paid to them or for their use and benefit by the government of the United States, which also bears towards them the relation of parent, guardian and friend. Yet, under the existing law neither the State of California nor the government of the United States, nor any officer or agency of either, has any right or power to appear or to intervene in the proceedings pending in the courts which have jurisdiction of such guardians, for the purpose of aiding such courts in enforcing the due performance of the obligations of the guardians or in otherwise protecting the wards, there being in this State no relatives of or parties interested in such wards who have the power or capacity to appear or intervene in such proceedings for such purposes or at all. In many of such cases the time for the examination and approval or disapproval of the annual account of the guardian is due or overdue and said account will of necessity be heard and passed upon by the court without the aid or assistance of any relative or other party interested in the ward, unless this act takes effect immediately. The departments, bureaus and agencies of the government of the United States mentioned or referred to in the foregoing section are fully equipped adequately so to aid and assist said courts and to conserve the interests of the wards and will do so as soon as this act takes effect. That many of such wards have been and are being victimized and mulcted of the substance of their estates by designing persons who have gained power and influence over such wards and have thereby procured themselves to be appointed such guardians. In the majority of such cases the opportunity to curb such defalcations and to recoup from the wrongdoer and his bondsmen the loss already sustained will have passed, if this act does not take effect immediately.

Sacramento, California.*

DEAR MRS. WOODBRIDGE: As you were one of those who took a prominent part in the introduction and passage of the act of the Legislature making provision for California's participation in the Nevada Transcontinental Highways Exposition, to be held at Reno, June 29 to August 5, 1927, I am pleased to inform you that the California building is completed, and is a credit to the architect and the builders. It is of Mission architecture.

Everything is moving nicely, applications for county exhibit space are coming in rapidly, and the exposition proper has gotten to the point where it is an assured success. Reno is going to give us a wonderful show, typical of the West and great out doors, and California will do her part, both as to exhibits of her wares, and also as to genuine hospitality toward the visitor.

Should the members of the Legislature desire to make the trip to Reno some time in the future, say during the second part of the session, I would be glad to make the necessary arrangements with the exposition management for the dedication of the California building and with the Reno people for their reception and entertainment.

Yours very truly,

W. A. SHEPARD,
Commissioner for California.

MOTION.

Senator Ingram moved, seconded by Senator Murphy, that the President of the Senate appoint a committee of five to meet with a like committee from the Assembly to arrange and select the date for dedicating the California building for the Nevada Transcontinental Highways Exposition at Reno, Nevada.

The first Senator named on the conference committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the House, and the chairman thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

Committee on Conference.

If either house shall violate a joint rule a question of order may be raised in the other house and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such house; and if it shall be decided that the joint rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the house in which it originated, without further action. WHEREAS, The shooting of rabbits throughout the entire year and the shooting of doves during the months of September and October tend to exterminate all wild life, especially because the hunters do not distinguish between the open season and the closed season once they are in the field and often shoot quail out of season and doves out of season when they are shooting rabbits, and vice versa; and

WHEREAS, The game laws governing the protection of rabbits in District No. 4 are not enforced; and

WHEREAS, Under the substantive game law there is no limit on the number of rabbits that may be killed in District No. 4; and

WHEREAS, The promiscuous and uncontrolled use of firearms by inexperienced hunters and others is causing great destruction to all living things and in particular is causing great destruction to farmers and agriculturists; and

WHEREAS, The protection of our bird and animal life is of great value to the agriculturists; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the undersigned, do hereby petition the Legislature of the State of California and the Fish and Game Commission of the State of California to enact laws and statutes so that the dove and rabbit seasons come at the same time and are of two weeks duration, preferably the first two weeks of September; and be it further

Resolved, That the limit of rabbits in Game District No. 4 be placed at fifteen per day and thirty per week, the same as in other districts in the State of California; and be it further

Resolved, That the cotton-tail and brush rabbit be taken from the predatory classification; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be mailed to the farm bureau of the county of Riverside, State of California, to other county farm bureaus in the State and to the California State Farm Bureau headquarters.

Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairman of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Scope of Word "Bill."

4. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these rules it shall include constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions.

5. Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the federal government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

Resolutions Treated as Bills.

6. Joint resolutions, concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that they shall be read but one time in each house, and that they shall not be deemed bills within the meaning of section 2 of article IV of the constitution, and shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction. As in the case of bills, they shall be engrossed in the house in which they originate before being voted upon.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Title of Bill.

7. The title of every bill introduced shall convey an accurate idea of the contents of the bill and shall be indicative of the scope of the act and the object to be accomplished. In amending a code section, the mere reference to the section by number shall not be deemed sufficient.

Division of Bill Into Sections.

8. Bills amending more than one section of existing laws shall contain a separate section for each section amended.

Bills which are not amendatory of existing laws shall be divided into short sections, where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section, to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.

Changes from Existing Laws to be Marked by Author.

9. In case of a bill amending a code section, or general law, all omissions must be shown by the insertion of heavy parentheses or brackets without including the omitted matter; all additions must be shown by underlining the new matter. When printed, the new matter so underlined shall be enclosed in heavy brackets in the printed bill and also heavy brackets shall be retained to show omissions.

Committee on Revision and Printing to Examine Bills When Introduced.

10. Unless otherwise ordered by the house in which the bill was introduced, all bills before being printed shall be immediately sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing, which shall examine the bill, with the aid of the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The committee, by and with the written assent of the author filed with it, shall have authority to correct any clerical error such as in orthography, adding or correcting the enacting clause, mistakes in numbering sections and references thereto, errors in grammar, phraseology, or in the form of the bill; provided, that no bill which bears the stamp of the Legislative Counsel Bureau showing that before introduction it has been examined as to form, shall be sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing.

NOTE—The submission of bill copy to Legislative Counsel Bureau for approval of form before introduction will expedite its course.

Bills Introduced to Indicate Changes in Existing Laws.

11. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall see to it that rules 7 and 9 of these joint rules are observed by the author, and that the bill shall not be sent to the printer until the provisions of these rules have been carried out.

Reports of Committee on Revision and Printing.

12. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall return to the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly all bills in the order in which they were sent to it, but shall not retain any bill for longer than three legislative days, unless otherwise ordered.

Endorsement of Date of Introduction.

13. Bills introduced in either house shall be endorsed with the date of introduction.

PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS.

Manner of Printing Bills, etc.

14. The State Printer shall observe the following directions in printing all bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions:

(a) The body of such bills and resolutions shall be printed in solid unspaced form so that the same type shall be used both before and after enrollment.

(b) All titles of bills, resolutions, etc., shall be set in italics, statute form, and the length of the lines used in the titles shall not exceed that of the body of the bill.

(c) The lines of all printed bills shall be numbered by page and not by sections, and amendments shall be identified by reference to title, page and line only; provided, however, that concurrent resolutions approving city or county or city and county charters or amendments thereto may be set in smaller type and without line numbers.

(d) Enrolled bills may be inclosed in stock cover.

Printing of Amendments.

15. All bills amended by either house shall be immediately reprinted; in the case new matter is added by the amendment such new matter shall be printed in italics in the printed bill, and in the case of matter being omitted, the matter to be omitted shall be printed in type bearing a horizontal line through the center, and commonly known as "strike out" type. When a bill is amended in either house, the first or previous markings shall be omitted. When a bill amendatory of a code section is engrossed, all figures or symbols shall be removed.

Distribution of Bills During Constitutional Recess.

16. All requests for mailing or distribution by the members shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly, who shall compile the same with the elimination of duplication as a general mailing list. The distribution of bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions shall be systematized as follows: Members' desks and legislative officers' files one hundred fifty full sets; to authors fifty copies of their own bills; accredited newspaper representatives twenty-five; to public and law libraries, newspapers, county officials, and other civic, commercial, fraternal or industrial organizations as the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly may compile from the recommendations of the members of both houses, one thousand two hundred copies; to State officers, State Library and Secretary of State, two hundred copies; to legislative committees, bill room files and public requests confined to single copies of bills designated, one thousand copies. The State Printer shall cause to be printed in the standard form adopted by the Senate and the Assembly as many copies of all bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions as may be necessary to conform to the provisions of this rule.

A similar number and distribution shall be made of the semifinal history and final calendar.

Distribution of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

17. Following the recess, new bills introduced shall be forwarded to the public libraries and law libraries only, and one copy each of amended bills as may be requested. Weekly histories and journals shall be distributed generally, following the recess, upon such schedule as the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly may designate.

OTHER LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

18. The State Printer shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of each house; at the end of the session he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged after being corrected and indexed by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly, to bind in book form as the Journal of the respective houses of the Legislature as required by law.

What Shall Be Printed in the Journal.

19. The following shall always be printed in the Journal of each house:

(a) Messages from the Governor and messages from the other house, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when introduced in, offered to, or acted upon by the house, and the title and text of joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when adopted by the house; provided, that in the case of a concurrent resolution approving the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments need not be printed in the Journal.

(b) Every vote taken in the house, and a statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the house.

(c) A true and accurate account of the proceedings of the house, when not acting as a committee of the whole.

20. A file of bills ready for consideration shall be printed each day for each house, and copies of the file of each house shall be distributed each day to all of the members of both houses.

Printing of History.

21. Each house shall cause to be printed on Monday of each week, during the session, a complete History of all bills, joint or concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments originating in, or acted upon by the respective houses.

Such History shall show the action taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance.

For each legislative day intervening there shall be printed a Supplementary History showing the action taken upon any measure since the issuance of the complete History. A regular form shall be prescribed and no other form shall be used.

Immediately following the adjournment for the constitutional recess the History shall be compiled and printed to date of recess.

Authority for Printing Orders.

22. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for use of either house any matter other than provided by law or by these rules, except upon a written order signed by the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the Assembly. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly may also, when necessity requires it, order certain matter printed in advance of the regular order, by the issuance of a rush order.

RECORD OF BILLS.

Secretary and Chief Clerk to Keep Register.

23. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

Secretary and Chief Clerk Shall Endorse Bills.

24. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall endorse on every original bill a statement of any action taken by the Senate and Assembly

ACTION IN ONE HOUSE ON BILL TRANSMITTED FROM THE OTHER.

Bills Read and Referred to Committee.

25. When a Senate bill has been received by the Assembly or an Assembly bill by the Senate, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate or Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time by the Secretary or the Chief Clerk and referred to a standing committee by the presiding officer, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

After a Bill Has Been Passed by the Senate or Assembly.

Passage of Bills Taking Effect Immediately.

33. Each house shall act in the usual course upon all bills that may be made to take effect immediately, under the provisions of section 1, article IV of the constitution.

Passage of Urgency Provisions in Bills.

34. Upon the third reading of an act which is an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1, article IV of the State constitution, the presiding officer shall direct that the section of said act setting forth the facts constituting the necessity for such urgency (which shall be known as the urgency section) be then read and put to vote. The question shall be thus stated: "Shall this section setting forth the urgency features of this bill be passed?" If upon such final vote two-thirds of all the members elected to the house in which the vote is being taken shall not vote in the affirmative, no further action shall be taken on the bill; but, in case an identical bill without such an emergency clause be again introduced into such house, such bill shall be placed on file without reference to any committee.

Passage of Bills Preceding Final Adjournment.

After a bill shall have been thus passed in each house, it shall be presented by the engrossing and enrolling committee of the house in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first indorsed by the presiding officers of the two houses, and by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the house in which the bill originated.

Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the house in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be; provided, however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the house in which such bill originated.

To Concur or Refuse to Concur in Amendments.

39. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If they refuse to recede, the presiding officer shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other house of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each house shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each house of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the conference committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the house, and the chairman thus elected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

Committee on Conference.

41. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one house and dissented from in the other, if either house shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other house shall appoint a like committee; and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the respective chairmen of the committees.

Committee on Free Conference.

42. If the conference fail to agree or either house refuse to adopt the report of the committee, a Committee on Free Conference shall then be appointed, which shall consist of three members from each house, to be constituted and appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference. The Committee on Free Conference is hereby directed to include in its report any amendments which it may adopt as a committee, and such amendments shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either house refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of a Committee on Free Conference on the same bill.

When Conference Committee Report Is in Order.

43. The presentation of the report of a committee on conference or free conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

Dispensing With Joint Rules.

48. No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each house; and joint rules 27 and 35 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said joint rules. If either house shall violate a joint rule a question of order may be raised in the other house and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such house; and if it shall be decided that the joint rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the house in which it originated, without further action. Resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of El Centro, California:

WHEREAS, A so-called "Two-Platoon Bill" (Assembly Bill No. 20) was on January 11, 1927, introduced by Assemblywoman Woodbridge, of Placer County, and referred to the Committee on Labor and Capital; and,

WHEREAS, A companion bill (Senate Bill No. 214) was on January 18, 1927, introduced by Senator Maloney, San Francisco, and referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations; and,

WHEREAS, If either of said proposed bills should be enacted into law, it would render it mandatory for all counties, city and county, cities, towns, districts, or other political subdivisions of this State either to increase the number of the present members of their paid fire departments (the cost of which would be out of all proportion to the benefits derived or added protection extended), or (if such step could not be afforded) to "split" their present fire forces into two shifts or platoons, thereby greatly impairing the departments' efficiency; and,

WHEREAS, Cities and towns of the sixth class—the smallest municipalities of the State—would be the greatest sufferers if such proposed legislation were enacted; and,

WHEREAS, It is the consensus of opinion that said question is one for the self-determination of the various communities that would be affected, by reason of different conditions that prevail in various parts of the State and the varying sizes of the communities; and that such a measure should not be arbitrarily imposed upon them by legislation. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the board of trustees of the city of El Centro, California, that this board go on record as opposing and being unalterably opposed to said Senate Bill No. 214 and said Assembly Bill No. 20; and be it further

PRESENTATION OF DECISION OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The following decision of Attorney General was presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Inman:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 2, 1927.

*Hon. J. M. Inman,
Chairman of Subcommittee,
Sacramento, California.*

MY DEAR SIR: Heretofore you addressed this office as follows:

"As a subcommittee of one of the committees investigating the water situation, I have been directed to call your attention to a resolution which was passed by the committee substantially as follows:

"That the Attorney General be directed to investigate the contract between the said Board of Prison Directors, et al., and American River Hydro-Electric Company, et al., dated the fourth day of September, 1926, with particular reference to its application to Assembly Bill 1206, 1925 session, being chapter No. 65, together with any and all circumstances surrounding the same, and that if in your opinion after such investigation and consideration of said contract you find for any reason it is void or questionable as to legality, an action be instituted by your office to set the same aside."

"I might say for your information that a copy of said contract may be found in the office of State Board of Control or State Treasurer."

Since the receipt of this communication the subject presented has been given consideration, but I have not made any examination of the facts or circumstances preceding the passage and approval of the act in question, nor have I considered at all the negotiations preceding the actual entry into the contract to which your letter refers.

The act in question is as follows:

"An act authorizing the State Board of Prison Directors to enter into a contract for the improvement and extension of the system for the supplying of water and electricity to the State Prison at Folsom without cost to the State.

"The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

"Section 1. The State Board of Prison Directors is hereby authorized to enter into a contract with a private corporation, firm or individual for the alteration without cost to the State of the existing power plant in the prison yard of the State Prison at Folsom for the betterment and increase of its electrical output, and for such an additional water supply from the American River as may be adequate for irrigation and domestic use by the prison. The Board of Prison Directors is authorized for this purpose to grant to a private corporation, firm or individual, for a proper consideration, the necessary lands, easements, rights of way, flowage rights and other appurtenances necessary to the economical supplying of water and electricity to the State Prison at Folsom."

It will be noted that the subject expressed in the title is the authorization of a contract by the prison board for the improvement and extension of the water and electric supply system at Folsom State Prison without cost to the State. Two distinct limitations are by this title placed upon the powers of the board. One confines the contract to the improvement and extension of the system for supplying water and electricity to said prison, and the other requires that any such contract shall be without cost to the State. Within these general purposes, but also subject to those limitations, it would be proper for the body of the act to specify with more particularity the manner in which and the means by which such object is to be accomplished, that object being the improvement and extension of the prison water and electric supply system without cost to the State and to be attained through the performance of a contract entered into by the board having that objective point as its aim. Beyond that the body of the act cannot go and any additional subject expressed in the body of the act must be held void. Under no circumstances can the body of the act serve, or be construed, to enlarge the scope of the title. On the contrary, anything done under the body of the act can find its legal support only when that thing falls within what might be done under a fair and liberal construction of the single subject expressed in the title. The purpose of the constitutional provision dealing with titles to acts is to protect the members of the Legislature as well as the public against fraud from deceitful and misleading titles.

Ex parte Liddell, 93 Cal. 633;

Abel vs. Clark, 84 Cal. 226.

It is not enough that the title contains words which would put a reader on notice of the body of the act. It must contain full authorization within itself. Thus where a title contained the words "and for other purposes" it was held not to validate provisions in the body of the act which were not germane to those specified in the title.

Spier vs. Baker, 120 Cal. 370.

While the title contains authority to contract, such contract is to be without cost to the State. The man of average mind reading such title does not conceive of a contract as based upon a valuable consideration, but thinks of the term only as meaning an agreement, and he is certainly confirmed in this thought when he reads further that it is to be without cost to the State. Surely this title is misleading if the thought that the action of the board is to be without cost to the State is to be overridden by the thought that the object is to be attained by a contract which implies the parting with consideration by the State.

Turning now to the body of the act, we observe that it consists of one section, divided into two sentences.

The first sentence contains an authorization to the board to enter into a contract with a private corporation, firm or individual, (1) for the alteration, without cost to the State, of the existing power plant in the prison yard for the betterment and increase of its electrical output, and (2) for such an additional water supply from the American River as may be adequate for irrigation and domestic use by the prison. While the phrase "without cost to the State" is not in express terms repeated as to the water supply and would not be applicable thereto if the sentence stood by itself, yet it would appear permissible at this point, knowing that the body of the act can not go beyond the title and must be subordinate thereto, to hold that the procurement of the additional water supply must also be without cost to the State. I think there can be no question but that a contract "for the alteration * * * of the existing power plant" is included in the power to contract "for the improvement and extension of the system for the supplying of * * * electricity," and likewise a contract "for such additional water supply from the American River as may be adequate for irrigation and domestic use by the prison" is embraced in the power to contract "for the improvement and extension of the system for the supplying of water * * * to the State Prison at Folsom." Thus all provisions of the first sentence are embraced in the title.

The second sentence purports to confer additional authority upon the board in an asserted furtherance of the purposes expressed in the first sentence, and it is this additional authority thus sought to be conferred which in my opinion goes beyond the purview of the title and is in direct conflict therewith and invalid.

The additional authority so sought to be conferred on the board is "to grant to a private corporation, firm or individual, for a proper consideration, the necessary lands, easements, rights of way, flowage rights and other appurtenances necessary to the economical supplying of water and electricity to the State Prison at Folsom."

One of the two limitations, and unquestionably the principal one, noted in the title and borne out in the first sentence of the body of the act, is that the attainment of the object of the contract is to be without cost to the State. Of course every contract must be founded upon a valuable consideration, but it does not follow that the consideration must necessarily move from each of the contracting parties. One party to a contract may be entitled to performance of obligations by the other and the right to such performance may come from benefits conferred upon that other without such benefits being at the cost or expense, in money or property, of the one entitled to performance. True there may be in a contract for supplying one with electricity or water the grant by that one of the use of his land for the purpose of erecting thereon poles and wires or laying pipes therein, which facilities may continue to be the property of the one supplying the service and by means of which the service may be carried to others than the owner of the land, without any cost to such owner other than the mere incidental use of his land. But it is a far different thing when the one to whom such service is supplied pays directly, either with money or property, in consideration for such service. In no sense can such service be said to be without cost to the one supplied therewith. It is therefore not in furtherance of the thought that the attainment of the object of the contract shall be without cost to the State when the contract, or the performance thereof, is obtained only as a result of a grant in fee of the property of the State, and so too regardless of whether such grant is for a monetary consideration, proper or otherwise, in addition to the service contracted for.

The very fact that private parties would find in the rights secured by them through such contract sufficient justification for paying the entire consideration mentioned in the contract for the conveyance of the lands of the State evidences the fact that there lies in those lands so conveyed a value commensurate with the monetary consideration to be paid. In this very fact the State is parting with value, and incurring cost, in securing the improvement and extension of the system for supplying water and electricity to the prison.

It may be conceded that under this title there is contemplated such use of State property as would be appropriate toward the improvement and extension of the existing system for supplying water and electricity to the State prison. No one, however, reading this title would surmise that any contract entered into thereunder would, or that it was intended that it should, authorize the Board of Prison Directors to grant or convey for any consideration lands or other property of the State.

No private individual who had delegated to an agent authority to enter into a contract for the lighting of his grounds or to supply him with additional water facilities would concede that he had thereby empowered that agent to grant away for a consideration part of his lands.

The provision in the second sentence authorizing the grant of lands is therefore not in furtherance but in direct contradiction of the limitation of the title.

I well know that the title to an act does not have to be a synopsis or compendium of the matter contained in the body of the act, but that it is sufficient if it fairly states the object and purposes which might be included under that title within the body of the act and which would be appropriate for the accomplishment of the general purposes stated in the title. I am also aware that the courts have shown a tendency toward leniency in the interpretation of titles to acts but I cannot bring myself to believe that a court could fairly construe the second sentence of this act to be within the purview of the title. If the second sentence is within the title of this act then the Board of Prison Directors would have the power to make such contract without that second sentence because it would then be fairly implied within the title and the first sentence of the act. If such is the case then the people are in truth at the mercy of any board or officer to whom a power is given to enter into a contract to obtain a service of the character mentioned in the title. In that event such board or officer would have the power to deed away state lands, though the subject of such conveyance, or the thought thereof, might be far from the minds of the Legislature or of the people vesting such power of contract in the officers in question.

By the contract in question, dated September 4, 1926, the State Board of Prison Directors as party of the first part in consideration of the sum of $150,000, to be paid as hereinafter provided, and the agreements and promises therein contained, agrees to sell, transfer and convey to the American River Hydro-Electric Company, as party of the second part, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter specified, certain real property hereinafter described, containing in all 560 acres of land more or less (this land being part of the lands belonging to the State at Folsom and now under jurisdiction of the prison board), together with the appurtenances but excepting all existing riparian water rights belonging to the first party, it being further agreed that all water rights of any character, riparian or otherwise, inherent in the State by virtue of its ownership of said lands, are expressly reserved to the State and are not included in any sale or transfer of said lands hereunder.

It is stated in the contract that in consideration of the premises and of such agreement to sell, transfer and convey, the second party agrees to purchase said property and pay said first party therefor, in addition to the other considerations therein provided for, the sum of $150,000 as hereinafter specified. It is then stated in the contract that in further consideration of such agreement to sell, transfer and convey said second party agrees to furnish said first party perpetually and free of all cost and expense to said first party, from and after the date of the completion of the dam hereinafter mentioned, such amount of water from the American River as shall be necessary for domestic and other uses of the State Prison at Folsom, together with the water necessary for the proper irrigation of the real property belonging to said State prison, and also, within one year from the date construction work on said dam is commenced, at the central switchboard in its present power house at Folsom State Prison, the maximum amount of electric energy capable of being generated by the remodeled prison power plant hereinafter referred to and within three years from the commencement of such construction work, at said central switchboard, an amount of electrical energy sufficient to operate continuously a connected load up to 900 horsepower for use upon the property of said first party. The contract further permits the second party the use of the present power drop and power house.

The contract then provides that in further consideration of said agreement to sell, transfer and convey said second party agrees to construct a dam across the American River sufficient to impound 300,000 acre feet of water, observing certain conditions hereinafter stated. The contract contains other features, not necessary to here note, but all looking to the service to be rendered by said second party and the reservation by the State of the control of flood waters, but providing also for the sale to the general public by said second party of the waters impounded.

While the contract contains many other provisions I shall not attempt to summarize the same. I have noted some of the principal provisions which I believe sufficiently show that in this contract the State is not obtaining without cost to itself that which it was the intent of the title of the act that it should obtain. On the contrary the entire contract clearly shows that the improvements sought by the title to be secured to the State without cost are to be obtained only upon the condition that the State part with the title to 560 acres of land. While it is true that the State receives $150,000 that sum is paid not only for the lands but also for all other rights obtained by the second party under the contract and surely the contract would not have been made if the lands were not to be obtained from the State.

It is my view that the second sentence is not within the title and in fact is in direct conflict with the express limitation in the title. For that reason any contract seeking to carry out the provisions of the second sentence is to that extent void.

Should an attempt be made by the parties to carry out this contract the consequences resulting therefrom are far more serious to the American Hydro-Electric Company than to the State, for those dealing with the agents of the State are charged with the knowledge of and are bound at their peril to ascertain the extent of the power of such agents and if the authority of the State agent is exceeded the State is not bound thereby and the question of the excess of such authority can be raised at any time.

If it be the desire of the Legislature and of the parties to this contract that a valid contract of the character here involved be executed, the accomplishment of such purpose, it occurs to me, may yet be achieved. The Legislature is in session and it is conceivable that if such be the desire that an act authorizing the State Board of Prison Directors to do that which it is attempted here to do without authority be passed.

The contract provides that there shall be paid to the State Board of Prison Directors on or before March 4, 1927, as the purchase price of this land, the sum of $150,000, but the act not having authorized the sale of this land, it will be the duty of the State Board of Prison Directors, if and when such tender is made, to refuse its acceptance.

The resolution of your committee suggests the commencement of such suit as may be necessary to protect the interests of the State. I do not conceive that the commencement of any suit at this time is requisite. All that can be accomplished by suit will be accomplished by the refusal of the Board of Prison Directors to accept the payment referred to.

Very truly yours,

U. S. WEBB, Attorney General.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE.

The following report of the Joint Committee under Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 16, pertaining to the water resources of California, was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY FOR AN INTENSIVE STUDY OF THE WATER RESOURCES OF CALIFORNIA AND THE STATE ENGINEER'S COORDINATED PLAN FOR THEIR DEVELOPMENT.

J. C. GARRISON, Chairman.
FRANK S. BOGGS,
J. M. INMAN,
HERBERT C. JONES,

Senate Members.
E. G. ADAMS, Secretary.
VAN BERNARD,
B. S. CRITTENDEN,
F. W. MIXTER,

Assembly Members.

Authority: Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 16.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

The joint committee of the Senate and Assembly appointed pursuant to Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 16 respectfully submits its report and recommendations. By the resolution authorizing this committee, the committee was directed "to make a further study of the records of the State Engineer, pertaining to the subject of this resolution and to report its findings and submit its recommendations to this Legislature at the forty-seventh session thereof not later than the first week in March, 1927."

The committee immediately upon commencing its work became impressed with the magnitude of the project contemplated and the momentous consequences to follow any decision of the Legislature.

The development of the water resources of the State constitute incomparably the most gigantic and far-reaching problem in the field of material development today confronting California. Here is involved the last great natural resource of the State. The project, if and when completed, is estimated to cost an enormous sum of money. Its 262 contemplated reservoirs, with a capacity of 50,000,000 acre-feet of water, bringing into production 1,500,000 acres of new land, will create new agricultural values, furnish a new supply of water for domestic purposes, a new source of power for industry and household uses, will control floods, check salt water inundation, possibly revive hydraulic mining—in a word, it will affect the daily life of every person within the confines of our State. Here is a priceless heritage that must be kept under the control of the State, for it is a fact well established by history that the agency which controls the natural resources of any state or nation controls the destiny of its people.

The State government has for many years recognized the importance of the conservation of the State's water resources. A new chapter was begun six years ago in the State's attention to the water problem when in 1921 the Legislature appropriated $200,000 with which the State Engineer should make a comprehensive investigation of the water resources of the State. State-wide recognition of the importance of this work was given in 1923, when the Chambers of Commerce of San Francisco and Los Angeles advanced $90,000 for the study of a first unit of a comprehensive plan that would relieve the stress in a section of the state most in need of an imported water supply. The Legislature of 1925 repaid this money and appropriated $150,000 additional for the completion of the investigation. A total of $440,000 has been expended by the State during the six years. A mass of invaluable engineering data has been gathered, and a coordinated plan of development proposed in which the State is under no moral obligation by having received financial assistance from any special interest.

THREE MAJOR PROBLEMS.

In taking up its study, your committee immediately recognized that the problem consisted of three major phases: engineering, legal and financial. These three different phases will be taken up and discussed separately.

ENGINEERING.

Immediately after organizing, your committee called a public hearing to be held in the Senate Chamber, January 26th and 27th. At this hearing State Engineer Bailey and his assistants were present with maps and data. The coordinated plan was explained more in detail than shown in Bulletin No. 12. The plan has been denominated a "Coordinated Plan," for the reason that it coordinates irrigation, power development, flood control, hydraulic mining, salt water control and navigation. Representatives of irrigation and water interests from all over the State were present, including those whose interests are affected by the salt water menace at the junction of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. A keen interest was apparent throughout the hearings. In addition to his able presentation of the plan, State Engineer Bailey answered readily and clearly innumerable questions from the committee and from the floor. A complete transcript of the hearings has been made and is now on file with the chairman of the committee. Chief Engineer Barton of the State Reclamation Board was present and at the request of the committee submitted a report as to the value of the coordinated plan in the matter of flood control. The conclusion or summary of his report is attached hereto and marked Exhibit "A".

CONCLUSIONS.

1. That the coordinated plan, while it is endorsed by many eminent engineers, is of such huge magnitude that it would take months of intensive study and public hearings before your committee would feel justified in making a recommendation as to its practicability upon which the Legislature could take any action.

2. If attempted, construction should proceed progressively upon a unit basis which should be worked out in harmony with existing and future local projects.

3. Adequate legislative machinery must be provided for the execution and operation of the plan, if adopted.

LLEGAL.

Immediately upon beginning its hearings it became apparent to your committee that the execution of the coordinated plan would bring it in direct conflict with a most serious legal obstacle—the rights of riparian owners along the streams involved. Your committee felt that it could do no greater service to the State as a whole than to seek relief from the doctrine of wasteful riparian rights, a doctrine set forth in the recent decision of the Supreme Court of California in the Herminghaus case and substantiated by a long line of court decisions. This doctrine, we believe, if carried out without limit, would not only make the accomplishment of the coordinated plan practically impossible, but would endanger the rights of thousands of California's citizens whose very existence depends upon appropriated water rights.

Realizing the seriousness of this situation, your committee appointed a subcommittee to meet with legal authorities upon water rights, Supreme Court and appellate court justices, judges of our trial courts, and legal representatives of all different interests affected.

The subcommittee made its report to this committee on February 9th, a copy of the subcommittee's report being appended hereto and marked Exhibit "B."

Public hearings were held in the Senate Chamber on February 15th, 16th and 17th, for the consideration of this legal problem. At these hearings the general public was invited and participated in the discussions. Representatives of the various interests affected expressed themselves in support of and in opposition to the suggestions set forth in the subcommittee's report.

As a result of the three days' hearings of this legal problem, one proposition stood out amidst all the discussions, namely: that private property in water rights can not be taken without compensation. However much it might be wished that the law were otherwise in respect to the riparian doctrine, we must face it as it is. The one thing, therefore, upon which there was a unanimous conviction on the part of the committee, was that legal machinery should be set up for expeditiously acquiring, by condemnation, the private property in water rights necessary for the consummation of the coordinated plan.

In connection with the legal aspects of this problem, your committee wishes to call attention to Assembly Bill No. 1206, of the 1925 session, under which there was sold to private parties the Folsom Reservoir site on the American River, a site constituting an important unit of the coordinated plan. The committee felt that in view of the possibility of the adoption of the coordinated plan that the Folsom site should not have been permitted to pass from State ownership. From the hearings it appeared that the present plans of the private owners are not in harmony with the coordinated plan, at least in the matter of flood control, and that the contemplated construction by the private owners affords no dependable protection to North Sacramento against floods.

The committee found that doubt exists both as to the legality of the contract of purchase in possibly exceeding the authority given under Bill No. 1206, and also as to the legality of the bill itself because of the doubt as to whether the title properly sets forth the purpose of the bill. For these reasons the committee unanimously passed a resolution asking the Attorney General to investigate the entire matter of the legality of the sale of the Folsom site.

A transcript of the hearings before the committee on the legal aspects of the coordinated plan has also been made and is on file with the chairman of the committee.

CONCLUSIONS.

(1) That a State Water Commission should be created, vested with jurisdiction to investigate, hear and determine claims to the use of water, to hear and determine proceedings in eminent domain for the taking of water for public use, and regulation of the distribution thereof, and to fix the just compensation to be paid for the taking of such water.

(2) In view of the possibility of the adoption and execution by the State of California of the coordinated plan, this committee feels that the State of California should at once take the necessary steps, either through its proper officials or by legislation, to file on, or withdraw from filing by private parties, the water rights to be utilized and required for the consummation of the co-ordinated plan.

FINANCIAL.

The financing of the co-ordinated plan is such a stupendous task that your committee has been unable, in the few weeks we have had to consider this problem, to enter into this phase of the matter except in a very general way. The benefits to be obtained from this development are so many and varied, the effect upon the economic structure of our basic industry of agriculture so far reaching, that a plan which is economically sound can only be worked out after long and painstaking study.

The irrigation projects of our State which have gone ahead, pioneered the principle of irrigation, and built up an adequate water supply of their own, cannot be expected to consent to an increase of their already too heavy tax burden except as it would directly benefit them or the State as a whole. Likewise, lands so located that nature has failed to make a sufficient supply of water available or has provided an excess of water creating a flood hazard cannot be expected to bear the entire burden of correcting nature's mistake. Navigation, flood control, salt water encroachment, and control of mining debris, all are matters in which the Federal, as well as the State, government is interested to a very appreciable degree.

The bringing of additional arid land into production by irrigation and into competition with the lands now under production and suffering from an appalling agricultural depression due to over-production, faulty distribution, or both, must be handled in a way which will not wreck the economic structure of the whole State. However, long prior to the consummation of the co-ordinated plan, there is every indication that the demand for agricultural products, both within this State and throughout the nation, will be such as to absorb every bit of California's agricultural production. The present rate of increase of California's population, and the growth that must come with the industrial and manufacturing expansion of the future will, beyond question, create new demands and markets for the products of the soil that will overtake the State's ability to produce. The present depression and overproduction will have passed long before a consummation of the co-ordinated plan.

No present or contemplated project can be expected to release its present water supply or any part of it unless the supply offered in exchange is equally as economical and dependable.

The entire project for the co-ordinated plan depends in its final analysis upon the practical question of whether the benefits received will justify the outlay required. In order to justify itself, and merit the endorsement of the State, the Legislature should be convinced that the benefits outweigh the enormous cost. This involves the whole financial and economic aspect of the project. It presents also the question of what agencies shall contribute financially to the cost—what proportion the Federal government will be willing to pay in the interest of navigation, flood control and possibly irrigation, what proportion the State of California will be willing to pay in the interests of increased prosperity of all its people, what proportion specific interests should pay—irrigationists, power consumers, domestic water, hydraulic mining and saline control.

This financial-economic aspect presents a problem so vast that we feel it can not be solved except by long continued, careful study and investigation. The State Engineer, in Bulletin No. 12, says:

"So extensive is the area, so many and varied are the interests, and so great are the expenditures involved in this plan that the usual method of procedure is impracticable. The economic, financial, legal and political problems relating to its execution are so complex and far reaching that they should be the subject of careful deliberation. The broad values and public advantages of the plan should be weighed with the costs and difficulties. Methods of execution, of operation and of financing should be considered along with the extent to which costs should be distributed."

The engineer then states that in view of the intricate nature of these problems and their momentous bearing on the future of California, that there should be a thorough investigation for the purpose of determining:

First—The practicability of carrying out the co-ordinated plan;

Second—If found to be practical, the recommendation of a method of procedure. With the State Engineer's recommendation that there be this thorough investigation, your committee is in accord.

GENERAL CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

In this brief report your committee has endeavored to give to your honorable body in as few words as possible a general perspective of the entire situation as we find it, and to recommend, after serious study, what we consider to be a sound method of procedure. Your committee feels very definitely that this is a matter in which, urgent as some of the needs are, the only safe policy is to make haste slowly. Any policy or plan precipitated without the most painstaking consideration is sure to result in disaster. No loss of time will result in this investigation as it will take approximately two years for the adoption by the people of the necessary change in the constitution to permit the undertaking of the co-ordinated plan.

Such investigation, as a result of which the State may be asked to undertake a project of such magnitude, and which the Legislature may be requested to approve, should be made by a committee of State officials, elected by and answerable to, the people of the State.

I.

That a legislative committee of four members of the Assembly and four members of the Senate be appointed as a permanent committee during the next two years, to continue this intensive study, to confer with the proper federal authorities, and to hold hearings of all those concerned in the development or use of the water resources of the State, with a view to making a final report to the forty-eighth session of the Legislature. That said committee be authorized to hold public hearings in any part of the State, to the end that the public may be fully taken into its confidence and that the committee may receive first-hand knowledge of the effect of the plan on the local conditions of each community. A copy of the bill to provide for such committee is hereunto attached and marked Exhibit "C."

II.

That the Governor of the State be authorized and requested by the Legislature to communicate with the President of the United States and invoke the aid of the federal government in establishing a basis for the execution of the coordinated plan. A copy of a resolution making such request of the Governor is hereunto attached and marked Exhibit "D."

III.

That the printing of Bulletins 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 of the Department of Public Works be continued, in accordance with arrangements made and funds provided by the Board of Control since the convening of the Legislature, in order that this valuable information may be available to those so vitally interested in the water situation.

IV.

That a constitutional amendment be submitted by this Legislature providing for the creation of the State Water Commission mentioned in this report, said constitutional amendment to be in substantially the form set forth in Exhibit "E," hereto attached.

V.

That the State, either through its proper officials or by legislation, at once, file on, or withdraw from filing by private parties, the water rights to be utilized and required under the coordinated plan. A copy of the necessary legislation to accomplish this end is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "F."

VI.

That the Governor be requested to ask the Attorney General, in the event that he deems invalid the legislation of the 1925 session, for the sale of the Folsom reservoir site, or the contract executed pursuant to such legislation, to institute legal proceedings for the cancellation of said contract, and the reacquiring by the State of the title to said property. A copy of the necessary resolution is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "G."

The legislation proposed by your committee we believe to be absolutely necessary if California is to continue to develop her water resources in security. Therefore, your committee submits the foregoing report and commends the recommendations therein contained to your favorable consideration.

CONCLUSIONS.

Our conclusions, more fully set out above, are as follows:

1. That an investigation and study of the economics of the proposed plan is vitally necessary before any determination in regard to the plan can be soundly made.
2. That the theory and procedure employed in analyzing the regulation of flood crests by means of storage are sound and logical, and the results obtained thereby unquestionably have merit.
3. That a reduction in peak flood flow can be obtained by means of storage without material interference with the use of the same storage capacity for conservation purposes, but we are not prepared to say to what extent this can be accomplished in each specific instance.
4. That the degree of protection afforded through controlling floods by storage is greater than that afforded by the present plan of protection by levees and by-passes.
5. That, aside from a possible saving in construction costs of the unfinished portions of the Sacramento project, and even if the whole project were completed under the present levee plan, the construction of the four main Sacramento basin storage reservoirs and their operation in the manner described, would contribute to the safety of the areas menaced by floods.
6. That flood control should not be given undue weight in relation to the coordinated plan as a whole. In the four main Sacramento reservoirs, the cost of the features necessary for flood control is only one fifty-fourth of the total cost.
7. The existing Sacramento flood control plan should not be disrupted in any manner by the present consideration of this storage project. Modifications to conform can be taken step by step with the development of the storage program.

REPORT OF SUBCOMMITTEE TO THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF SENATE AND ASSEMBLY UNDER ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NUMBER SIXTEEN.

To the Joint Committee of the Senate and Assembly under Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 16.

GENTLEMEN: Your subcommittee appointed to meet with the legal representatives of public service corporations, irrigation districts and other organizations and individuals for the purpose of attempting to work out a legal solution to the problems confronting the people of this State with regard to water storage, irrigation and kindred subjects, had a meeting with the representatives aforesaid upon the second day of February, 1927, and after a full day's discussion those present, other than your committee and other representatives of the State government, appointed a subcommittee as follows:

Mr. Fred G. Athearn.
Former Justice Max C. Sloss.
Former Judge W. D. Tillotson.
Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The last mentioned committee met and considered the matters under discussion and rendered its report to this subcommittee, a copy of which is hereto appended, marked "Exhibit No. 1."

That your subcommittee met and carefully considered said report and respectfully reports and recommends:

1. We are of the opinion that, in order to meet the legal situation, two constitutional amendments are necessary, the first, a copy of which is hereto appended and marked "Exhibit No. 2," we suggest should be offered as a substitute for Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 19.

2. The second, a copy of which is hereto appended, marked "Exhibit No. 3," we suggest should be offered as a substitute for Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14.

3. We recommend that, if found practicable, a bill be prepared and introduced, creating in detail the machinery authorized by Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14 and being predicated upon the passage and adoption of that amendment by the people.

Respectfully submitted.

J. M. INMAN.
BRADFORD S. CRITTENDEN.

On account of not having had the opportunity of meeting with the subcommittee, or of studying its report, I am compelled to refrain at this time from either dissenting from or approving the recommendations herein embodied.

HERBERT C. JONES.

EXHIBIT NUMBER ONE.

February 6, 1927.

To the Honorable Senators, J. M. Inman, H. C. Jones and Bradford S. Crittenden.

DEAR SIRS: Following the conference had in the office of the Governor, Wednesday, February 2, 1927, for the purpose of discussing Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14 and Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 19, the persons present at that conference, other than the Governor and members of the Legislature, met and appointed a committee to give further and detailed consideration to the subject involved in the two proposed amendments in the light of the views expressed at the general conference, and to report back to you the results of their deliberations.

The committee selected by the general conference was as follows:

Mr. Fred G. Athearn.
Justice W. M. Finch.
Former Justice Max C. Sloss.
Former Judge W. D. Tillotson.
Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The committee has spent much time in reviewing the suggestions made at the general conference held on February 2d, and has had also the benefit of the views subsequently expressed in writing to it by members of the general conference.

The several views expressed by the various members of the general conference and the views of the several members of the committee have, in the final analysis, a strikingly common characteristic, viz. that there is imperative need that the limits of the right of an owner of riparian land should be set and that prevention of a wasteful use of water is a matter of paramount importance to the general welfare of the State.

The problem before your committee has been that of accomplishing these ends without working unnecessary hardship and at the same time doing even-handed justice to present and prospective users of water.

The result of your committee's labors has been, therefore, an amalgamation as it were of both proposed constitutional amendments with addition of certain matter that is not now a part of either proposed amendment. These changes and additions have been effected with reference to Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14 and will be so referred to in this report, as a matter of convenience only and not for the reason that such changes and additions could not have been made with reference to Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 19.

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14 has been amended in the following particulars:

1. The words "lake or pond" have been stricken from the title and the word "or" inserted between "stream" and "watercourse."

2. The same change as made in the title has been made in line 15.

The reason for this change is that the committee is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should deal primarily with streams and watercourses and that there is no need for legislation affecting lakes and ponds.

3. The title has been changed so that it shall read "two new sections to be numbered three and four." The same change has been made in lines 7 and 8.

4. The word "natural" in line 9 has been stricken out.

This has been done for the reason that it appears to the committee that conditions generally, artificial as well as natural, require that the water resources of the State be conserved.

5. Following the word "prevented" in line 13, the following sentence has been added:

"It is further declared that the surplus waters in the State are owned by the State and that the conservation and equitable distribution of such waters are subject to the control of the State."

This has been added so as to make it clear by constitutional declaration that the surplus waters of the State are owned by the State. A definition of what constitutes "surplus water" is given in another amendment which appears later.

6. The period appearing at the end of line 24 is changed to a comma and the following phrase and sentence added:

"provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be deemed to vest in any person, firm or corporation any additional right to water or to the use of water, and surplus waters shall be used only in such manner and to such extent as may be provided by law. Surplus water of any stream or watercourse is hereby defined as all water flowing therein in excess of that flow required to supply the rights of the owners of riparian lands, as prescribed in this article, and the rights of appropriators and others acquired pursuant to law prior to the adoption of this section."

The purpose of the first phrase, "provided, however, that nothing in this section contained", etc., is to guard against conferring a vested right on any person, firm or corporation, other than the State, in waters which shall be saved or prevented from being wasted by reason of requiring that users of water shall put the same to the highest beneficial use and without waste, as provided in section 3 of the proposed amendment.

The sentence defining surplus water is designed to settle definitely that surplus waters are the waters that arise or that may be in the stream or watercourse after the rights of all persons to the use of water from the stream shall have been satisfied, and that such surplus waters shall be then owned by the State and their conservation and equitable distribution subject to the control of the State.

7. Another section, to be known as section 4, has been added, reading as follows:

"Riparian rights in a stream or watercourse attach to no more than so much of the flow thereof, as may be required or used consistently with section 3 of this article. The flow of a stream or watercourse is that flow which is confined within the natural banks thereof. The definition of riparian rights made in this article is to be observed in the future, and is intended also as a statement of the law as the same has existed continuously since by act of the Legislature of California the common law of England was declared to be the rule of decision in all the courts of this State."

The purpose of this section is to define beyond the peradventure of a doubt the limits of a riparian right in a stream or watercourse, and, further, to put beyond the sphere of debate what it is that constitutes the flow of a stream or watercourse, and that such water as has escaped beyond the natural banks of a stream is not a part of the flow to which riparian rights attach. This section also makes it imperative that the definition of water rights and of flow of stream be made the rule of decisions in the State of California.

Your committee also is of the opinion that there should be a separate constitutional amendment providing for the creation of a tribunal which should have the power to hear and determine questions involving rights to water and to the use thereof, as well as the power to determine the just compensation which should be paid in proceedings in eminent domain taken to condemn the right to water or to the use thereof. Such a tribunal should, in the opinion of your committee, be of expert and technical character, not bound by the ordinary rules of evidence, but with the power to make investigations at first hand, so that proceedings involving rights to water or the use of water, or the condemnation thereof, might be expeditiously determined. With that in view, your committee respectfully suggests an amendment to the constitution by adding a new section to article XX of the constitution, to be numbered 22 and to read as hereinafter set forth in Exhibit "B."

The vast importance to the people of the State of California of having the matter of water rights definitely settled in the State so that agricultural and industrial projects may go forward in security is so great that, in the event you and the Legislature see fit to take action along the lines suggested in this letter, your committee ventures to suggest and urge the advisability of calling a special election at an early date to ratify the amendments here suggested.

The constitutional amendment dealing with the conservation of water, as revised, is attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

The constitutional amendment dealing with the creation of a tribunal to handle cases involving water rights or the condemnation thereof is set forth as Exhibit "B," attached hereto.

Respectfully submitted.

U. S. WEBB.

We concur in the foregoing report, except the last sentence of section 4 of the proposed amendment to article XIV of the constitution. We express no opinion as to whether the proposed amendment would be violative of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

EXHIBIT "A."

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14—A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the constitution of said state by adding to article XIV thereof two new sections to be numbered 3 and 4, declaring the interest of said state in the water resources thereof, and defining the right to the use and flow of water in any natural stream or watercourse in said state by appropriators, riparian owners or others.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring. That the Legislature of the State of California at its regular session commencing on the third day of January, 1927, two-thirds of all of the members elected to each of the two houses of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, hereby propose to the people of the State of California that the constitution of said state be amended by adding to article XIV thereof two new sections to be numbered 3 and 4, reading as follows:

SEC. 3. It is hereby declared that because of the conditions prevailing in this state the general welfare requires that the water resources of the state be put to beneficial use to the fullest extent of which they are capable and that the waste or wasteful use of water be prevented. It is further declared that the surplus waters in the state are owned by the state and that the conservation and equitable distribution of such waters are subject to the control of the state. The right to water or to the use or flow of water in or from any natural stream or watercourse in this state, whether by virtue of appropriation, riparian ownership or otherwise, is and shall be limited to such water as, when used economically and by economical methods of use, including methods of diversion, transportation, and application, shall at the time of use be reasonably required for the beneficial use to be served, and such right does not and shall not extend to the waste or wasteful use or wasteful method of use of water or to the maintenance of the natural level of a stream so as to effect a diversion of a part thereof, or for depositing silt therefrom; provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be deemed to vest in any person, firm or corporation any additional right to water or to the use of water, and surplus waters shall be used only in such manner and to such extent as may be provided by law. Surplus water of any stream or watercourse is hereby defined as all water flowing therein in excess of that flow required to supply the rights of the owners of riparian lands, as prescribed in this article, and the rights of appropriators and others acquired pursuant to law prior to the adoption of this section. This section shall be self-executing, but on the power of the Legislature to enact laws in furtherance of the policy in this section declared.

SEC. 4. Riparian rights in a stream or watercourse attach to no more than so much of the flow thereof as may be required or used consistently with section 3 of this article. The flow of a stream or watercourse is that flow which is confined within the natural banks thereof. The definition of riparian rights made in this article is to be observed in the future, and is intended also as a statement of the law as the same has existed continuously since by act of the Legislature of California the common law of England was declared to be the rule of decisions in all the courts of this state.

EXHIBIT "B."

The Legislature is hereby expressly vested with plenary power to create a state water commission, consisting of such number of members as the Legislature may determine, to be appointed by the governor; to prescribe the duties and powers of said commission; and to fix the terms and tenure of office, qualifications and the salaries of the members thereof. The Legislature may, in its discretion, unlimited by any provision of this constitution, other than the provisions of this section, vest said commission with jurisdiction and judicial power to investigate, hear and determine claims of right to the use of water, to hear and determine proceedings in eminent domain for the taking of water or the right to the use thereof for public use, and, in any such proceeding, to fix the just compensation to be paid for the taking of water or the right to the use thereof for public use; and may provide that, in fixing the amount of such compensation, the said commission shall take into consideration any benefits from the installation or operation of the proposed public use which are reasonably certain to accrue to lands of the owner whose right to the use of water thereon is so taken; and may further provide the method and manner of all proceedings before said commission and the rules of evidence applicable thereto, and may authorize said commission to make independent investigations of its own and to take into consideration any data and information, acquired by means of such investigations, in determining any issues in any proceeding by or before it. All decisions of said commission shall be subject to review by the appellate courts of this state in such manner and to such extent as the Legislature may provide.

EXHIBIT NUMBER TWO

Add to article XIV a new section to be numbered 3, to read as follows:

The ownership and beneficial use of all waters in this state being in the natural lakes, ponds or other static repositories thereof, or flowing in any natural stream or watercourse, whether surface or subterranean, are hereby declared to be a public use and such waters a public utility, and as such subject to the police powers of the state to be exercised in the equitable control, regulation, conservation and distribution thereof, with a view to the reasonable and beneficial use thereof and of the whole thereof in the interest of the people and for the public welfare.

"Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as depriving any riparian owner of the reasonable use of water riparian to his land under modern methods of diversion, transportation and application."

While I agree that little, if any, strength would be given the language and intent of the proposed amendment, I think it might well be included in order to remove all possible doubt in the minds of riparian owners.

J. M. INMAN.

EXHIBIT NUMBER THREE.

Add to article XX a new section to be numbered 22, to read as follows:

The Legislature is hereby expressly vested with plenary power to create a state water commission, consisting of such number of members as the Legislature may determine, to be appointed by the governor; to prescribe the duties and powers of said commission; and to fix the terms of office and the salaries of the members thereof. The Legislature may, in its discretion, unlimited by any provision of this constitution other than the provisions of this section, vest said commission with jurisdiction and judicial power to investigate, hear and determine claims of right to the use of water, to hear and determine proceedings in eminent domain for the taking of water for public use, and, in any such proceeding, to fix the just compensation to be paid for the taking of water for public use; and may provide that, in fixing the amount of such compensation, the said commission shall take into consideration any benefits from the installation and operation of the proposed public use which are reasonably certain to accrue to the lands of the owner whose right to the use of water thereon is so taken; and may further provide the method and manner of all proceedings before said commission and the rules of evidence applicable thereto, and may authorize said commission to make independent investigations of its own and to take into consideration any data and information, acquired by means of such investigations, in determining any issues in any proceeding by or before it. All decisions of said commission shall be subject to review by the appellate courts of this state in such manner and to such extent as the Legislature may provide.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. _____

Relating to securing the aid of the United States Government in establishing a basis for execution of the coordinated plan for development of the water resources of California.

WHEREAS, The Joint Legislative Committee of the forty-seventh session of the Legislature, under Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 16, has submitted its report, and,

WHEREAS, During its deliberation said committee fully realized that certain features of the coordinated plan for the development of the water resources of California, as outlined in Bulletin No. 12 of the State Engineer, involved matters coming within the jurisdiction and concern of the Federal government, and,

WHEREAS, Governor Young, in his inaugural address, recognized the paramount importance of some comprehensive plan for the conservation and development of the water resources of California in the following words:

"The solution of this problem can no longer be left to haphazard and unrelated development. There is no doubt that it is high time to seek some comprehensive plan which will meet the needs of both our great central valleys. The water which falls so bountifully during our winters, and which now wastes itself in bay and ocean, if properly stored and controlled and placed upon the land, would be sufficient to water every irrigable foot of this vast area, beside practically eliminating all future danger from winter floods.

This enterprise, however, is so vast that it can be financed by no one agency alone. The farmer whose lands are benefited can not meet the expense, as he largely does in the case of minor irrigation projects. The county whose cities are dependent upon local agricultural prosperity must also do its share. The State must take the leadership in coordinating and planning the whole. The Federal government possibly must be asked to advance the money for the initial construction, just as is proposed in the Boulder Canyon project."

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate, the Assembly concurring, that this Legislature commend to the Governor that he communicate with the President of the United States and invoke the cooperation and aid of the Federal government in establishing a basis for the execution of the coordinated plan for development of the water resources of California.

EXHIBIT "E."

The Legislature is hereby expressly vested with plenary power to create a State Water Commission, consisting of such number of members as the Legislature may determine, to be appointed by the Governor; to prescribe the duties and powers of said commission; and to fix the terms and tenure of office, qualifications and the salaries of the members thereof. The Legislature may, in its discretion, unlimited by any provision of this constitution, other than the provisions of this section, vest said commission with jurisdiction and judicial power to investigate, hear and determine claims of right to the use of water, to hear and determine proceedings in eminent domain for the taking of water or the right to the use thereof for public use, and, in any such proceeding, to fix the just compensation to be paid for the taking of water or the right to the use thereof for public use; and may provide that, in fixing the amount of such compensation, the said commission shall take into consideration any benefits from the installation or operation of the proposed public use which are reasonably certain to accrue to lands of the owner whose right to the use of water thereon is so taken; and may further provide the method and manner of all proceedings before said commission and the rules of evidence applicable thereto, and may authorize said commission to make independent investigations of its own and to take into consideration any data and information, acquired by means of such investigations, in determining any issues in any proceeding by or before it. All decisions of said commission shall be subject to review by the appellate courts of this State in such manner and to such extent as the Legislature may provide.

Such governing body or board of supervisors may further require the owner or subdivider to file with such governing body or board of supervisors a good and sufficient bond in a penal sum not to exceed the total estimated cost of the improvements required by said contract, conditioned upon the faithful performance of said contract by the contracting party thereto. Said governing body or board of supervisors may further require, as a condition precedent to the approval of such map or plat in the event that the tract of land shown upon the map or plat is traversed by any natural water course or channel, that the owner or subdivider of such tract or subdivision enter into a contract with such governing body or board of supervisors whereby the owner or subdivider, in consideration of the approval of such map or plat, shall agree, within such period as may be required by such governing body or board of supervisors and provided for therein, to improve the right of way for storm drain purposes dedicated by such map or plat, as required by the provisions hereof, with such structures or improvements as may be required by such governing body or board of supervisors according to plans and specifications as established by such governing body or board of supervisors, and referred to therein, so that natural drainage and waste water may be carried across said tract or subdivision of land and duly disposed of without danger to life, limb, or property. Such governing body may further require a good and sufficient bond, in a penal sum not to exceed the total estimated cost of the structures or improvements required by said contract, conditioned upon the faithful performance of said contract, and must require the bond, when such contract has been entered into, provided for in an act entitled "An act to secure the payment of the claims of persons employed by contractors upon public works, and the claims of persons who furnish materials, supplies, teams, implements or machinery used or consumed by such contractors in the performance of such works and prescribing the duties of said public officers with respect thereto," approved May 10, 1919, as amended.
